Rethinking Empowerment Gender And Development In A Global Local World:

Rethinking Empowerment Jane L. Parpart, Shirin Rai, Kathleen A. Staudt, 2002 Rethinking Empowerment looks at the changing role of women in developing countries and calls for a new approach to empowerment An approach that adopts a more nuanced feminist interpretation of power and empowerment recognises that local empowerment is always embedded in regional national and global contexts pays attention to institutional structures and politics and acknowledges that empowerment is both a process and an outcome Moreover the book warns that an obsession with measurement rather than process can undermine efforts to foster transformative and empowering outcomes It concludes that power must be restored as the centrepiece of empowerment Only then will the term and its advocates provide meaningful ammunition for dealing with the challenges of an increasingly unequal and often sexist global local world

Rethinking Empowerment Jane L. Parpart, Shirin Rai, Kathleen A. Staudt, 2002 Rethinking Empowerment looks at the changing role of women in developing countries and rejects the established notion that empowerment in development is best understood and pursued at a local global level It calls for a new approach one that adopts a more nuanced feminist interpretation of power and empowerment and recognizes that local empowerment is always embedded in regional national and global contexts It must both pay attention to institutional structures and politics and acknowledge that empowerment is both a process and an outcome Moreover the book warns that an obsession with measurement rather than process can undermine efforts to foster transformative and empowering outcomes It concludes that power must be restored as the centrepiece of empowerment Only then will the term and its advocates provide meaningful ammunition for dealing with the challenges of an increasingly unequal and often sexist global local world This edited collection should be useful reading for undergraduates and graduates in politics development studies and gender studies focusing on Chile Turkey India Kenya Cameroon and Tanzania

Development, Sexual Rights and Global Governance Amy Lind, 2010-01-04 This book addresses how sexual practices and identities are imagined and regulated through development discourses and within institutions of global governance The underlying premise of this volume is that the global development industry plays a central role in constructing people's sexual lives access to citizenship and struggles for livelihood Despite the industry's persistent insistence on viewing sexuality as basically outside the realm of economic modernization and anti poverty programs this volume brings to the fore heterosexual bias within macroeconomic and human rights development frameworks The work fills an important gap in understanding how people's intimate lives are governed through heteronormative policies which typically assume that the family is based on blood or property ties rather than on alternative forms of kinship By placing heteronormativity at the center of analysis this anthology thus provides a much needed discussion about the development industry's role in pathologizing sexual deviance yet also more recently in helping make visible a sexual rights agenda Providing insights valuable to a range of disciplines this book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of Development Studies Gender Studies and International Relations It will also be highly relevant to development practitioners and international human rights advocates The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780203868348> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

The Exclusionary Politics of Digital Financial Inclusion Serena Natile, 2020-01-20 Focusing on Kenya's path breaking mobile money project M-Pesa this book examines and critiques the narratives and institutions of digital financial inclusion as a development strategy for gender equality arguing for a politics of redistribution to guide future digital financial inclusion projects One of the most discussed digital financial inclusion projects M-Pesa facilitates the transfer of money and access to formal financial services via the mobile phone infrastructure and has grown at a phenomenal rate since its launch in 2007 to reach about 80 per cent of the Kenyan population Through a socio-legal enquiry drawing on feminist political economy law and development scholarship and postcolonial feminist debate this book unravels the narratives and institutional arrangements that frame M-Pesa's success while interrogating the relationship between digital financial inclusion and gender equality in development discourse Natile argues that M-Pesa is premised on and regulated according to a logic of opportunity rather than a politics of redistribution favouring the expansion of the mobile money market in preference to contributing to substantive gender equality via a redistribution of the revenue and funding deriving from its development This book will be of particular interest to scholars and students in Global Political Economy Socio-Legal Studies Gender Studies Law Development Finance and International Relations

Women, Quotas and Politics Drude Dahlerup, 2013-05-13 This is the first world wide comparative study of the controversial new trends of gender quotas now emerging in global politics presenting a comprehensive overview of changes in women's parliamentary representation across the world This is important reading for all those working to increase women's influence in politics because it scrutinizes under what circumstances gender quotas do increase women's representation and why they sometimes fail These distinguished international scholars also show how gender balance in politics has become important to a nation's international image and why quotas are being introduced in many post-conflict countries They present key case studies of Afghanistan Iraq Argentina Sweden South Africa Belgium covering almost all major regions of the world Latin America Africa the Arab world South Asia the Balkans The Nordic countries and Europe New Zealand Australia and the USA and Rwanda which in 2003 unexpectedly surpassed Sweden as the number one country in the world in terms of women's parliamentary representation Using a comparative perspective this book contains analyses of the discursive controversies around quotas it gives an overview over various types of quotas in use from candidate quotas to reserved seat systems and it throws light over the troublesome implementation process When do gender quotas lead to actual increase in the number of women parliament When are quotas merely a symbolic gesture What does it imply to be elected as a quota woman Tackling these and many more key questions this is a major new contribution to the field Making an important contribution to our knowledge of gender politics worldwide this book will be of interest to NGOs students and Female Leaders in Achieving the Sustainable Development Goals is an exploration into the role of female leaders in overcoming the challenges that hinder the realization of the UN SDGs. It makes clear that the reality of achieving these goals requires a seismic shift in leadership dynamics with women at the forefront of this transformative journey. The Role of Female Leaders in Achieving the Sustainable Development Goals introduces readers to a diverse array of women leaders who have been instrumental in driving progress towards the UN SDGs. Their stories serve as sources of inspiration for academics, corporate executives, non-governmental organization (NGO) leaders, and government officials, showcasing the tangible impact women can have when given the opportunity to lead. The book is a call to action, urging women to step into leadership roles across academia, corporations, civil society, and government, thereby expediting the achievement of the United Nations development goals.

Mainstreaming Gender in Development Fenella Porter, Caroline Sweetman, 2005. Articles discuss how gender mainstreaming has been understood in different organisations, provide examples of good work which supports the empowerment of women, and look beyond gender mainstreaming to what new possibilities exist for transformation.

Dimensions of Development Susan Vincent, 2012-03-07. Dimensions of Development traces the development of Allpachico, a village in the Peruvian central highlands. Susan Vincent examines four aid projects in the area, each following distinct international trends that took place between 1984 and 2008 within the context of wider state and global political and economic systems. A unique historical ethnography, Dimensions of Development illustrates how state and NGO projects have drawn Allpachico deeper into capitalism and have brought about challenges to the local political structure, the comunidad campesina. While highlighting the continual reorganization of the local population into new groups, Vincent also reveals why the comunidad remains the group's preferred form of representation.

Handbook of Communication and Development Melkote, Srinivas R., Singhal, Arvind, 2021-08-27. This incisive Handbook critically examines the role and place of media and communication in development and social change, reflecting a vision for change anchored in values of social justice. Outlining the genealogy and history of the field, it then investigates the possible new directions and objectives in the area. Key conclusions include an enhanced role for development communication in participatory development, active agency of stakeholders of development programs, and the operationalization of social justice in development.

Governing Women Anne Marie Goetz, 2009-01-13. Using case studies from around the world, this volume argues that good governance from a gender perspective requires more than just additional women in politics; it requires fundamental incentive changes to orient public action and policy to support gender equality.

Globalization on the Margins (2nd Edition) Iveta Silova, Sarfaroz Niyozov, 2020-01-01. Reflecting on almost three decades of postsocialist transformations, the second edition of Globalization on the Margins explores continuities and changes in Central Asian education development since the dissolution of the Soviet Union in 1991, with a particular focus on the developments that took place since the production of the first edition in 2011. Rather than viewing these transformations in isolation, the authors place their analyses within the global context by reflecting on the interaction between Soviet legacies and global education reform pressures in the Central Asian countries of Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan This new edition in addition to a revised introduction and a newly added conclusion consists of four thematic sections each reflecting a key theme in the educational life of the Central Asian states These thematic sections introduction and conclusion collectively update our understanding of the recent developments and challenges in education of the five Central Asian states They however go beyond mere information update so as to complicate re engage re form and re define the margins taking up margins a conceptual geographic cultural and geo political construct Notwithstanding the diversity of local and international authors variety of theoretical perspectives methodological approaches and conceptual lenses the essays reveal the complexity and uncertainty of the post socialist education transformations Instead of portraying the transition process as the influx of Western ideas into the region Globalization on the Margins provides new lenses to critically example education as a contested field of diverse perspectives competing forces and multidirectional flow of ideas concepts and reforms in Central Asia ENDORSEMENTS Hindsight famously brings clarity And much of what happened after the fall of the Berlin Wall and the collapse of the Soviet Union has now been correctly deeded over to historians Nonetheless we ignore that history at our peril The contributors to this volume show that carefully textured and historically attuned education research generates deep insights into ongoing transformations and the political cultural social and economic structures relations and practices that do the work of producing margins and centers in the first place Noah W Sobe Loyola University Chicago Globalization on the margins and at the epicentre of the battles of the Great Powers Two excellent educators Sarfarozi Niyozov and Iveta Silova compiled a timely and long awaited scholarly work based on empirical research in societies which had similar history close to three decades ago All the contributors are prolific educators who know the education system from within and without who either hailed from the region or have spent a considerable amount of time to know the systems well The book contains remarkable stories of education through the ups and downs of historical evolution It is a must read primer for anyone interested in learning about high quality research in the field of education in Central Asia It is a huge contribution to educational research with an impact on research and teaching for years to come Duishon Shammatov Nazarbayev University Kazakhstan The challenge of moving Central Asia from the borders of the Soviet Empire to the world s center is the focus of the discussions in Globalization on the Margins The transition to the Western models of education was happening in the context of major paradigm shift which entire humanity was experiencing and which could be described as the arrival of the new post industrial civilization During this process Central Asian countries have been pushed to the margins because their contribution to the wealth of the new world know how was much less pronounced than that of their Western neighbours Therefore investment into the research that contributes to local knowledge production seems a natural solution to the problem All the contributors to this book have a vast experience in the region and many of their observations are thought
