My Wife My Daughter And Poor Mary Ann Women And Work In Australia:

Alice Henry: The Power of Pen and Voice Diane Kirkby, 2002-08-08 A biography of Alice Henry 1857 1943 a pioneer in both the Australian and American labour movements An Archaeology of Australia Since 1788 Susan Lawrence, Peter Davies, 2010-10-21 This volume provides an important new synthesis of archaeological work carried out in Australia on the post contact period It draws on dozens of case studies from a wide geographical and temporal span to explore the daily life of Australians in settings such as convict stations goldfields whalers camps farms pastoral estates and urban neighbourhoods The different conditions experienced by various groups of people are described in detail including rich and poor convicts and their superiors Aboriginal people women children and migrant groups The social themes of gender class ethnicity status and identity inform every chapter demonstrating that these are vital parts of human experience and cannot be separated from archaeologies of industry urbanization and culture contact The book engages with a wide range of contemporary discussions and debates within Australian history and the international discipline of historical archaeology The colonization of Australia was part of the international expansion of European hegemony in the eighteenth and nineteenth century The material discussed here is thus fundamentally part of the global processes of colonization and the creation of settler societies the industrial revolution the development of mass consumer culture and the emergence of national identities Drawing out these themes and integrating them with the analysis of archaeological materials highlights the vital relevance of archaeology in modern society My Wife, My Daughter, and Poor Mary Ann Beverley Kingston, 1977 Passions of the First Wave Feminists Susan Magarey, 2001 This work offers a new view of suffrage era feminism in Australia located in rich cultural social and political context which also presents a new view of the decades around federation My wife, my daughter, and poor Mary Ann Beverley Kingston, 1977 Female Entrepreneurs in the Long Nineteenth Century Jennifer Aston, Catherine Bishop, 2020-07-29 This volume challenges those who see gender inequalities invariably defining and constraining the lives of women But it also broadens the conversation about the degree to which business is a gender blind institution owned and managed by entrepreneurs whose gender identities shape and reflect economic and cultural change Mary A Yeager Professor Emerita University of California Los Angeles This is the first book to consider nineteenth century businesswomen from a global perspective moving beyond European and trans Atlantic frameworks to include many other corners of the world The women in these pages who made money and business decisions for themselves rather than as employees ran a wide variety of enterprises from micro businesses in the grey market to large factories with international reach They included publicans and farmers midwives and property developers milliners and plumbers pirates and shopkeepers Female Entrepreneurs in the Long Nineteenth Century A Global Perspective rejects the notion that nineteenth century women were restricted to the home Despite a variety of legal and structural restrictions they found ways to make important but largely unrecognised contributions to economies around the world many in business Their impact on the economy and the economy's impact on them challenge gender historians to think more about business and business historians to think more about gender and create a global history that is inclusive of multiple perspectives Chapter one of this book is available open access under a CC BY 4.0 license at link.springer.com Gender, Class and Education (Routledge Revivals) Stephen Walker, Len Barton, 2013-11-05 First published in 1983 Gender Class and Education is a collection of papers that formed presentations at the Westhill Sociology of Education Conference in January 1982 and is the fifth such collection to emerge from the annual conference The conference theme Race Class and Gender was not only chosen because of its topicality but also to provide a framework for debate between educational researchers and teachers The papers focus on the reproduction of gender relations through education and provide important insights into how this process works how it is resisted in schools and colleges and the possibilities for radical intervention This volume includes three teaching bibliographies on gender and education which were not presented at the conference but were compiled specially for the book

Out of the Silence Wendy James, 2013-04-01 Winner of the Best First Australian Crime Novel Ned Kelly Crime Awards 2006 I hold Jacky close fix my eyes on the door and walk as fast as I can Oh please don't run away Think of your child if you cannot think of yourself What we are suggesting is nothing the man mutters darkly as I pass through the door and into the brightly lit hall Nothing Far worse can happen Far worse I have a baby two shillings no reputation and nowhere to go but even so I cannot imagine what far worse might be Out of the Silence is a stunning debut novel about three women from very different worlds Maggie Heffernan a spirited working class country girl Elizabeth Hamilton whose own disappointment in love has served only to strengthen her humanity and the remarkable Vida Goldstein the suffragist who was to become the first woman to stand for Parliament When Maggie's life descends into darkness after a terrible betrayal the three women's lives collide Around this tragedy Wendy James has constructed a masterfully drawn and gripping fiction Based on a true story it unfolds at the dawn of the twentieth century against the compelling backdrop of the women's suffrage movement and a world on the brink of enormous change The novel powerfully evokes the plight of women in the early 1900s not least their limited options whatever their class and education However at its heart this is a story of love of love gone wrong of its compromises and disappointments but ultimately of its extraordinary transformative power This is a work of intelligence and talent informed by a deeply humane sensitivity Sydney Morning Herald Friend Or Flunkey? Gabrielle Meagher, 2003 Takes a close look at the working lives and attitudes of domestic workers in modern Australia The book examines a great diversity of experiences in the domestic services industry mainly through interviews with many participants both employers and employed Transnationalism, Nationalism and Australian History Anna Clark, Anne Rees, Alecia Simmonds, 2017-07-04 Using Australian history as a case study this collection explores the ways national identities still resonate in historical scholarship and reexamines key moments in Australian history through a transnational lens raising important questions about the unique context of Australia's national narrative The book examines the tension between national and transnational perspectives attempting to internationalize the often parochial nation based narratives that characterize national history Moving from the local and personal to the global encompassing comparative and international research and drawing on the experiences of researchers working across nations and communities this collection brings together diverging national and transnational approaches and asks several critical research questions What is transnational history How do new transnational readings of the past challenge conventional national narratives and approaches What are implications of transnational and international approaches on Australian history What possibilities do they bring to the discipline What are their limitations And finally how do we understand the nation in this transnational moment Insanity, identity and empire Catharine Coleborne, 2015-10-01 This book examines the formation of colonial social identities inside the institutions for the insane in Australia and New Zealand Taking a large sample of patient records it pays particular attention to gender ethnicity and class as categories of analysis reminding us of the varied journeys of immigrants to the colonies and of how and where they stopped for different reasons inside the social institutions of the period It is about their stories of mobility how these were told and produced inside institutions for the insane and how in the telling colonial identities were asserted and formed Having engaged with the structural imperatives of empire and with the varied imperial meanings of gender sexuality and medicine historians have considered the movements of travellers migrants military bodies and medical personnel and transnational lives This book examines an empire wide discourse of madness as part of this inquiry

Companion to Women's Historical Writing M. Spongberg, A. Curthoys, B. Caine, 2016-04-30 This A Z reference work provides the first comprehensive reference guide to the wide range of historical writing with which women have been involved particularly since the Renaissance The Companion covers biographical writing travelogue and historical fictions broadening the concept of history to include the forms of writing with which women have historically engaged The focus is on women writing in English internationally but historical and historiographical traditions from beyond the English speaking world are also examined Brief biographies of individual writers are included Women, Social Science and Public Policy Jacqueline Goodnow, Carole Pateman, 2024-11-20 Originally published in 1985 Women Social Science and Public Policy looks at what difference the debate over the position of women had made to the way social scientists worked and thought or to law and social policies at the time Debate had been widespread during the 1960s and 1970s and this book takes stock It avoids the standard statistics on the position of women and concentrates instead on the challenges contained in this long debate to the way research topics and method are selected challenges in effect to the assumption of business as usual with the addition of a few details on women Sponsored by the Academy of Social Sciences in Australia this book is deliberately multi disciplinary Chapters are written by leading scholars in anthropology economics history law politics psychology sociology and government These authors share both a theoretical and practical knowledge of ideas and policies They share also a concern with analysing basic assumptions and to set Australian research and debate in an international context This thoughtful book will be of interest to all who wish to understand the theoretical and the policy issues underpinning much of the feminist debate and the way in which it affects their own thinking about issues of social science social policy and social structure

One Continuous Picnic Symons, Michael, 2016-10-17 2007 marks the twenty fifth anniversary of the first publication of One Continuous Picnic a frequently acclaimed Australian classic on the history of eating in Australia The text remains gratifyingly accurate and prescient and has helped to shape subsequent developments in food in Australia Until recently historians have tended to overlook eating and yet through meat pies and lamingtons Symons tells the history of Australia gastronomically He challenges myths such as that Australia is too young for a national cuisine and that immigration caused the restaurant boom Symons shows us that Australia is unique because its citizens have not developed a true contact with the land have not had a peasant society Australians have enjoyed plenty to eat but food had to be portable witness the weekly rations of mutton flour tea and sugar that made early settlers a mobile army clearing a whole continent and the tins of jam condensed milk camp pie and bottles of tomato sauce and beer that turned its citizens into early suburbanites By the time of screw top riesling takeaway chicken and frozen puff pastry Australians were hypnotised consumers on one continuous picnic But good food has never come from factory farms process lines supermarkets and fast food chains Only when we enjoy a diet of fresh local produce treated with proper respect when we learn from peasants might we at last have found a national cuisine and cultivated a continent

Sisters in Peace Kate Laing, 2023-11-03 Is preparing for war the best means of preserving peace In Sisters in Peace Kate Laing contends that this question has never been solely the concern of politicians and strategists She maps successive generations of twentieth century women who were eager to engage in political debate even though legislative and cultural barriers worked to exclude their voices In 1915 during the First World War the Women's International Congress at The Hague was convened after alarmed and bereaved women from both sides of the conflict insisted that their opinions on war and the pathway to peace be heard From this gathering emerged the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom WILPF which to this day campaigns against militarism and nuclear weapons In Australia the formation of a section of WILPF connected political women to a worldwide network that sustained their anti war activism throughout the last century In examining the rise of WILPF in Australia Sisters in Peace provides a gendered history of this country's engagement with the politics of internationalism This is a history of WILPF women who committed to peace activism even as Australia's national identity and military allegiances shifted over time a history that has until now been an overlooked part of the Australian peace movement

Fuss That Never Ended Deborah Gare, Geoffrey Bolton, Stuart Macintyre, Tom Stannage, 2013-04-18 It is time to reassess the work of Geoffrey Blainey and consider his role in Australian history politics and public life Geoffrey Blainey has steered Australian history into the nation's conversation No one would dispute that he is a courageous public intellectual a writer of rare grace and a master storyteller And he has indeed provoked a rare fuss both public and professional with some of his comments on Asian immigration and Aboriginal land rights Blainey has challenged the academic history profession not only with his ideas but also by his practice A brilliant student he looked set for Oxford but chose instead the austere west coast of Tasmania for his postgraduate research For the next decade he earned a living with his pen And instead of political history in the traditional academic mould he wrote corporate histories that dispensed with footnotes Always probing and speculative Blainey has dislodged many of the keystones in our understandings of Australia's past He was one of the first to write about the expansive social history of this land before 1788 he questioned whether Botany Bay was founded primarily as a convict colony he argued that the Eureka uprising had economic rather than political causes and he identified sport as a neglected key to the Australian character His controversial views earned such newspaper headlines as Brave Man Set Upon by Thugs for Telling Truth In The Fuss That Never Ended a lively and distinguished assembly of fellow historians of various ages interests and political stances take a fresh look at Blainey's remarkable and sometimes controversial career
