Ministry with Persons with Mental Illness and Their Families, Second Edition Robert H. Albers, William H. Meller, Steven D. Thurber, 2019-12-03 Those who are afflicted as well as those who are adversely affected by mental illness often live lives of quiet desperation without recourse to appropriate assistance Most caregivers confronted with these illnesses in the work of ministry have had no training or accurate information about mental illnesses so frequently they do nothing resulting in further harm and damage Others may operate out of a theological system that does not adequately account for the nature severity or treatment of these illnesses In Ministry with Persons with Mental Illness and Their Families Second Edition psychiatrists and pastoral theologians come together in an interdisciplinary collaborative effort to ensure accuracy of information concerning the medical dimensions of mental illness interpret these illnesses from a faith perspective and make suggestions relative to effective ministry Readers will learn how science and a faith tradition can not only co exist but work in tandem to alleviate the pain of the afflicted and affected

The Price of Protection Grace Bridges, 2019-03-26 Noodle shares her and her sibling's life on a farm with their Momma and Daddy Momma was raised in an orphanage during the great depression Daddy was a pilot in the army during WWII Daddy made up his own religion which included using no medication no birth control and no grace Women and girls must wear dresses and men are superior to women and children and many other rules and regulations It was a life of hard work and strict discipline Then the school board the courts the child welfare department and the police got involved Noodle just seven years old takes us through the personal terror that she and her two other unvaccinated siblings experienced for three years while the courts and Daddy tried to prove to each other who was the boss From the farm to the Governor's mansion these children's story needs to be told And after fifty five years here it is the truth from the perspective of the child who overcame it

Temporality, Shame, and the Problem of Evil in Jungian Psychology Murray Stein, Elena Caramazza, 2020-10-18 In a unique epistolary style authors Murray Stein and Elena Caramazza share their rich and reflective conversations surrounding the themes of temporality shame and evil through letters essays and email correspondence Ignited by Wolfgang Pauli's The Piano Lesson Stein and Caramazza study the function of temporality and consider the importance of shame and evil to this relationship In this book Stein shows how Pauli as a result of his contact with C G Jung and analytical psychology embarked on a thought experiment to merge two currents of scientific thought quantum physics and depth psychology In his work of active imagination The Piano Lesson Pauli playfully brings together the former which supplies a causal explanation of the mechanics of the material world and the latter which supplies an approach to meaning The problem of how to merge the two currents in one language is presented in Pauli's symbolic solution piano music which combines the black and white keys in a single harmony This music symbolizes a unified theory that combines the explanations of causality and the meaning delivered by synchronicity Presenting an original approach to synchronicity and dis synchronicity this interdisciplinary and innovative exchange concludes with a script written by Murray Stein inspired by Pauli as well as an afterword by influential Jungian scholars This book will be a key reference for undergraduate and postgraduate courses and seminars in Jungian and post Jungian studies philosophy psychoanalytic studies psychology and the social sciences
