Rethinking Modernization Anthropological Perspectives:

Rethinking Modernization University of Rhode Island, 1974-10-25 Rethinking Modernization John J. Poggie, Robert N. Lynch, 1974 Margaret Mead Margaret Mead, 1976 The book contains a full bibliography missing only the last few years and an introduction by Mead on her writings From Old Times to New Europe Agata Fijalkowski, 2016-04-22 From Old Times to New Europe considers the post totalitarian legal framework in today's Europe arguing that the study of totalitarianism and post totalitarianism continues to be significant as ever Drawing mainly on the Polish experience this analysis focuses on the significant part played by history in the development of the region's identity and preferences concerning the role of the state in public and private life It examines the political socio economic and legal aspects of key events and draws comparisons with other CEE states whilst implementing key socio legal theories to explain trends and strains in this post Communist and post totalitarian period With the benefit of access to archival sources in Poland and Russia this book will be of interest to students and researchers of European law law and society and international criminal justice

Inter-civilizational Relations and the Destiny of the West Victor Segesvary, 2000 Inter Civilization Relations and the Destiny of the West examines in scholarly detail historical and philosophical background to the current turning point of history Segesvary brings together hermeneutics and history and philosophy and politics in a thought provoking synthesis which will interest politicians diplomats and economic development specialists Hazards in a Fickle Environment: Bangladesh C.E. Haque, 2012-12-06 This book evolved from a collaborative research project between the University of Manitoba Canada and Jahangirnagar University Bangladesh which commenced in 1984 to study the problems of river channel migration rural population displacement and land relocation in Bangladesh The study was sponsored by the International Development Research Center IDRC based in Ottawa Canada It was through this project that I started my journey into disaster research more than thirteen years ago with basically an applied problem of massive magnitude in Bangladesh I spent two and a half years in two stages in Bangladesh's riparian villages to collect the empirical data for this study Then the growing disaster discourse throughout the 1980s especially its conceptual and theoretical areas drew me in further gluing my interest to these issues In the 1990s during my research and teaching at Brandon University Canada I realized that despite the large body of literature on natural disasters there was no work that synthesized the approaches to nature triggered disasters in a comprehensive form with sufficient empirical substantiation In addition despite the great deal of attention given to disasters in Bangladesh I found no detailed reference book on the topic Natural hazards and disasters in my view should be studied under a holistic framework encompassing the natural environment society and individuals Overreaction to the limitations of technocratic scientific approaches the control and prevention of physical events through specialized knowledge and skills has resulted in a call for taking the naturalness out of natural disasters The Terror of the Machine Devon G. Peña, 2014-10-14 Born of thirteen years of field research this interdisciplinary work explores the complex intersections of technology class gender and ecology in the transnational milieu of Mexico's maquiladoras foreign owned assembly plants located along the U S border Devon Pe a examines workplace and community struggles from the perspective of the women who work in the maquiladoras He describes the workers struggles for workplace democracy social justice and sustainable development He also observes the circulation of struggle from the factory to the community highlighting the efforts to establish worker owned cooperatives in the border region during the 1970s and 1980s Female maquila workers are typically portrayed as passive apolitical and easily exploited This book however presents an opposing view investigating the subaltern life of the shop floor the workers informal methods of resistance to hazardous conditions sexual harassment and managerial tyranny Using survey research oral history discourse analysis and site ethnography the author develops a cogent critique of labor process theory a critique grounded on his extensive study of actual workplace politics in the maquiladoras The Terror of the Machine is a trenchant analysis of the political cultural and environmental effects of maquila industrialization and an eloquent and persuasive call for alternatives in the direction of ecologically sustainable and culturally appropriate modes of development

Ideas and Trends in World Anthropology Charles Frantz, 1981 Bible Translation and the Spread of the Church Philip C. Stine, 1990 This book deals with the effect that translation of the Bible has had on the theology of developing churches over the past 200 years and also examines cultural factors which affect translation as well as how Bible translation itself affects a people's social and cultural development

The Modernization of Inner Asia Cyril E. Black, Louis Dupree, Elizabeth Endicott-West, Daniel C. Matuszewski, Eden Naby, Arthur N. Waldron, 2016-09-16 Inner Asia in premodern times the little known land of nomads and semi nomads has moved to the world's front page in the 20th century as the complex struggles for the future of Afghanistan Soviet Central Asia Tibet and other territories make clear But because Inner Asia as a whole is divided among several states politically and among area specialists academically broad perspectives on recent events are difficult to find This work treats the region as a single unit providing both an account of the region's past and an analysis of its present and its prospects in a thematic rather than a strictly country by country manner The World Ahead Margaret Mead, 2005 Born in the first year of the 20th century it is fitting that Margaret Mead should have been one of the first anthropologists to use anthropological analysis to study the future course of human civilization This volume collects for the first time her writings on the future of humanity and how humans can shape that future through purposeful action For Mead the study of the future was born out of her lifelong interest in processes of change Many of these papers were originally published as conference proceedings or in limited circulation journals testimony before government bodies and chapters in works edited by others They show Mead's wisdom prescience and concern for the future of humanity Colonizing the Body David Arnold, 1993-08-12 In this innovative analysis of medicine and disease in colonial India David Arnold explores the vital role of the state in medical and public health activities arguing that Western medicine became a critical battleground between the colonized and the colonizers Focusing on three major epidemic diseases smallpox cholera and plague Arnold analyzes the impact of medical interventionism He demonstrates that Western medicine as practiced in India was not simply transferred from West to East but was also fashioned in response to local needs and Indian conditions By emphasizing this colonial dimension of medicine Arnold highlights the centrality of the body to political authority in British India and shows how medicine both influenced and articulated the intrinsic contradictions of colonial rule Decolonizing Science and Modernity in South Asia Sahara

Ahmed,Suvobrata Sarkar,2024-09-19 This book offers a unique perspective on the colonial roots of modern science technology and medicine STM in South Asia The book questions the deconstruction of imperial visions and definitions of science and modernity in South Asia It presents an in depth analysis of the contested relationship between science modernity and colonialism It explores how new research can contribute to the diversification of perspectives in the history and sociology of modern South Asian studies The chapters in the book delve into various aspects of STM in South Asia It covers diverse topics including the social cultural and pedagogic context of early modern Bengal the popularization of science in colonial Punjab the Hindi science periodical Vigyan and the emergence of the Indian science community The book also examines the intersection of indigenous medical practices ayurveda Unani and medical revivalism and highlights peripheral creativity in science The contributors engage with the existing historiography to raise new questions concerning the global circulations of scientific knowledge from the perspective of South Asia and the regional appropriation of the same It connects the history of science and modernity with South Asia s socio economic and cultural background It offers valuable insights into the decolonization of STM It greatly interests scholars and students of modern South Asian history sociology social anthropology and Science Technology and Society Studies STS New Horizons in Medical Anthropology Margaret

Lock,Mark Nichter,2003-09-02 New Horizons in Medical Anthropology is a festschrift in honor of Charles Leslie whose influential career helped shape this subfield of anthropology This collection of cutting edge essays explores medical innovation and medical pluralism at the turn of the 21st century The book accomplishes two things it reflects recent research by medical anthropologists working in Asia who have been inspired by Charles Leslie s writing on such topics as medical pluralism and the early emergence of what has become a globalized biomedicine the social relations of therapy management and the relationship between the politics of the state and discourse about the health of populations illness and medicine The book also takes up lesser known aspects of Leslie s work his contribution as an editor and the role he played in carrying the field forward his ethics as a medical anthropologist committed to humanism and sensitive to racism and eugenics and the passion he inspired in his co workers and students Charles Leslie is a remarkable and influential social scientist New Horizons in Medical Anthropology is a fitting tribute to a sensitive scholar whose theories and codes of practice provide an essential guide to future generations of medical anthropologists Bible translation and the spread of the church

Philip C. Stine,2016-04-26 The growth of the Church in the last two centuries has been paralleled by an explosion in the number of languages into which all or part of the Bible has been translated This book is perhaps the first serious effort to examine a number of issues related to that phenomenon among them how theology can affect the kind of translation prepared and how the type of translation itself can affect the theology of a church It also addresses the topics of why a church generally develops faster and with a deeper faith if it has the Bible how decisions of text canon exegesis type of language and type of translation are related to the matter of authority what forces are at play in a culture to which a translator must be sensitive and how Bible translation affects a society and culture The authors of these papers are distinguished scholars in the fields of missiology history cultural anthropology theology or church history Some address theological issues of Bible translation and others the cultural and political questions But ultimately they conclude that if the church of tomorrow is to grow and not be fragmented then access to the Bible will be crucial
