Myth and Meaning in Early Taoism N. J. Girardot, 1988 Myth and Meaning in Early Daoism examines some of the earliest texts associated with the Daoist tradition primarily the Daode jing Zhuangzi and Huainanzi from the outlook of the comparative history of religions and finds a kind of thematic and soteriological unity rooted in the mythological symbolism of hundun the primal chaos being and principle that is foundational for the philosophy and practice of the Dao as creatio continua in cosmic social and individual life Dedicated to the proposition that ancient Chinese texts and traditions are often best understood from a broad interdisciplinary and interpretive perspective this work when it was written challenged many prevailing conceptions of the Daode jing and Zhuangzi as primarily philosophical texts without any religious significance or affinity with the later sectarian traditions While controversial and at times playfully provocative the methodology and findings of this book are still important for the ongoing scholarship about Daoism in China and the world Hindu Mythology A.J. Adam and Eve in Scripture, Theology, and Literature Peter B. Ely, 2018-01-15 Adam and Eve in Scripture Theology and Literature Sin Compassion and Forgiveness is an extended consideration of the narrative of Adam and Eve first seen in the Hebrew Bible but given new life by St Paul in the New Testament Paul s treatment of Adam and Eve especially his designation of Christ as a second Adam has had an enormous influence in Christianity Peter Ely follows this rich narrative as it develops in history providing the basis of the doctrine of original sin in Christianity giving rise in modern times to theological speculation and entering thematically into mysticism and literature The power of the adamic narrative can only be realized if one treats it as a true but non historical myth The truth of the myth lies in its ability to stimulate thinking and so reveal the depths of human experience Augustine understood that so did Julian of Norwich and even the Belgian author of mystery stories Georges Simenon who had a deep sense of the universality of human weakness and the possibilities of redeeming what was lost Simenon s detective Maigret saw himself as a mender of destinies The doctrine of original sin the notion that human beings share a common vulnerability can open the way to compassion and forgiveness As Shakespeare illustrates in Measure for Measure the awareness of weakness in ourselves should move us to compassion for others The recognition of a kind of democracy of sin can keep us from considering ourselves better than others unlike them in their weakness and entitled to stand in judgment of them Thus compassion opens the door to forgiveness The progress from sin to compassion to forgiveness forms the heart of this work

Myths, Models and Paradigms Ian G. Barbour, 2013-03-19

Scientist and philosophers have more in common than might first appear especially when the language used in the two disciplines receives a closer scrutiny Ian G Barbour treats three scientific view points that can clarify the specific nature of religious language The first theme is the diverse function of language Science and religion each has its own task and its own applicable logic and language Religious symbols and their expression in myths imply a perspective and interpretation of human history and experience directing attention to particular patterns in events The second theme is the role of models in both scientific and religious language What the billiard ball model of a gas and the biblical model of personal God both achieve is an interpretation of experience a restructuring of how one sees the world The third area in which science and religion have a common stake is the role of paradigms Paradigms are standard examples of scientific investigation which embody a set of assumptions and becomes a research tradition until replaced by other assumptions Religions has its paradigms like the covenant of Sinai which have issued in traditions Dr Barbour concludes that scientific and religious language both offer knowledge of reality based on experience In determining the appropriate data and criteria for this experience the philosopher of religion can profit greatly from the work of the scientist
