Rethinking Interagency Collaboration And Young People:

Rethinking Inter-agency Collaboration and Young People Helen Stokes, Debra Tyler, 1997

Improving Educational Equity in Urban Contexts Carlo Raffo, 2013-12-17 An enduring educational concern that has plagued researchers and policy makers in a number of affluent countries is the endemic nature of educational inequalities. These inequalities highlight distinct differences in the educational skills, knowledge, capabilities, and credentials between learners' demographic characteristics. They also point to issues of educational disadvantage that emanate from a combination of factors including family life, communities, the geographies of space and place, gender, and ethnicity. This book examines some of the causes and responses to educational inequalities and focuses upon poor urban contexts where educational disadvantage is at its most concentrated and where educational policy and practice has over time proliferated. It questions how wider inequities experienced by young people in urban contexts generate educational inequalities and disadvantage, detailing explicitly what an equitable approach to education might look like. Included in the book is an innovative educational equity framework and toolkit with illustrative policy and practice case studies, bringing together unique scholarship and analysis to examine future educational policy in a holistic, comprehensive, and equitable way. It will be valuable reading for postgraduate students, researchers, and policy makers with an interest in education and educational equity.

Children Taken Seriously Jan Mason, Toby Fattore, 2005 Annotation Practice oriented focuses on how professionals can use children's rights theories in their work with children. Well-respected authors recognized as leading academics and policy makers in childhood studies. Wide readership will be of interest to professionals working in social work, education, and mental health, as well as to academics and policy makers.

Reconsidering Resilience in Education Adeela Ahmed Shafi, Tristan Middleton, Richard Millican, Sian Templeton, 2020-09-03 This book explores the concept of resilience and its significance in responding to a rapid and ever-changing globalised world whilst critiquing its buzzword status in contemporary times. Drawing on research from a range of educational settings, the book demonstrates that the resilience of individuals and their surrounding systems should not be viewed in isolation and that the interplay between individual resilience, community resilience, and resilient societies is complex and symbiotic. On this basis, it illustrates that efforts to promote resilience would benefit from a systems approach capable of coping with this complexity. Using the ideas of agency and the power of self-determinism, a development of Bronfenbrenner's bio-ecological model is presented to illustrate the complexity of their interplay. Existing models of resilience are developed with the book offering the Dynamic Interactive Model of Resilience (DIMoR) as a way to analyse and support resilience, which moves beyond a reductionist, descriptive, and fashionable presentation of resilience.

Education, Social Justice and Inter-Agency Working Sheila Riddell, Lyn Tett, 2003-08-27 This book explores policy and practice in a range of areas where education and other agencies interact. Its theme is central to those interested in promoting social justice for adults and children experiencing the effects of exclusion.
