Greene, 1990-11-28 This collection of papers presents ideas and research that helps to find a link between the retarded child s educational setting and the onset of delinquency The first section presents the impacts of the judicial system on the mentally retarded offender and researcher attempts to find a relationship between intelligence and delinquency The second section deals with the legal mandates such as P L 94 142 and the parameters that schools must comply with to ensure that every student regardless of his or her handicap receives a free and appropriate education Finally the last section focuses upon some of the methods currently being used by school districts to comply with P L 94 142 and presents a case study that amplifies the need for schools to identify and nurture exceptional children Mainstreaming of Children in Schools Phillip S. Mohan,2014-07-15 Since it was first established in the 1970 s the Applied Linguistics and Language Study series has become a major force in the study of practical problems in human communication and language education Drawing extensively on empirical research and theoretical work in linguistics sociology psychology and education the series explores key issues in language acquisition and language use English as a Second Language learners are now a considerable and increasing part of the mainstream of urban schools in English speaking countries Beyond the learning of English this development raises broader questions of language as a medium of education in a multilingual multicultural environment Drawing on their experience as researchers and educators in Australia Canada and England the authors of English as a Second Language in the Mainstream present an up to date account of advances in theory and practice Their analysis of system wide provision however suggests that a truly responsive educational vision is lacking government policy is inadequate educational practices for ESL students are either underdeveloped or poorly coordinated with practices for other students and the rhetoric of reform fails to engage significantly with issues of teaching and resources The authors argue towards a more comprehensive vision which can acknowledge the relation between issues concerning ESL students and issues concerning the educational system as a whole which can coordinate reforms in ESL education with general reforms which can explicitly and systematically integrate language learning and content learning and which can build more positively on the multilingual and multicultural nature of modern education for all students Handbook of Latinos and Education Juan Sánchez

Field,2011-08-18 This text provides an overview of bi and multilingualism as a worldwide phenomenon It features comprehensive discussions of many of the linguistic social political and educational issues found in an increasingly multilingual nation and world To this end the book takes the Chicano Latino community of Southern California where Spanish English bilingualism has over a century and a half of history and presents a detailed case study thereby situating the community in a much broader social context Spanish is the second most widely spoken language in the U S after English yet for the most part its speakers form a language minority that essentially lacks the social political and educational support necessary to derive the many cognitive socioeconomic and educational benefits that proficient bilingualism can provide The issues facing Spanish English bilinguals in the Los Angeles area are relevant to nearly every bi and multilingual community irrespective of nation language and or ethnicity

Muslim Uyghur Students in a Chinese Boarding School Yangbin Chen, 2008-05-29 One of the most controversial policies in Chinese minority education concerns the so called inland ethnic minority schools or classes in Han inhabited areas in China Since 2000 boarding Xinjiang Classes have been established in the eastern cities of China for high school students from the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region in order to educate young Uyghur and other ethnic minority students through the national curricula Although the Xinjiang Classes are supposed to promote ethnic integration between the Muslim Uyghur minority and the Han majority there often remains a gap between the stated policy goal and its actual implementation Guided by the theoretical framework of social capital analysis this book therefore examines how Uyghur students in the Xinjiang Classes respond to the school goal of ethnic integration Chen conceptualizes the process of Uyghur students responses to the school goal of ethnic integration as social recapitalization While their former social capital from families or communities in Xinjiang is constrained in the boarding school Uyghur youths are able to develop independent and new social capital to facilitate their schooling Nonetheless they lack bridging social capital which makes the goal of ethnic integration more difficult to achieve

Clinical Child Psychology Steven I. Pfeiffer, 1985

Emotionally Disturbed Deborah Blythe Doroshov, 2019-04-26 Before the 1940s children in the United States with severe emotional difficulties would have had few options for care The first option was usually a child guidance clinic within the community but they might also have been placed in a state mental hospital or asylum an institution for the so called feeble minded or a training school for delinquent children Starting in the 1930s however more specialized institutions began to open all over the country Staff members at these residential treatment centers shared a commitment to helping children who could not be managed at home They adopted an integrated approach to treatment employing talk therapy schooling and other activities in the context of a therapeutic environment Emotionally Disturbed is the first work to examine not only the history of residential treatment but also the history of seriously mentally ill children in the United States As residential treatment centers emerged as new spaces with a fresh therapeutic perspective a new kind of person became visible the emotionally disturbed child Residential treatment centers and the people who worked there built physical and conceptual structures that identified a population of children who were alike in distinctive ways Emotional disturbance became a diagnosis a policy problem and a statement about the troubled state of postwar society But in the late twentieth century Americans went from pouring private and public funds into the care of troubled children to abandoning them almost completely Charting the decline of residential treatment centers in favor of domestic care based models in the 1980s and 1990s this history is a must read for those wishing to understand how our current child mental health system came to be
