Seismic Assessment and Retrofit of Reinforced Concrete Buildings fib Fédération internationale du béton, 2003-08-01 In most parts of the developed world the building stock and the civil infrastructure are ageing and in constant need of maintenance repair and upgrading Moreover in the light of our current knowledge and of modern codes the majority of buildings stock and other types of structures in many parts of the world are substandard and deficient This is especially so in earthquake prone regions as even there seismic design of structures is relatively recent In those regions the major part of the seismic threat to human life and property comes from old buildings Due to the infrastructure s increasing decay frequently combined with the need for structural upgrading to meet more stringent design requirements especially against seismic loads structural retrofitting is becoming more and more important and receives today considerable emphasis throughout the world In response to this need a major part of the fib Model Code 2005 currently under development is being devoted to structural conservation and maintenance More importantly in recognition of the importance of the seismic threat arising from existing substandard buildings the first standards for structural upgrading to be promoted by the international engineering community and by regulatory authorities alike are for seismic rehabilitation of buildings This is the case for example of Part 3 Strengthening and Repair of Buildings of Eurocode 8 i.e. of the draft European Standard for earthquake resistant design and which is the only one among the current 2003 set of 58 Eurocodes attempting to address the problem of structural upgrading. It is also the case of the recent 2001 ASCE draft standard on Seismic evaluation of existing buildings and of the 1996 Law for promotion of seismic strengthening of existing reinforced concrete structures in Japan. As noted in Chapter 1 of this Bulletin fib as CEB and FIP did before has placed considerable emphasis on assessment and rehabilitation of existing structures. The present Bulletin is a culmination of this effort in the special but very important field of seismic assessment and rehabilitation. It has been elaborated over a period of 4 years by Task Group 7.1 Assessment and retrofit of existing structures of fib Commission 7 Seismic design a truly international team of experts representing the expertise and experience of all the important seismic regions of the world. In the course of its work the team had six plenary two day meetings in January 1999 in Pavia Italy in August 1999 in Raleigh North Carolina in February 2000 in Queenstown New Zealand in July 2000 in Patras Greece in March 2001 in Lausanne Switzerland and in August 2001 in Seattle Washington. In October 2002 the final draft of the Bulletin was presented to public during the 1st fib Congress in Osaka. It was also there that it was approved by fib Commission 7 Seismic Design. The contents is structured into main chapters as follows:

- 1 Introduction
- 2 Performance objectives and system considerations
- 3 Review of seismic assessment procedures
- 4 Strength and deformation capacity of non seismically detailed components
- 5 Seismic retrofitting techniques
- 6 Probabilistic concepts and methods
- 7 Case studies

Retrofitting of Concrete Structures by Externally Bonded FRPs, With Emphasis on Seismic Applications

fib Fédération internationale du béton, 2006-01-01 fib Bulletin 35 is the first bulletin to publish documentation from an fib short course. These courses are held worldwide and cover advanced knowledge of structural concrete in general or specific topics. They are organized by fib and given by internationally recognized experts in fib often supplemented with local experts active in fib. They are based on the knowledge and expertise from fib's ten Commissions and nearly fifty Task Groups. fib Bulletin 35 presents the course materials developed for the short course Retrofitting of Concrete Structures through Externally Bonded FRP with emphasis on Seismic Applications given in Ankara and Istanbul in June 2005. The course drew on expertise both from outside Turkey and from the large pool of local experts on this subject. In most countries of the world the building stock is ageing and needs continuous maintenance or repair. Moreover the majority of existing constructions are deficient in the light of current knowledge and design codes. The problem of structural deficiency of existing constructions is especially acute in seismic regions as even there seismic design of structures is relatively recent. The direct and indirect costs of demolition and reconstruction of structurally deficient constructions are often prohibitive furthermore they entail a substantial waste of natural resources and energy. Therefore structural retrofitting is becoming increasingly widespread throughout the world. Externally bonded Fibre Reinforced Polymers FRPs are rapidly becoming the technique of choice for structural retrofitting. They are cleaner and easier to apply than conventional retrofitting techniques.

reduce disruption to the occupancy and operation of the facility do not generate debris or waste and reduce health and accident hazards at the construction site as well as noise and air pollution in the surroundings fib Bulletin 35 gives state of the art coverage of retrofitting through FRPs and presents relevant provisions from three recent standardisation milestones EN 1998 3 2005 Eurocode 8 Design of structures for earthquake resistance Part 3 Assessment and retrofitting of buildings the 2005 Draft of the Turkish seismic design code and the Italian regulatory document CNR DT 200 04 Instructions for Design Execution and Control of Strengthening Interventions by Means of Fibre Reinforced Composites 2004

Architectural Glass to Resist Seismic and Extreme Climatic Events Richard A. Behr, 2009-09-14 Glass is a popular cladding material for modern buildings The trend for steel framed glass clad buildings instead of those using traditional materials such as brick and concrete has inherent problems These include for example the performance of architectural glass in extreme climatic events such as windstorms and heavy snow loads and also during earthquakes This book reviews the state of the art in glass and glazing technology to resist failure due to these natural events Building code seismic requirements for architectural glass in the United States are considered first of all followed by a chapter on glazing and curtain wall systems to resist earthquakes The next two chapters discuss snow loads on building envelopes and glazing systems and types and design of glazing systems to resist snow loads Wind pressures and the impact of wind borne debris are then considered in the next group of chapters which also review special types of glazing systems to resist windstorms A final chapter reviews test methods for the performance of glazing systems during earthquakes and extreme climatic events With its distinguished editor and team of contributors Architectural glass to resist seismic and extreme climatic events is an essential resource for architects structural civil and architectural engineers researchers and those involved in designing and specifying building glazing and cladding materials in areas where severe windstorms snow and earthquakes are a threat Considers the state of the art in glass and glazing technology to resist failure due to extreme climatic events Reviews specific building techniques and test methods to enhance glazing performance during snow storms wind storms and earthquakes

Concrete Buildings in Seismic Regions George G. Penelis, Gregory G. Penelis, 2014-03-24 Bearing in mind that reinforced concrete is a key component in a majority of built environment structures Concrete Buildings in Seismic Regions combines the scientific knowledge of earthquake engineering with a focus on the design of reinforced concrete buildings in seismic regions This book addresses practical design issues providing an integrated comprehensible and clear presentation that is suitable for design practice It combines current approaches to seismic analysis and design with a particular focus on reinforced concrete structures and includes an overview of structural dynamics analysis and design of new R C buildings in seismic regions post earthquake damage evaluation pre earthquake assessment of buildings and retrofitting procedures seismic risk management of R C buildings within urban nuclei extended numerical example applications Concrete Buildings in Seismic Regions determines guidelines for the proper structural system for many types of buildings explores recent developments and covers the last two decades of analysis design and earthquake engineering Divided into three parts the book specifically addresses seismic demand issues and the basic issues of structural dynamics considers the capacity of structural systems to withstand seismic effects in terms of strength and deformation and highlights existing R C buildings under seismic action All of the book material has been adjusted to fit a modern seismic code and offers in depth knowledge of the background upon which the code rules are based It complies with the last edition of European Codes of Practice for R C buildings in seismic regions and includes references to the American Standards in effect for seismic design Seismic Behavior of Steel Storage Pallet Racking Systems Carlo Andrea Castiglioni, 2016-02-04 This book presents the main outcomes of the first European research project on the seismic behavior of adjustable steel storage pallet racking systems In particular it describes a comprehensive and unique set of full scale tests designed to assess such behavior The tests performed include cyclic tests of full scale rack components namely beam to upright connections and column base connections static and dynamic tests to assess the friction factor between pallets and rack beams full scale pushover and pseudodynamic tests of storage racks in down aisle and cross aisle directions and full scale dynamic tests on two bay three level rack models The implications of the findings of this extensive testing regime on the seismic behavior of racking systems are discussed in detail highlighting e g the confirmation that under severe dynamic conditions sliding is the main factor influencing rack response This work was conceived during the development of the SEISRACKS project Its outcomes will contribute significantly to increasing our knowledge of the structural behavior of racks under earthquake conditions and should inform future rack design
