Thrall, 2020-01-21 Mystic Moderns examines the responses of three British authors Evelyn Underhill 1875-1941 May Sinclair 1863-1946 and Mary Webb 1881-1927 to the emerging modernity of the long early twentieth century moment encompassing the First World War As they explored divergent but overlapping understandings of what mystical experience might be these authors rejected claims that modernity's celebration of the secular and rational left no place for the mystical rather they countered sensitivity to a greater reality could both establish and validate personal agency and was integral to their identities as modern women Their preoccupations with the dynamism of human connection drew on prevailing ideas of vital energy or life force developed by Arthur Schopenhauer and Henri Bergson in ways that channeled modernity's erotic energy of change By using their fiction to describe new self-authenticating forms of mysticism separate from either the prevailing orthodoxy of establishment Christianity or the extreme heterodoxy of their era's enthusiasm for paranormal experimentation they also contributed to the rise of a generic concept of spirituality Mystic Moderns thus offers historical perspective on contemporary claims for self constructed non institutional spiritual experience associated with the claim I m spiritual not religious Working as they did within the shadow of the First World War Underhill Sinclair and Webb were in the end attempting to determine what might be of authentic value for a modern age marked by ubiquitous death While not themselves utopian authors each was touched by her era s complicated hunger for the best of all possible worlds Their constructions of how an individual should be and act in the midst of modernity thus simultaneously projected visions of what that modernity itself should become

Jewish Magic and Superstition Joshua Trachtenberg,2012-10-08 Alongside the formal development of Judaism from the eleventh through the sixteenth centuries a robust Jewish folk religion flourished ideas and practices that never met with wholehearted approval by religious leaders yet enjoyed such wide popularity that they could not be altogether excluded from the religion According to Joshua Trachtenberg it is not possible truly to understand the experience and history of the Jewish people without attempting to recover their folklife and beliefs from centuries past Jewish Magic and Superstition is a masterful and utterly fascinating exploration of religious forms that have all but disappeared yet persist in the imagination The volume begins with legends of Jewish sorcery and proceeds to discuss beliefs about the evil eye spirits of the dead powers of good the famous legend of the golem procedures for casting spells the use of gems and amulets how to battle spirits the ritual of circumcision herbal folk remedies fortune telling astrology and the interpretation of dreams First published more than sixty years ago Trachtenberg s study remains the foundational scholarship on magical practices in the Jewish world and offers an understanding of folk beliefs that expressed most eloquently the everyday religion of the Jewish people
