Bambara, 1977 The Sea Birds are Still Alive... Collected Toni Cade Bambara, 1974 A Joyous Revolt Linda Janet Holmes, 2014-05-12 At long last a book-length biography celebrates Toni Cade Bambara a seminal literary cultural and political figure who was among the most widely read and frequently reviewed of the well-regarded black women writers to emerge in the 1970s A Joyous Revolt Toni Cade Bambara Writer and Activist is the first ever full-length biography of a trailblazing artist who championed black women in her fiction as well as in her life This incisive study provides a comprehensive treatment of Bambara's published and unpublished works and it also documents her emerging vision of her role as an agent of change The biography allows readers into the personal life of Bambara offering personal insights into a woman with a strong public persona and friendships with other celebrated artists of her era Perhaps most important for those seeking to understand and appreciate Bambara's legacy it connects her oeuvre to the context of her experience and places all of her wide-ranging creative work in the context of her singular vision The Water Birds of North America

Baird, 1884 Burnout Hannah Proctor, 2024-04-09 In the struggle for a better world setbacks are inevitable Defeat can feel overwhelming at times but it has to be endured How then do the people on the front line keep going To answer that question Hannah Proctor draws on historical resources to find out how revolutionaries and activists of the past kept a grip on hope Burnout considers despairing former Communards exiled to a penal colony in the South Pacific exhausted Bolsheviks recuperating in sanatoria in the aftermath of the October Revolution an ex-militant on the analyst's couch relating dreams of ruined landscapes Chinese peasants engaging in self-criticism sessions a political organizer seeking advice from a spiritual healer civil rights movement activists battling weariness and a group of feminists padding a room with mattresses to scream about the patriarchy Jettisoning self-help narratives and individualizing therapy talk Proctor offers a different way forward neither denial nor despair Her cogent exploration of the ways militants have made sense of their own burnout demonstrates that it is possible to mourn and organize at once and to do both without compromise American Tantalus Andrew Warnes, 2014-10-23 American Tantalus argues that modern US fictions often grow preoccupied by tantalisation This keyword might seem commonplace thesauruses certainly often lump it in with tease and torment in their general inventories of desire Such lists however mislead Just as most US dictionaries have in fact long recognised tantalise's origins in The Odyssey so they have defined it as the unique desire we feel for objects that like the fruit and water once cruelly placed before Tantalus lie within our reach yet withdraw from our attempts to touch them On these terms American Tantalus shows tantalise not only describes a particular kind of thwarted desire but also one that dominates modern US fiction to a remarkable extent For this term specifically evokes the yearning to touch alienated or virginal objects that we find examined by F Scott Fitzgerald Toni Cade Bambara Richard Wright and Toni Morrison and it also indicates the insatiable pursuit of the horizon so important to Willa Cather and Edith Wharton among others This eclectic canon indeed prefers the dictionary to the thesaurus unreachable destinations and untouched commodities here indeed tantalise inviting gestures of inquiry from which they then recoil This focus while lodging cycles of tantalisation at the very heart of American myth holds profound implications for our understanding of modernity and in particular of the cultural genesis of the commodity as a form

"Black People Are My Business" Thabiti Lewis, 2020-09-08 Exploration of Bambara's practices of liberation that encourage resistance to oppression and solidarity Black People Are My Business Toni Cade Bambara's Practices of Liberation studies the works of Bambara 1939-1995 an author documentary filmmaker social activist and professor Thabiti Lewis's analysis serves as a cultural biography examining the liberation impulses in Bambara's writing which is concerned with practices that advance the material value of the African American experience and exploring the introspection between artist production and social justice This is the first monograph that focuses on Bambara's unique approach and important literary contribution to 1970s and 1980s African American literature It explores her unique nationalist feminist Marxist and spiritualist ethos which cleared space for many innovations found in black women's fiction Divided into five chapters Lewis's study relies on Bambara's voice from interviews and essays to craft a spiritual wholeness aesthetic a set of principles that comes out of her practices of liberation and entail family faith feeling and freedom that reveals her ability to interweave ethnic identity politics and community engagement and responsibility with the impetus of balancing black male and female identity influences and interactions within and outside the community One key feature of Bambara's work is the concentration on women as cultural workers whereby her notion of spiritual wholeness upends what has become a scholarly distinction between feminism and black nationalism Bambara's fiction situates her as a pivotal voice within the Black Arts Movement and contemporary African American literature Bambara is an understudied and important artistic voice whose aversion to playing it safe both personified and challenged the boundaries of black nationalism and feminism Black People Are My Business is a wonderful addition to any reader's list especially those interested in African American literary and cultural studies

American Women Writing Fiction Mickey Pearlman, 2021-03-17 American literature is no longer the refuge of the solitary hero Like the society it mirrors it is now a far richer many faceted explication of a complicated and diverse society racially culturally and ethnically interwoven and at the same time fractured and fractious Ten women writing fiction in America today Toni Cade Bambara Joan Didion Louise Erdrich Gail Godwin Mary Gordon Alison Lurie Joyce Carol Oates Jayne Anne Phillips

Susan Fromberg Schaeffer and Mary Lee Settle represent that geographic ethnic and racial diversity that is distinctively American. Their differing perspectives on literature and the American experience have produced Erdrich's stolid North Dakota plainswomen, Didion's sun-baked dreamers and screamers, the urban ethnics, Irish Jewish and black of Gordon Schaeffer and Barbara Oates's small town often violent neurotics, Lurie's intellectual sophisticates and the southern survivors and victims, male and female, of Phillips Settle and Godwin. The ten original essays in this collection focus on the traditional themes of identity, memory, family and enclosure that pervade the fiction of these writers. The fictional women who emerge here, as these critics show, are often caught in the interwoven strands of memory, perceive literal and emotional space as entrapping, find identity elusive and frustrating and experience the interweaving of silence, solitude and family in complex patterns. Each essay in this collection is followed by bibliographies of works by and about the writer in question that will be invaluable resources for scholars and general readers alike. Here is a readable critical discussion of ten important contemporary novelists who have broadened the pages of American literature to reflect more clearly the people we are.

Hear Our Truths Ruth Nicole Brown, 2013-10-30 This volume examines how Saving Our Lives: Hear Our Truths or SOLHOT, a radical youth intervention, provides a space for the creative performance and expression of Black girlhood and how this creativity informs other realizations about Black girlhood and womanhood. Founded in 2006 and co-organized by the author, SOLHOT is an intergenerational collective organizing effort that celebrates and recognizes Black girls as producers of culture and knowledge. Girls discuss diverse expressions of Black girlhood, critique the issues that are important to them and create art that keeps their lived experiences at its center. Drawing directly from her experiences in SOLHOT, Ruth Nicole Brown argues that when Black girls reflect on their own lives, they articulate radically unique ideas about their lived experiences. She documents the creative potential of Black girls and women who are working together to advance original theories, practices and performances that affirm complexity, interrogate power and produce humanizing representation of Black girls' lives. Emotionally and intellectually powerful, this book expands on the work of Black feminists and feminists of color and breaks intriguing new ground in Black feminist thought and methodology. Black Women Writers at Work

Claudia Tate, 2023-01-10 Black women writers and critics are acting on the old adage that one must speak for oneself if one wishes to be heard. Claudia Tate, from the introduction, Long out of print, Black Women Writers At Work is a vital contribution to Black literature in the 20th century. Through candid interviews with Maya Angelou, Toni Cade Bambara, Gwendolyn Brooks, Alexis DeVeaux, Nikki Giovanni, Kristin Hunter, Gayl Jones, Audre Lorde, Toni Morrison, Tillie Olson, Sonia Sanchez, Ntozake Shange, Alice Walker, Margaret Walker and Shirley Anne Williams, the book highlights the practices and critical linkages between the work and lived experiences of Black women writers whose work laid the foundation for many who have come after. Responding to questions about why and for whom they write and how they perceive their responsibility to their work, to others and to society, the featured playwrights, poets, novelists and essayists provide a window into the connections between their lives and their art Finally available for a new generation this classic work has an urgent message for readers and writers today The Water Birds of North America Spencer F.
