belonging to this chapel had already been moved to the Cairo Museum during the nineteenth century and finds during Schiaparelli's campaign were taken to the Egyptian Museum at Turin. In this work Elisa Fiore Marochetti presents documents from these two museums and gives an architectonic and decorative reconstitution of an unknown monument. The mostly unpublished blocks and fragments presented here as the General Catalogue of the Turin Museum follow a general introduction to the geographical, religious and historical setting of Gebelein and of the chapel before Mentuhotep's reunification of the land. The dating of the chapel is formulated on the basis of the iconographical style of the reliefs and of the titulary borne by Mentuhotep. The publication therefore not only presents a valuable reference to the Egyptian antiquities housed in Turin's Egyptian Museum. It also presents a valuable addition to literature on Egyptian temple decoration and development, royal iconography, kingship and the course of events on the verge of the Middle Kingdom.
