Lost Films Of Laurel And Hardy 8:

Laurel and Hardy Wes D. Gehring, 1990-06-27 This book presents a combined biographical critical and bibliographical estimate of Laurel and Hardy's significance in film comedy, the arts in general, and as popular culture icons. The book features biographical information on the public and private lives of Laurel and Hardy, a critique of four broad influences of Laurel and Hardy, and a bibliographical essay assessing key reference materials and locating research collections open to the student and/or scholar.

Reel Bad Arabs Jack G. Shaheen, 2012-12-31 A groundbreaking book that dissects a slanderous history dating from cinema's earliest days to contemporary Hollywood blockbusters that feature machine gun wielding and bomb blowing evil Arabs. Award-winning film authority Jack G. Shaheen notes that only Native Americans have been more relentlessly smeared on the silver screen. Painstakingly makes his case that Arab has remained Hollywood's shameless shorthand for bad guy long after the movie industry has shifted its portrayal of other minority groups. In this comprehensive study of over one thousand films arranged alphabetically in such chapters as Villains, Sheikhs, Cameos, and Cliffhangers, Shaheen documents the tendency to portray Muslim Arabs as Public Enemy 1, brutal, heartless, uncivilized Others bent on terrorizing civilized Westerners. Shaheen examines how and why such a stereotype has grown and spread in the film industry and what may be done to change Hollywood's defamation of Arabs.

The Moviegoing Experience, 1968-2001 Richard W. Haines, 2010-06-28 The experience of going to the movies, be it a single screen theater, twin multiplex, or drive-in, is affected by many different factors that have shifted over the years. Just as movies emerged from silent to talking, black and white to color, there has invariably been change in the way movies are made, copied, distributed, and viewed. This change in the moviegoing experience, for better or for worse, is worth studying. This work examines the American moviegoing experience from 1968 to 2001, the way in which movies are made and regulated, including the demise of the Production Code and the emergence of the ratings system, as well as changes in lighting, cinematography, and coloring techniques. The projection practices of the past and present, during and after the presence of the Projectionists Union and the advent of the platter which allowed for automated projection, are discussed. How home video and cable affected the content of films after the eighties and the history of computerized special effects leading to the development of digital cinema projection are included. The work also covers the changing types of venues over the last third of a century and other aspects that affect positively or negatively the entire moviegoing experience.
