Seals And Sealing In The Ancient Near East Vol 6:

Gordion Seals and Sealings Elspeth Dusinger, 2005-11-21 Accompanying CD ROM contains additional figures accompanying the volume disc label The Archaeomusicology of the Ancient Near East Richard J. Dumbrell, 2005 This volume is a massive leap forward over any previous synthesis of the subject and includes at the very minimum so much information that its academic and scientific value is self evident The freshness and profundity of Dumbrell's approach to the subject exceeds anything attempted before The mythology of ancient Mesopotamia proves readable as tonal allegory when its numerology is decoded as tuning theory By the third millennium BC both pentatonic and heptatonic tunings were quantified throughout the entire 12 tone gamut Richard Dumbrell has documented the massive empirical experience with strings and pipes that makes this early musicalization of the universe believable The volume consists in 4 parts with foreword by Prof Ernest McClain The first is about the decipherment translation and interpretation of the few theoretical cuneiform texts dating from the Old Babylonian period about 2000 BC to Neo Assyrian up to the mid first millennium BC Dumbrell undertakes comparative analyses and criticism of various interpretations having preceded his own and introduces new material The second part is about the Hurrian hymns the earliest music ever written circa 1400 BC and are produced in their integrality Attempts to the interpretation of Hymn H 6 are compared and followed by Dumbrell's methodology and interpretation Each fragment of the collection is analyzed separately The part concludes with statistical analyses attempting at the reconstruction of some Hurrian rules of composition The third part consists in the organology with relevant philology and is the largest collection of the Mesopotamian instrumentarium The last part is a unique lexicon of all known Mesopotamian terminology with quotation of texts in which the philology appears The book had been previously published under the title of The Musicology and Organology of the Ancient Near East and now appears under its new title The Early History of the Ancient Near East, 9000-2000 B.C. Hans J. Nissen, Kenneth J. Northcott, 2011-03-04 Hans J Nissen here provides a much needed overview of 7000 years of development in the ancient Near East from the beginning of settled life to the formation of the first regional states His approach to the study of Mesopotamian civilization differs markedly from conventional orientations which impose a sharp division between prehistoric and historic literate periods Nissen argues that this approach is too rigid to explain the actual development of that civilization He deemphasizes the invention of writing as a turning point viewing it as simply one more phase in the evolution of social complexity and as the result of specific social economic and political factors With a unique combination of material culture analysis written data Nissen traces the emergence of the earliest isolated settlements the growth of a network of towns the emergence of city states and finally the appearance of territorial states From his synthesis of the prehistoric and literate periods comes a unified picture of the development of Mesopotamian economy society and culture Lavishly illustrated The Early History of the Ancient Near East 9000 2000 B C is an authoritative work by one of the most insightful observers of the evolution and character of Mesopotamian civilization

Revolution and Evolution in Private Law Sarah Worthington, Andrew Robertson, Graham Virgo, 2018-01-11 The development of private law across the common law world is typically portrayed as a series of incremental steps each one delivered as a result of judges dealing with marginally different factual circumstances presented to them for determination This is said to be the common law method According to this process change might be assumed to be gradual almost imperceptible If this were true however then even Darwinian style evolution which is subject to major change inducing pressures such as the death of the dinosaurs would seem unlikely in the law and radical and revolutionary paradigms shifts perhaps impossible And yet the history of the common law is to the contrary The legal landscape is littered with quite remarkable revolutionary and evolutionary changes in the shape of the common law The essays in this volume explore some of the highlights in this fascinating revolutionary and evolutionary development of private law The contributors expose the nature of the changes undergone and their significance for the future direction of travel They identify the circumstances and the contexts which might have provided an impetus for these significant changes The essays range across all areas of private law including contract tort unjust enrichment and property No area has been immune from development That fact itself is unsurprising but an extended examination of the particular circumstances and contexts which delivered some of private law s most important developments has its own special significance for what it might indicate about the shape and the shaping of private law regimes in the future
