Peacebuilding and Civil Society in Bosnia-Herzegovina Martina Fischer (historicus), 2006 The Dayton Accords ended the war in Bosnia Herzegovina in 1995 The 10th anniversary gives reason to investigate the post war period today s realities and future perspectives Bosnian authors and international experts express their views on recent developments Insiders and outsiders working in the conflict and on its transformation have been invited to tackle the questions Which conflict lines mark the present society Did peacebuilding activities address the underlying causes What are obstacles for conflict transformation What are the potentials and limits of international support What does civil society mean in Bosnia and how is it related to statebuilding and democratisation How can people constructively deal with the past in order to design the future in the region of former Yugoslavia The book gives an overview on an important research focus of the Berghof Research Center highlighting the work of its most important cooperation partners

Peace without Politics? Ten Years of State-Building in Bosnia David Chandler, 2013-09-13 Ten years on from the signing of the Dayton Peace Agreement in November 1995 the legacy of the Bosnian war still shapes every aspect of the political social and economic environment of the tiny state This state of affairs is highlighted by the fact that Bosnia is still under international control with the Office of the International High Representative regularly using its powers to dismiss elected presidents prime ministers and MPs and to impose legislation over the resistance of elected legislatures at national regional and local level What has changed in the ten years since Dayton Is international regulation helping to establish a sustainable peace in Bosnia What lessons can be learned for nation building in Bosnia This volume was previously published as a special issue of the leading journal International Peacekeeping

Strangers in Our Midst David Miller,2016-05-09 How should democracies respond to the millions who want to settle in their societies David Miller s analysis reframes immigration as a question of political philosophy Acknowledging the impact on host countries he defends the right of states to control their borders and decide the future size shape and cultural make up of their populations

Regulating Business for Peace Jolyon Ford,2015-02-05 The first book to study how peace operations have engaged with business to influence its peace building impact in fragile and conflict affected societies

War Economies and Post-war Crime Sabine Kurtenbach,Angelika Rettberg,2020-05-21 Even when armed conflicts formally end the transition to peace is not clear cut This comprehensive volume explores the mounting evidence which suggests that it is rather unlikely to see a clean break from violence to consent from theft to production from repression to democracy or from impunity to accountability The authors analyse the complex endeavour of transitioning out of war studying how it is often interrelated with other transformations such as changes in the political regime democratisation and in the economy opening of markets to globalisation They explore how in the same way as wars and conflicts reflect the societies they befall post war orders may replicate and perpetuate some of the drivers of war related violence such as high levels of instability institutional fragility corruption and inequality This book thus suggests that even in the absence of a formal relapse into war and the re mobilisation of former insurgents many transitional contexts are marked by the steady and ongoing reconfiguration of criminal and illegal groups and practices This book will be of great interest to students and researchers of political science and peace studies It was originally published as an online special issue of Third World Thematics

Post-conflict

Disarmament, Demobilization and Reintegration Antonio Giustozzi, 2016-04-08 This book revisits post Cold War Disarmament Disintegration and Reintegration DDR programmes in the light of previous experiences of disarmament demobilisation and reintegration In the history of North America and Europe in particular such programmes had a major impact on state building contributing to the development of the welfare state shaping political settlements and directing government policy to maintain social peace The authors in this important book ask what is left of these state building dimensions in contemporary DDR programmes and whether the constraints imposed by international organisations on DDR programmes have more negative effects than positive ones The role of political leadership in DDR processes is highlighted can bureaucratically driven processes deliver success Only if political elites take full control and manage DDR programmes can there be a lasting impact on state building Even then most political elites avoid deep changes in their relationship with the veterans Is there a chance of reshaping international intervention in such a way as to favour the development of a social contract between political elites and veterans In taking a historical perspective this book is unique in the existing literature on DDR and will be essential reading for policy makers students and scholars of conflict studies and those working in NGOs particularly donor agencies This volume was produced with the contribution of the Crisis States Research Centre LSE

Forgetting Children Born of War Charli Carpenter, 2010-05-31 Sexual violence and exploitation occur in many conflict zones and the children born of such acts face discrimination stigma and infanticide Yet the massive transnational network of organizations working to protect war affected children has for two decades remained curiously silent on the needs of this vulnerable population Focusing specifically on the case of Bosnia Herzegovina R Charli Carpenter questions the framing of atrocity by human rights organizations and the limitations these narratives impose on their response She finds that human rights groups set their agendas according to certain grievances the claims of female rape victims or the complaints of aggrieved minorities for example and that these concerns can overshadow the needs of others Incorporating her research into a host of other conflict zones Carpenter shows that the social construction of rights claims is contingent upon the social construction of wrongs According to Carpenter this pathology prevents the full protection of children born of war

Local Ownership of Peacebuilding in Afghanistan Chuck Thiessen, 2013-11-08 The international community has followed up its 2001 invasion of Afghanistan with a complex multi faceted peacebuilding project However informed observers believe that this Western led mission in Afghanistan has failed to address the inherent peacebuilding needs of Afghanistan and has hindered the formation of a locally experienced sustainable peace In response emerging peacebuilding theories and rhetoric have pointed to an urgent need for revised peacebuilding paradigms and strategies that hold local Afghan ownership of peacebuilding activities as a central concern This book responds to this need for revised peacebuilding paradigms and 1 introduces the topic of local ownership of peacebuilding in Afghanistan 2 surveys current shifts in peacebuilding theory and practice that are only starting to be realized on the ground 3 sets the context for a discussion of local ownership of peacebuilding 4 reports on the perceptions of foreign and Afghan peacebuilding leaders working in Afghanistan in regards to the journey towards local ownership of peacebuilding and 5 suggests the creation of a locally designed and led conflict transformation system that might help restructure local foreign relations and advance the journey towards Afghan ownership of peacebuilding
