The Human Rights Act Rosie Wilkinson, Helen Caulfield, 2000-11-08 The Human Rights Act came into effect on 2nd October 2000 giving every citizen a clear statement of their rights and responsibilities For public authorities such as the NHS the Act makes it a legal duty to respect and foster the rights of citizens as set out in the European Convention on Human Rights This timely book has been written by nursing related professionals who are nationally recognised for their experience in nursing and its relation to ethics and the law Intended to be of practical use for nurses in their day to day relationships with patients and clients this guide explores the impact of The Human Rights Act on key areas such as health law and ethics patient rights and non discrimination Particular emphasis is placed on the role of the nurse in safeguarding patients rights and several case studies are included to illustrate issues raised by the Act Written for nurses and other healthcare professionals this guide provides an informed overview of the Human Rights Act and its ramifications for healthcare services in the twenty first century

Ethics in Health Care Silvia Angelina Pera, Susara Van Tonder, 2005 Dealing primarily with nursing in South Africa and the particular challenges that the country's nurses encounter this book looks at the ethical questions confronting nurses as well as the moral philosophy behind those considerations Ubuntu the African notion that everyone in a community is responsible for the welfare of its members plays a large part in the moral deliberations of the book as do problems particular to South Africa This second edition is updated with new case studies on the AIDS pandemic as well as new ethical questions stemming from the legalization of abortion in South Africa and the rise in the power of health worker unions

Advocacy and Human Rights Philip Plowden, Kevin Kerrigan, 2002 The Human Rights Act 1998 was fully implemented in October 2000 and since then it has become clear how fundamentally the Act will challenge all aspects of our legal system As Sir Stephen Sedley said in his 2000 Eldon lecture the courts are going to be dependent as never before on the advocates who come before them for knowledgeable and balanced argument about the Convention This book provides advocates with a guide to the preparation and presentation of Convention based arguments before domestic courts and tribunals It analyses recent domestic and Strasbourg case law and sets out points for advocates covering the different issues which may need to be addressed in each area The book shows advocates how to provide courts with structured and effective guidance on the application of the Human Rights Act ensuring that they are able to identify and to promote human rights arguments in advancing their clients case practice problems of various sorts they may not be confident in their skills of ethical decision making and advocacy actions This is a resource to develop moral agency on behalf of individuals and to address broader barriers to good care raised at the local community or social levels
