Navajo and the Animal People Steve Pavlik,William B Tsosie,2014-07-01 This text examines the traditional Navajo relationship to the natural world Specifically how the tribe once related to the Animal People and particularly a category of animals which they collectively referred to as the naatl eetsoh the ones who hunt These animals like Native Americans were once viewed as impediments to progress requiring extermination Wild Cats Kristin Nowell,Peter Jackson,IUCN/SSC Cat Specialist Group,1996 Presents the most comprehensive and up to date information available on the 36 wild cats of the world It includes the first published collection of detailed range maps and some of the first photographs of rare species in the wild It provides a thorough review of major issues in cat conservation such as habitat loss and management of big cats in livestock areas field and laboratory research international trade the role of zoos and reintroduction High priority are identified to further the cause of cat conservation Welsh Armorial Porcelain Howell G. M. Edwards,2022-05-05 Armorial porcelains comprised the output of most European ceramics factories in the 18th and 19th Centuries in response to the large quantity of armorial porcelain services that were being imported from China bearing the coats of arms and crests of aristocratic families Whereas these armorial services have been identified and covered for most porcelain manufactories the information relevant to their production by the two relatively short lived Nantgarw and Swansea China Works has not been addressed as a theme until now As an integral component of the holistic forensic appraisal of porcelain a functional and decorative artwork manifestly part of our cultural heritage and its ongoing preservation the recording and identification of such artefacts is material for the future establishment of a database of factory production The Nantgarw and Swansea factories only operated for a limited period in the second decade of the 19th Century and their porcelains were much appreciated for their high quality and desirability by Georgian households Today examples are to be found in many museums and ceramics collections and continue to excite the interest of specialists and the general public This text provides the first comprehensive assessment of armorial porcelains from these two factories and the methodology and procedure for the identification of unknown armorial bearings and crests is illustrated individual bearings are discussed in detail and existing incorrect assignments in the literature are re appraised The difficulties in attribution of armorial heraldic achievements that are only minimally depicted are considered and directions for further studies using historical documentation are invoked This book therefore fills a currently existing gap in the ceramics literature of the 19th Century
