Christian Purity Randolph Sinks Foster,1869 The Practical Works of David Clarkson David Clarkson,1865 The Practical Works of David Clarkson David Clarkson (B.D.),1865 The Event of Death: a Phenomenological Enquiry I. Leman-Stefanovic,2012-12-06 Building upon the preliminary conception of Phenomenology introduced by Heidegger in section II of the Introduction to Sein und zeit I one may say that a phenomenology of death would mean to let death as that which shows itself be seen from itself in the very way in which it shows itself from itself Does this mean then that a properly phenomenological description of death may reveal to us what death as a factual event is like in the very way in which it shows itself from itself Although I cannot experience my death in order to describe it may some kind of phenomenological inference or extrapolation² be the condition for a unique and privileged revelation of what it is like to be dead There is an important element of phenomenological description which renders such an extrapolation implausible and it involves what Husserl originally called the reduction to signification or meaning It can never be true for the phenomenologist ¹ Heidegger Martin Sein und zeit p 34 e t page 58 ² Henry W Johnstone Jr thinks that while one cannot extrapolate from the experience of sleep to the experience of death it may be possible to extrapolate from the phenomenology of sleep to the phenomenology of death Cf H W Johnstone Jr Toward a Phenomenology of Death in Philosophy and Phenomenological Research Vol XXXV No 3 1975 pages 396-7 Cf The Practical Works: Sermons on the new creature, invitation to sinners, &c., &c David Clarkson,1865 Search for Deity; being an inquiry as to the origin of the conception of God. ... With some reflections on a future state J. SULLIVAN (Freethinker.),1859 An Ontology of Consciousness R. Ellis,2013-03-09 The object of this study is to find a coherent theoretical approach to three problems which appear to interrelate in complex ways ¹ What is the ontological status of consciousness ² How can there be unconscious prereflective or self alienated consciousness And ³ Is there a self or ego formed by means of the interrelation of more elementary states of consciousness The motivation for combining such a diversity of difficult questions is that we often learn more by looking at interrelations of problems than we could by viewing them only in isolation The three questions posed here have emerged as especially problematic in the context of twentieth century philosophy ¹ The question of the ontological status of consciousness The question What is consciousness is one of the most perplexing in philosophy so perplexing that many have been motivated to proceed as though consciousness did not exist If William James was speaking rhetorically when he said Consciousness does not exist ¹ many behaviorists of the recent past were not ² James meant only to imply that consciousness is not an independently existing soul substance alongside physical substances He did not mean that we do not really have consciousness and he did not provide final resolution for the problem of the causal interrelations between consciousness and the physical realm e g our bodies Many recent philosophers and psychologists however try to proceed as though these problems did not exist The Little Book of Where to Find It in the Bible Ken Anderson,2021-11-09 Have you ever tried to find a Scripture passage related to

Satris,2012-12-06 The primary contributions of this work are in three overlapping categories i the history of ideas and in particular the history of the idea of value and moral philosophy in both continental and Anglo American traditions ii the identification and interpretation of ethical emotivism as one of the major twentieth century ethical theories and iii the evolution of a philosophically viable form of ethical emotivism as an alternative to utilitarianism and Kantianism In addition along the way many particular points are touched upon e g the relation of Hume to Stevenson and emotivism the facti value distinction and human emotional and social nature The work begins by challenging the received account of the development of twentieth century moral philosophy i e the account that occurs in all the recognized historical books such as G c Kerner The Revolution in Ethical Theory Oxford 1966 G 1 Warnock Contemporary Moral Philosophy London 1967 W D Hudson Modern Moral Philosophy London 1967 Mary Warnock Ethics Since 1900 3rd ed Oxford 1978 and W D Hudson A Century of Moral Philosophy New York 1980 This received account is not only the property of scholars of the history of recent moral philosophy but is also generally assumed by philosophers themselves and is repeated quite uncritically in the literature at large
