Komnenos and his wife Pirooska Irene is not only one of the most important and most impressive monastic complexes of the Komnenian age it is also one of the few to occupy a key position in the life of Constantinople in the Palaiologan age given that its mortuary chapel Heron was also the last resting place of many members of the latter dynasty The first attempt to chronicle its history based on the texts known at the time was undertaken by G Moravcsik 1932 Interest was rekindled by P Gautier's critical edition of its Typikon 1971 and more recently by restoration work on its buildings This volume brings together a comprehensive selection of all the texts concerning or connected with the Monastery of Pantokrator and through them it demonstrates the Monastery's importance and its role throughout the history of the Byzantine Empire a role that has received insufficient attention given that older studies have tended to focus on the 12th century The texts cover the situation in Constantinople before the Monastery was founded the historical and cultural context within which it was established its Typikon monastic formulary the descriptions of Slav and Western travellers the Byzantine texts homiletic historical hagiographic and poetic relating to the Monastery and its history from the 12th to the 15th century the Byzantine officials associated with it and the celebration of the principal festivals in its churches It also contains critical editions of and commentaries on the two versions of the Synaxarion of Irene Komnene a speech referring to the Empress's associate in the construction of the Monastery another on the translation of the icon of St Demetrios from the Church of St Demetrios in Thessalonica to the Monastery of Pantokrator an Office of the Translation of the Holy Stone the verse Synaxarion composed for the consecration of the Monastery and the known and unpublished poems by Byzantine poets 12th 15th c relating to it as well as an extensive bibliography

Form, Style and Meaning in Byzantine Church Architecture Hans

Buchwald, 2024-10-28 Using detailed analyses of individual buildings as a point of departure Professor Buchwald here examines various approaches to Byzantine architectural forms and raises questions concerning the use of stylistic and other forms of analysis One group of articles focuses on stylistic currents in Asia Minor including that of the 13th century Lascarid dynasty previously unknown Others explore methods which appear to have been used in the design of Byzantine churches such as dimensional rules of thumb modular and geometric systems of proportion and the quadratura hitherto recognised only in Western architecture The final essays pose further questions what were the goals and achievements of Byzantine architects when they transformed older existing buildings How and why did they use stereometric Euclidean geometry And was there any ultimately Platonic connection

Özgenel, Alexander Sarantis, 2007-10-01 This book examines a number of themes relating to housing in Late Antiquity Two extensive bibliographic essays provide an overview of published literature relating to housing in this period A selection of thematic essays focus on episcopia lighting privacy vs public access and building regulations These are complemented by regional syntheses covering Spain and Africa and case studies of recently investigated urban houses from across the Mediterranean from Gaul to Jordan Whilst being firmly based in Late Antiquity the volume also looks forward to Middle Byzantine and Early Islamic housing with papers on rock cut houses in Cappadocia and a wealthy domus from Pella in Jordan destroyed by earthquake with its inhabitants inside in A D 749 The Archaeology of Byzantine Anatolia Philipp Niewöhner, 2017 This book accounts for the tumultuous period of the fifth to eleventh centuries from the Fall of Rome and the collapse of the Western Roman Empire through the breakup of the Eastern Roman Empire and loss of pan Mediterranean rule until the Turks arrived and seized Anatolia The volume is divided into a dozen syntheses that each addresses an issue of intrigue for the archaeology of Anatolia and two dozen case studies on single sites that exemplify its richness Anatolia was the only major part of the Roman Empire that did not fall in late antiquity it remained steadfast under Roman rule through the eleventh century Its personal history stands to elucidate both the emphatic impact of Roman administration in the wake of pan Mediterranean collapse Thanks to Byzantine archaeology we now know that urban decline did not set in before the fifth century after Anatolia had already be thoroughly Christianized in the course of the fourth century we know now that urban decline as it occurred from the fifth century onwards was paired with rural prosperity and an increase in the number size and quality of rural settlements and in rural population that this ruralization was halted during the seventh to ninth centuries when Anatolia was invaded first by the Persians and then by the Arabs and the population appears to have sought shelter behind new urban fortifications and in large cathedrals Further it elucidates that once the Arab threat had ended in the ninth century this ruralization set in once more and most cities seem to have been abandoned or reduced to villages during the ensuing time of seeming tranquility whilst the countryside experienced renewed prosperity that this trend was reversed yet again when the Seljuk Turks appeared on the scene in the eleventh century devastated the countryside and led to a revival and refortification of the former cities This dynamic historical thread traced across its extremes through the lens of Byzantine archaeology speaks not only to the torrid narrative of Byzantine Anatolia but to the enigmatic medievalization
