Jesus' Son Denis Johnson, 1992-12 Jesus Son the first collection of stories by Denis Johnson presents a unique hallucinatory vision of contemporary American life unmatched in power and immediacy and marks a new level of achievement for this acclaimed writer Set in the Midwest and West they are narrated by a young man an alcoholic and heroin addict whose dependencies have led him to petty crime cruelty betrayal and various kinds of loss Many of them are centered around the Vine a bar in an Iowa town where the narrator meets his friends and forms alliances based on something erroneous some basic misunderstanding that hadn't yet come to light In Work he and another man vandalize an empty house stripping it of electrical wire to sell for scrap Dirty Wedding evokes the emotional scars of an abortion from an unusual viewpoint in Beverly Home our hero finds himself spying on a Mennonite couple through their bedroom window In their intensity of perception their neon lit evocation of a strange world brought uncomfortably close the stories in Jesus Son offer a disturbing yet eerily beautiful portrayal of American loneliness and hope

Nihilism and the Sublime Postmodern William Slocumbe, 2013-11-05 This book examines the relationship between nihilism and postmodernism in relation to the sublime and is divided into three parts history theory and praxis Arguing against the simplistic division in literary criticism between nihilism and the sublime the book demonstrates that both are clearly implicated with the Enlightenment Postmodernism as a product of the Enlightenment is therefore implicitly related to both nihilism and the sublime despite the fact that it is often characterised as either nihilistic or sublime Whereas prior forms of nihilism are modernist because they seek to codify reality postmodernism creates a new formulation of nihilism postmodern nihilism that is itself sublime This is explored in relation to a broad survey of postmodern literature in two chapters the first on aesthetics and the second on ethics It offers a coherent thesis for reappraising the relationship between nihilism and the sublime and grounds this argument with frequent references to postmodern literature making it a book suitable for both researchers and those more generally interested in postmodern literature Midnight at the Bright Ideas Bookstore Matthew Sullivan, 2017-06-13 Lydia Smith a clerk at the Bright Ideas bookstore calls the lonely regulars who spend every day marauding the store's overwhelmed shelves BookFrogs When Joey Molina a young BookFrog kills himself in the bookstore's upper room he bequeaths his meager worldly possessions to her Trinkets and books the detritus of a lonely uncared for man But they seem to contain a hidden message As Lydia untangles the mystery of Joey's suicide she unearths a long buried memory from her own violent childhood The Art of the Epigraph Rosemary Ahern, 2012-10-30 A collection of 250 or more epigraphs arranged thematically and chosen from a broad range of books and genres approximately half of which will be annotated with original commentary by the author Imitating Christ in Magwi Todd D. Whitmore, 2019-01-24 Imitating Christ in Magwi An Anthropological Theology achieves two things First focusing on indigenous Roman Catholics in northern Uganda and South Sudan it is a detailed ethnography of how a community sustains hope in the midst of one of the most brutal wars in recent memory that between the Ugandan government and the rebel Lord's Resistance Army Whitmore finds that the belief that the spirit of Jesus Christ can enter into a person through such devotions as the Adoration of the Eucharist gave people the wherewithal to carry out striking works of mercy during the conflict and like Jesus of Nazareth to risk their lives in the process Traditional devotion leveraged radical witness Second Gospel Mimesis is a call for theology itself to be a practice of imitating Christ Such practice requires both living among people on the far margins of society Whitmore carried out his fieldwork in Internally Displaced Persons camps and articulating a theology that foregrounds the daily if extraordinary lives of people Here ethnography is not an add on to theological concepts rather ethnography is a way of doing theology and includes what anthropologists call thick description of lives of faith Unlike theology that draws only upon abstract concepts what Whitmore calls anthropological theology is consonant with the fact that God did indeed become human It may well involve risk to one's own life Whitmore had to leave Uganda for three years after writing an article critical of the President but that is what imitatio Christi sometimes requires Tree of Smoke Denis Johnson, 2007-09-04 Once upon a time there was a war and a young American who thought of himself as the Quiet American and the Ugly American and who wished to be neither who wanted instead to be the Wise American or the Good American but who eventually came to witness himself as the Real American and finally as simply the Fucking American That's me This is the story of Skip Sands spy in training engaged in Psychological Operations against the Vietcong and the disasters that befall him thanks to his famous uncle a war hero known in intelligence circles simply as the Colonel This is also the story of the Houston brothers Bill and James young men who drift out of the Arizona desert into a war in which the line between disinformation and delusion has blurred away In its vision of human folly and its gritty sympathetic portraits of men and women desperate for an end to their loneliness whether in sex or death or by the grace of God this is a story like nothing in our literature Tree of Smoke is Denis Johnson's first full length novel in nine years and his most gripping beautiful and powerful work to date Tree of Smoke is the 2007 National Book Award Winner for Fiction The Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Fiction, 3 Volume Set Brian W. Later Paul Lisicky, 2020-03-17 A stunning portrait of community identity and sexuality by the critically acclaimed author of The Narrow Door When Paul Lisicky arrived in Provincetown in the early 1990s he was leaving behind a history of family trauma to live in a place outside of time known for its values of inclusion acceptance and art In this idyllic haven Lisicky searches for love and connection and comes into his own as he finds a sense of belonging At the same time the center of this community is consumed by the AIDS crisis and the very structure of town life is being rewired out of necessity What might this utopia look like during a time of dystopia Later dramatizes a spectacular yet ravaged place and a unique era when more fully becoming one's self collided with the realization that ongoingness couldn't be taken for granted and staying alive from moment to moment exacted absolute attention Following the success of his acclaimed memoir The Narrow Door Lisicky fearlessly explores the body queerness love illness community and belonging in this masterful ingenious new book
