Legislated Learning Arthur E. Wise,1982-09-15 New York City Public Schools from Brownsville to Bloomberg

Heather Lewis,2015-04-26 When New York City mayor Michael Bloomberg centralized control of the city's schools in 2002 he terminated the city's 32 year experiment with decentralized school control dubbed by the mayor and the media as the Bad Old Days Decentralization grew out of the community control movement of the 1960s which was itself a response to the bad old days of central control of a school system that was increasingly segregated and unequal In this probing historical account Heather Lewis draws on new archival sources and oral histories to argue that the community control movement did influence school improvement in particular African American and Puerto Rican communities in the 1970s and 80s Lewis shows how educators with unique insights into the relationships between the schools and the communities they served enabled meaningful change with a focus on instructional improvement and equity that would be familiar to many observers of contemporary education reform With a resurgence of local organizing and potential challenges to mayoral control this informative history will be important reading for today's educational and community leaders The Lure of the

Transcendent Dwayne Huebner,2012-12-06 In 1969 Bill Pinar was privileged to study with Dwayne Huebner at Teachers College In a large room with 70 others he watched an extraordinary figure in the distance speaking a tongue few of them grasped whom they all found compelling They knew they were in the presence of a most remarkable and learned man Huebner helped create the world which contemporary curriculum scholars now inhabit and labor to recreate as educators and theoreticians His generative influence has been evident in many discourses including the political the phenomenological the aesthetic and the theological This volume situates Huebner's work historically emphasizing the ways it foreshadowed the reconceptualization of the field in the 1970s Technology and the Politics of Instruction Jan Nesper,2012-09-10 In this study of computer mediated instruction CMI in a U S research university that is the site of nationally known innovations in this area Jan Nesper traces the varying material and organizational entanglements of a constantly reconfiguring network of people things categories and ideas that are sometimes loosely sometimes tightly entangled in forms of CMI He unfolds how the different forms and meanings of CMI policy and practice were constructed over time across departments and in relation to students academic trajectories Tying together a range of issues usually separated in discussions of instructional technology and examining often slighted topics such as the articulations of local and national practices this book questions the common vocabulary for making sense of CMI and contributes to educational change theory by showing how CMI has evolved both from the top down and the bottom up Technology and the Politics of Instruction is distinctive in its multi level approach and in the breadth of its conceptual frame Departing from the mainstream research on instructional technology to focus on mundane and widespread forms of CMI PowerPoint slides CD ROMs self paced labs and the like Nesper views these from multiple standpoints not just what they mean for professors but also for administrators and students The effect is to displace the typical emphasis in CMI research from cutting edge high resource artifacts and systems the importance of which is not questioned to the politics and organizational processes that shape the uses of such things This book is intended primarily for scholars and students in the fields of educational and more broadly organizational change the politics and sociology of education curriculum theory higher education and educational administration and will also interest instructional technologists and technology developers

The Classroom Arsenal Douglas D. Noble, 2017-09-29 A quarter of a century after its initial publication The Classroom Arsenal remains pivotal in understanding and challenging the relentless promotion of technology to reform education This seemingly benign education technology juggernaut carries forward the momentum of military agendas in man machine systems detailed in the book Promoters continue to flood schools with technology and its still unfulfilled promise of cutting edge personalized learning Meanwhile they continue as well their insatiable pursuit of federal funding educational legitimacy corporate profits and access to student subjects and their accumulated learning data for product development Less understood though is a companion enterprise there from the start to replace teaching and learning in traditional classrooms by efficient automated systems that manage and monitor human cognition and learning for high performance systems from weapons systems to high tech corporations As education is moved imperceptibly away from its traditional humanistic aims and from the classroom itself the goal of this human engineering project the depersonalized accumulation of cognitive components for a 21st century militarized economy best befits the book's original title The Human Arsenal This ongoing military corporate sponsored enterprise continues to impact education today largely unnoticed One example is the federally funded Advanced Distributed Learning Initiative ADL which has been a major force behind the implementation of electronic learning systems now used in all Defense Department and federal employee training With the Defense Advanced Research Project Agency ARPA ADL is developing structures to capture students soft skills and the Army Research Laboratory is developing intelligent tutoring systems to enable instructional management of affect engagement and grit perseverance ADL through the Department of Defense has developed Experience API a learning technology that can monitor all student online and offline interactions and archive these in data lockers or learning record stores ADL has already impacted thousands of school districts through nonprofits such as IMS Global and Future Ready Schools part of an industry massively subsidized by high tech corporations and valued at 255 billion annually A 90 million Advanced Research Projects Agency for Education ARPA ED modeled after the military's ARPA has been proposed to fund dramatic breakthroughs in learning and teaching These include digital tutors as effective as personal tutors and with the Navy's Full Spectrum Learning project data collection tools for personalized education modeled after corporate data analysis that identifies consumer patterns and preferences ADL is just one example of how the military corporate ed tech enterprise is changing public education by hollowing it out into something that can be digitized data driven automated and monitored Its promoters envision education as children interacting with online learning systems where based on past performance algorithms will serve up what each student needs to know next Through this digital curriculum students create virtual educational identities at very young ages and learning devices are watching students as much as students are watching them Such is the education landscape presaged by The Classroom Arsenal a quarter century ago whose origins and trajectories need to be deeply understood now more than ever
