A Dialogue of the Effectual Proverbs in the English Tongue Concerning Marriage John Heywood, 1906 Marriage, Dowry, and Citizenship in Late Medieval and Renaissance Italy Julius Kirshner, 2015-02-26 Through his research on the status of women in Florence and other Italian cities Julius Kirshner helped to establish the socio legal history of women in late medieval and Renaissance Italy and challenge the idea that Florentine women had an inferior legal position and civic status In Marriage Dowry and Citizenship in Late Medieval and Renaissance Italy Kirshner collects nine important essays which address these issues in Florence and the cities of northern and central Italy Using a cross disciplinary approach that draws on the methodologies of both social and legal history the essays in this collection present a wealth of examples of daughters wives and widows acting as full fledged social and legal actors Revised and updated to reflect current scholarship the essays in Marriage Dowry and Citizenship in Late Medieval and Renaissance Italy appear alongside an extended introduction which situates them within the broader field of Renaissance legal history Louis Napoleon & the Recovery of France, 1848-1856 Frederick Arthur Simpson, 1923 From Duty to Desire Jane Fishburne Collier, 2020-07-21 In the 1980s Jane Collier revisited a village in Andalusia where she and others had conducted fieldwork twenty years earlier to investigate changes in family relationships and to explore the larger question of the development of a modern subjectivity among the people Whereas the villagers she met in the sixties stressed the importance of meeting social obligations the people she interviewed more recently emphasized the need to think for oneself status concerns in choosing a spouse had apparently been replaced by romantic love patriarchal authority by partnership marriages parental demands for obedience by hopes of earning children's affection mourners respect for the dead by personal expressions of grief In each of these areas the author detected a modern concern for producing oneself which emerged with changes in how villagers experienced social inequality Collier notes that when inheritance appeared to determine social status villagers protected family reputations and properties by demonstrating concern for what others might say Once villagers began participating in the national job market where individual achievement appeared to determine a worker's income they focused on realizing their inner abilities and productive capacities Sensitivity to one's feelings thoughts and aptitudes along with rational assessments of the costs and benefits entailed in choosing how to use them testified to a person's unceasing efforts to realize inner potentials The author also traces shifts in the meaning of tradition suggesting that although modern people cannot be traditional they must have traditions in order to produce themselves
