Looking For Estrellita:

Brian Castro's Fiction, Transcultural Writers and Novels in the Age of Global Mobility Arianna Dagnino, 2015-06-30

In Transcultural Writers and Novels in the Age of Global Mobility Arianna Dagnino analyzes a new type of literature emerging from artists increased movement and cultural flows spawned by globalization. This transcultural literature is produced by authors who write across cultural and national boundaries and who transcend in their lives and creative production the borders of a single culture. Dagnino's book contains a creative rendition of interviews conducted with five internationally renowned writers: Inez Baranay, Brian Castro, Alberto Manguel, Tim Parks, and Ilija Trojanow, and a critical exegesis reflecting on thematic, critical, and stylistic aspects. By studying the selected authors' corpus of work, life experiences, and cultural orientations, Dagnino explores the implicit, often subconscious process of cultural and imaginative metamorphosis that leads transcultural writers and their fictionalized characters beyond ethnic, national, racial, or religious loci of identity and identity formation. Drawing on the theoretical framework of comparative cultural studies, she offers insight into transcultural writing related to belonging, hybridity, cultural errancy, the Other, worldviews, translanguaging, deterritorialization, neomadism, as well as genre, thematic patterns, and narrative techniques. Dagnino also outlines the implications of transcultural writing within the wider context of world literature and identifies some of the main traits that characterize transcultural novels.

Drift Brian Castro, 2011-05

Brian Castro's fifth novel is perhaps his most complex and certainly his most political. Like all his work, it is productively playful, punningly irreverent, and deeply concerned with sex and death, fact and fiction, but also more seriously with the redemptive possibilities of art and the existential power of the novel, all in the context of Australia's contested history. Introduction by Katharine England.

Global Fragments Anke Bartels, Dirk Wiemann, 2007

While the world seems to be getting ever smaller and globalization has become the ubiquitous buzz word, regionalism and fragmentation also abound. This might be due to the fact that far from being the alleged production of cultural homogeneity, the global is constantly redefined and altered through the local. This tension pervading much of contemporary culture has an obvious special relevance for the new varieties of English and the literature published in English: world-wide Postcolonial literatures exist at the interface of English as a hegemonic medium and its many national, regional, and local competitors that transform it in the new English literatures. Thus, any exploration of a globalization of cultures has to take into account the fact that culture is a complex field characterized by hybridization, plurality, and difference. But while global or transnational cultures may allow for a new cosmopolitanism that produces ever-changing fluid identities, they do not give rise to an egalitarian global village; an asymmetry between centre and periphery remains largely intact, albeit along new parameters. The essays collected in this volume offer readings of literary, theoretical, and filmic texts from the postcolonial world. These texts are read as attempts to articulate the global with the local from a perspective of immersion in the actual diversity of life-worlds, focusing on such issues as consumption, identity, politics, and modes of affiliation In this sense they are global fragments locally refracted figurations of an experience of world wide interconnectedness

Migration by Boat Lynda Mannik, 2016-05 At a time when thousands of refugees risk their lives undertaking perilous journeys by boat across the Mediterranean this multidisciplinary volume could not be more pertinent It offers various contemporary case studies of boat migrations undertaken by asylum seekers and refugees around the globe and shows that boats not only move people and cultural capital between places but also fuel cultural fantasies dreams of adventure and hope along with fears of invasion and terrorism The ambiguous nature of memories media representations and popular culture productions are highlighted throughout in order to address negative stereotypes and conversely humanize the individuals involved

Australian Made Sonia Mycak, Amit Sarwal, 2018-08-30 Australian Made is a collection of essays about the writers the readers and the texts of multicultural Australia Presenting the work of critics and scholars from both Australia and abroad this collection creates a synergy between local and international perspectives as it explores what it means for a writer or a reader to be Australian and a text to be Australian made

Hamilton,Michelle Kelly,Elaine Minor,2009-03-26 The Politics and Aesthetics of Refusal is an eclectic collection of essays from emerging academics who engage with the notion of refusal both as the embodiment of a resistance to conventional boundaries between academic disciplines and as a concept with an underlying negative or reactive force that can be widely interpreted and applied The applications of refusal outlined in this volume ranging from activism and the politics of cultural production through to problems of identity and knowledge classification raise questions about often elided relationships of agency and complicity in routine experience The sense of refusal that emerges from this book is perhaps most easily classified by what it is not namely a prescriptive conclusive or unified account of what it is to reject react or work against any particular instance of theory or practice in any given domain The value of a thematically oriented collection like this is its ability to work across disciplines media and philosophical frameworks rather than limiting its focus to a narrow territory According to Herbert Marcuse refusal must not only be the guiding principle for all artistic creation it must also be a manifestation of artistic creation itself With this volume we have attempted to compose a collection which is not only theoretically guided by refusal but practically informed by it as well The collection in itself constitutes we hope a constructive rejection of the usual constrictions of discipline and approach placed upon new scholars This rich collection of essays on the political aesthetic and ethical dimensions of that form of social action called refusal is an important contribution to our understanding of the tensions and contradictions of contemporary culture John Frow Professor of English Literary Studies at the University of Melbourne The Horses of Lost Valley Aileen Kilgore Henderson,2016-09-15 Tillery Hubbs a twelve year old wimp in 1960s San Diego discovers a neglected horse in Lost Valley Struggling against the horse's wealthy owner and his own family Till succeeds in saving the horse He gains the courage to fight flood and fire and protect the other horses of Lost
