Hybrid Modernity Mary Padua, 2020-07-26 This book provides a detailed historical and design analysis of the development of parks and modern landscape architecture in late 20th century China It questions whether the fusion of international influences with the local Chinese design vocabulary in late 20th century China has created a distinctive and novel approach to the design of public parks Hybrid Modernity proposes a new theory for examining the design of public parks built in post Mao China since the reforms and sets the various processes for China's late 20th century socio cultural context Drawing on modernization theory research on China's modernity local and global cultural trends it illustrates through a range of case studies ways hybrid modernity defines a new design genre and language for the spatial forms of parks that emerged in China's secondary cities Featured case studies include the Living Water Park in Chengdu Sichuan province Zhongshan Shipyard Park in Guangdong Province Jinji Lake Landscape Master Plan in Suzhou Jiangsu province and the West Lake Southern Scenic Area Master Plan in Hangzhou Zhejiang province This book argues that these forms represent a new stage in China's history of landscape architecture The work reveals that as a new profession landscape architecture has greatly contributed to China's massive urban experiment This book is an ideal read for students enrolled in landscape architecture architecture fine arts and urban planning programs who are engaged in learning the arts and international design education

Operative Landscapes Alissa North, 2013-02-01 There are infinite ways to build a community yet the defining feature of any community is characteristically the landscape Whether it is a park a river corridor community gardens a plaza or a streetscape the public spaces where people interact provide a shared sense of ownership and the qualities of these spaces influence how the communities evolve In a systematic overview following the workflow sequence of open space projects the book explores the various types and levels of intervention from masterplanning to guerilla gardening and from land reclamation to building in existing fabric Case studies mostly from North America Europe and Asia accompany the introductory essays The emphasis is on strategies of interaction between landscape projects building development and urban planning resulting in neighborhoods and city quarters that offer a higher quality of life Beyond trendy theories on landscape urbanism or landscape infrastructure this book offers an unideological view on the pragmatic potentials of landscape design for enhancing the built environment

Lessons for the Big Society: Planning, Regeneration and the Politics of Community Participation Denis Dillon, Bryan Fanning, 2016-05-13 This book provides concrete examples of the ways in which shifting academic debates policy and political approaches have impacted on a specific place over the past 30 years It offers a critical analysis of the history politics and social geography of the high profile London Borough of Haringey in the decades prior to the 2011 Tottenham riots The Haringey case study acts as a lens through which to explore the evolution of theoretical and policy debates about the relationship between local institutions and the communities they serve Focusing on the policy areas of planning and regeneration it considers the local implementation and outcome of central government strategies that have sought to achieve such accountability and responsiveness through community participation strategies It examines how the local authority responded to central government aspirations for greater community involvement in planning in the 1970s and regeneration from the late 1980s onwards before looking in detail at the implementation of New Labour neighbourhood renewal and local governance policy in the borough In doing so the book provides a longitudinal case study on how various central government community empowerment agendas have played out at a local level It offers important lessons and indicates how they might work more effectively in future

Whose Public Space? Ali Madanipour, 2010-01-21 Public spaces mirror the complexities of urban societies as historic social bonds have weakened and cities have become collections of individuals public open spaces have also changed from being embedded in the social fabric of the city to being a part of more impersonal and fragmented urban environments Can making public spaces help overcome this fragmentation where accessible spaces are created through inclusive processes This book offers some answers to this question through analysing the process of urban design and development in international case studies in which the changing character level of accessibility and the tensions of making public spaces are explored The book uses a coherent theoretical outlook to investigate a series of case studies crossing the cultural divides to examine the similarities and differences of public space in different urban contexts and its critical analysis of the process of development management and use of public space with all its tensions and conflicts While each case study investigates the specificities of a particular city the book outlines some general themes in global urban processes It shows how public spaces are a key theme in urban design and development everywhere how they are appreciated and used by the people of these cities but also being contested by and under pressure from different stakeholders
