Marvellous Thieves Paulo Lemos Horta,2017-01-16 A fascinating work of cultural and literary history An insightful examination of the Arabian Nights and the fraught complexities of translation Kirkus Reviews Although many of its stories originated centuries ago in the Middle East the Arabian Nights is regarded as a classic of world literature by virtue of the seminal French and English translations produced in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Supporting the suspicion that the story collection is more Parisian than Persian some of its most famous tales including the stories of Aladdin and Ali Baba appear nowhere in the original sources Yet as befits a world where magic lamps may conceal a jinni and fabulous treasures lie just beyond secret doors the truth of the Arabian Nights is richer than standard criticism suggests Marvellous Thieves which draws on hitherto neglected sources is a brilliant fluent and original work of literary scholarship Robert Irwin Literary Review This fine book cogently probes an influential period in the knotted and at times sordid history of the Arabian Nights serving as a fine example to those unraveling this promiscuous and forever malleable set of stories Charles Shafaieh Wall Street Journal Intelligent and engrossing The great merit of Horta s book is that its interest always lies in the story of the story in mapping out the complex network of the translators editors and travellers behind the Arabian Nights in ways that enrich our sense of this remarkable text Shahidha Bari Times Higher Education The Square Deal ,1905 Morning

Public Things Bonnie Honig,2017-03-01 In the contemporary world of neoliberalism efficiency is treated as the vehicle of political and economic health State bureaucracy but not corporate bureaucracy is seen as inefficient and privatization is seen as a magic cure for social ills In Public Things Democracy in Disrepair Bonnie Honig asks whether democracy is possible in the absence of public services spaces and utilities In other words if neoliberalism leaves to democracy merely electoral majoritarianism and procedures of deliberation while divesting democratic states of their ownership of public things what will the impact be Following Tocqueville who extolled the virtues of pursuing in common the objects of common desires Honig focuses not on the demos but on the objects of democratic life Democracy as she points out postulates public things infrastructure monuments libraries that citizens use care for repair and are gathered up by To be gathered up refers to the work of D W Winnicott the object relations psychoanalyst who popularized the idea of transitional objects the toys teddy bears or favorite blankets by way of which infants come to understand themselves as unified selves with an inside and an outside in relation to others The wager of Public Things is that the work transitional objects do for infants is analogously performed for democratic citizens by public things which press us into object relations with others and with ourselves Public Things attends also to the historically racial character of public things public lands taken from indigenous peoples access to public goods restricted to white majorities Drawing on Hannah Arendt who saw how things fabricated by humans lend stability to the human world Honig shows how Arendt and Winnicott both theorists of livenesss underline the material and psychological conditions

Hispanists and all those interested in Renaissance history and culture BOOK JACKET Immanent Frames John

Caruana, Mark Cauchi, 2018-05-31 Explores a growing number of films and filmmakers that challenge the strict boundaries between belief and unbelief For some time now thinkers across the humanities and social sciences have increasingly called into question the once dominant view of the relationship between modernity and secularism prompting some to speak of a postsecular turn Until now film studies has largely been silent about this development even though cinema itself has been a major vehicle for such reflection This fact became inescapable in 2011 when Terrence Malick's The Tree of Life and Lars von Trier's Melancholia were released within days of each other While these two audacious and controversial films present seemingly opposite perspectives the former a thoughtful meditation on faith the latter a portrayal of nontriumphalist atheism together they raise critical questions about transcendence and immanence in modern life These films are however only the most conspicuous of a growing body of works that call forth similar and related questions what this collection aptly calls postsecular cinema Taking the nearly simultaneous release of The Tree of Life and Melancholia as its starting point and framing device this pioneering collection sets out to establish the idea of postsecular cinema as a distinct body of films and a viable critical category Adopting a film philosophy approach one group of essays examines Malick's and von Trier's films while another looks at works by Chantal Akerman Denys Arcand the Dardenne brothers and John Michael McDonagh among others The volume closes with two important interviews with Luc Dardenne and Jean Luc Nancy that invite us to reflect more deeply on some of the central concerns of postsecular cinema LOST in Media Benjamin Beil, Lorenz Engell, Jens

Schröter, Herbert Schwaab, Daniela Wentz, 2018-02-21 The television series LOST initiated a wide ranging academic debate which centered on its narrative and temporal complexity while also addressing the massive expansion into other media and consequently crossing established genre categories This expansion poses the essential question about the status of the original medium television within recent multiple media configurations Can LOST be regarded as a symptom of television in the process of media change What is the relation between LOST's temporality and that of television in general And how can LOST be understood as a phenomenon of mediatized worlds The contributions in this book examine these questions The book's editors are members of the project TV Series as Reflection and Projection of Change which is part of the DFG Priority Program 1505 Mediatized Worlds Series Medien welten Braunschweiger Schriften zur Medienkultur Vol 19
