Late Style and its Discontents Gordon McMullan, Sam Smiles, 2016-10-06 Late style is a critical term routinely deployed to characterise the work of selected authors composers and creative artists as they enter their last phase of production often but not only in old age Taken at face value this terminology merely points to a chronological division in the artist's oeuvre late being the antonym of early or the third term in the triad early middle late However almost from its inception the idea of late style or late work has been freighted with aesthetic associations and expectations that promote it as a special episode in the artist's creative life. Late style is often characterised as the imaginative response made by exceptional talents to the imminence of their death. In their confrontation with death, creative artists' critics claim, produce work that is by turns a determination to continue while strength remains a summation of their life's work and a radical vision of the essence of their craft. And because this creative phenomenon is understood as primarily an existential response to a common fate, so late style is understood as something that transcends the particularities of place, time, and medium. Critics seeking to understand late work regularly invoke the examples of Titian, Goethe, and Beethoven as exemplars of what constitutes late work, proposing that something unites the late style of authors, composers, and creative artists who otherwise would not be bracketed together, and that lateness per se is a special order of creative work. The essays in this collection resist this position. Ranging across literature, the visual arts, music, and scientific work, the material assembled here looks closely at the material, biographical, and other contexts in which the work was produced and seeks both to question the assumptions surrounding late style and to prompt a more critical understanding of the last works of writers, artists, and composers.

Monet's Minutes André Dombrowski, 2023-01-01. A stunning exploration of the vital links between Claude Monet's Impressionism and the time technologies that helped define modernity in the nineteenth century. Monet's Minutes is a revelatory account charting the relationship between the works of Claude Monet (1840-1926), founder of French Impressionism and one of the world's best-known painters, and the modern experience of time. Andr Dombrowski illuminates Monet's celebration of instantaneity in the context of the late nineteenth-century time technologies that underwrote it. Monet's version of Impressionism demonstrated an acute awareness of the particularly modern pressures of time, but until now, scholars have not examined the histories and technologies of time and timekeeping that informed Impressionism's major stylistic shifts. Arguing that the fascination with instantaneity rejected the dulling cultures of newly routinized and standardized time, Monet's Minutes traces the evolution of Monet's art to what were then seismic shifts in the shape of time itself. In each chapter, Dombrowski focuses on the connections between a set of Monet's works and a specific technology or experience of time, while providing the voices of period critics responding to Impressionism. Grounded in exceptional research and analyses, this book offers new interpretations of key works by Monet and a fresh perspective on late nineteenth-century art, society, and modern temporality.

Last Light Richard Lacayo, 2022-10-11 One of the nation's top art critics shows how six great artists made old age a time of triumph by producing some of the greatest work of their long careers and in some cases changing the course of art history Ordinarily we think of young artists as the bomb throwers Monet and Renoir were still in their twenties when they embarked on what would soon be called Impressionism as were Picasso and Braque when they ventured into Cubism But your sixties and the decades that follow can be no less liberating if they too bring the confidence to attempt new things Young artists may experiment because they have nothing to lose older ones because they have nothing to fear With their legacies secure they're free to reinvent themselves sometimes with revolutionary results Titian's late style offered a way for pigment itself not just the things it depicted to express feelings on the canvas foreshadowing Rubens Frans Hals 19th century Impressionists and 20th century Expressionists Goya's late work enlarged the psychological territory that artists could enter Monet's late waterlily paintings were eventually recognized as prophetic for the centerless diaphanous space developed after World War II by abstract expressionists like Jackson Pollock and Phillip Guston In his seventies

Matisse began to produce some of the most joyful art of the 20th century especially his famous cutouts that brought an ancient craft into the realm of High Modernism Hopper the ultimate realist used old age on occasion to depart into the surreal And Nevelson the patron saint of late bloomers pioneered a new kind of sculpture wall sized wooden assemblages made from odds and ends she scavenged from the streets of Manhattan Though these six artists differed in many respects they shared one thing a determination to go on creating driven not by the bounding energies of youth but by the ticking clock that would inspire them to produce some of their greatest masterpieces
