

MONOLOGUES – MALE
Theatre II, 2013-14

BREAKING UP by Michael Cristofer. He, in a modern courtship.

HE. It's dull. Real dull. But I'm not complaining. I'm not. If this is the way it has to be then this is what it has to be. I understand all that. I could never make anything work with the ups and downs anyway. So why not try dull? Maybe dull is the answer. Except that the truth is, you see, it's going in the same direction. It's just, when it's this dull, it's a little hard to see that it's going in any direction, but all this understanding, this is not going to last. A couple of words here, a couple of words there, a couple of looks, a couple of wrong moves and all of a sudden nobody understands anything anymore and you spend all your time trying to explain what you meant and what you thought she meant and what you thought she thought you meant . . .

It has to happen. The honeymoon is over. And then you break up and you go and find somebody else and you start all over again. I can't do it. I did it with you. I can't do it again with somebody else. It could take years. All that time to get someplace with her that I'm already at with you. And then it hit me.

We can't quit. You and me. We have something now. We can't throw it away. It's a failure, okay, but it's ours. And it's not the end. That's too easy. It's the place to start from. It's two, two and a half years of our lives. It's an investment. All that pain to get to zero; well, we're here now, we've got nothing, nothing works, we're finished, total, complete, everything we had is gone, not a hope, not a prayer, not a chance This is it. (pause) I think we should get married.
