Mierse, 2022-12-01 Artifacts from the Ancient Silk Road explores the interconnectivity of the Eurasian continent from 4000 BCE to 1000 CE It focuses on the role played by Central Asia through which passed the major trade routes the Silk Roads Artifacts from the Ancient Silk Road covers life along the Silk Road over 5000 years as it can be understood by considering objects In this first object based study to consider all of the peoples involved on the Silk Roads objects provide the vehicles for explorations of different aspects of life for the various peoples of the Silk Roads including the sedentary peoples who established urban life on the Silk Roads the steppe nomads who regularly interacted with the settled peoples and the peoples at either end of the Silk Roads who drove certain kinds of economic exchanges The book looks at Central Asia as an international zone during ancient times when multiple religious political and technological ideas found acceptance in the region and allows for a better understanding of how some ideas and forms developed in Central Asia while others passed through or were modified The Maikop Treasure Aleksandr Mikhailovich Leskov, 2008-08-27 Catalogue University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology Philadelphia Antikenabteilung Staatliche Museen Berlin Museum für Vor- und Frühgeschichte Berlin Metropolitan Museum of Art New York The Maikop collection a historical overview Cultural Interactions and Social Strategies on the Pontic Shores Jane Hjarl Petersen, 2010-07-16 In Antiquity the Black Sea region was a meeting point for several different population groups with diverse cultural backgrounds The present monograph takes its point of departure in burial data from four coastal localities in the northern region of the Black Sea The mortuary practices are decoded and interpreted within a framework mainly based on concepts of cultural interaction rather than cultural polarisation Thus the dogma of The Greeks and the Others is challenged and alternative perceptions of interactions between the people in the Black Sea region form the basis of the study The burials are primarily analysed with emphasis on social strategies and cultural diversity Furthermore the Black Sea region is set into a comparative perspective through an outlook on burial customs and mortuary practices in the colonial milieu of contemporary Southern Italy Attic Fine Pottery of the Archaic to Hellenistic Periods in Phanagoria Catherine A. Morgan, 2004-01-01 This publication of Attic fine pottery imported to the Greek colony of Phanagoria in the Taman Peninsula southern Russia explores the social function of imports in a colonial society and the changing nature of Black Sea trade The Scythian Connection and the Shamanistic Crowns of Ancient Korea Shirley Fish, 2021-08-22 The Three Kingdoms Period in Korean history consisted of the kingdoms of Silla

Koguryo and Paekche It was only the Silla kingdom which seemed to have had a connection to the ancient nomadic Scythians These people seemed so different from the indigenous inhabitants who were already living in Korea during the 3th to 6th centuries CE It is the author s opinion is that they were the descendants of the Scythians who although they would not have called themselves Scythians they were none the less the remnant members of nomadic tribes that pushed eastward from Central Asia and Siberia to the Korean peninsula Once in Southern Korea they established the Silla kingdom where their time honored beliefs are depicted in their mound burials wooden burial chambers gold crowns horse riding and also in their Siberian shamanism This time period of the gold crowns and the people who produced the royal headgear was the Maripgan Period and as mentioned they were the descendants of Scythians who although in Central Asia and Siberia were known to have existed as far back as 10 000 years BC they were always on the move searching for new pasturelands for their herds or to avoid conflicts and war with their enemies The Silla crowns were created around the 5th to the 7th centuries in Kyongju the former capital of the Silla people When they were discovered in various archaeological mound sites they were found to be in a highly fragile state The crowns were each designated as national treasures by the Korean government and most weigh about one kilogram Some of the crowns came in two parts an inner gold cap which may have been covered in silk fabric and sat inside of the crown and the crown itself The crowns were totally shamanistic in their symbolism and represented the belief systems of the Scythians of Central Asia and Siberia which eventually made its way to Korea and the ancient Kingdom of Silla

The Cambridge Ancient History John Boardman,I. E. S. Edwards,E. Sollberger,N. G. L. Hammond,1992-01-16 Volume III Part II carries on the history of the Near East from the close of Volume III Part I and covers roughly the same chronological period as Volume III Part III During this period the dominant powers in the East were Assyria and then Babylonia Each established an extensive empire which was based on Mesopotamia and each in turn fell largely through internal strife Assyrian might was reflected in the imposing palaces libraries and sculptures of the Assyrian kings Babylonian culture was outstanding in literature mathematics and astronomy and the great buildings of Nebuchadnezzar II surpassed even those of the Assyrian kings Israel and Judah suffered at the hands of both imperial powers Jerusalem being destroyed and part of the population deported to Babylon and Egypt was weakened by an Assyrian invasion The Phoenicians found a new outlet in colonising and founded Carthage A number of small vigorous kingdoms developed in Asia Minor while from the north and north east the Scythian nomadic tribes pressed down upon Turkey and the Danube valley but found their match in the Thracian tribes which held south eastern Europe and parts of western Turkey The burials of the chieftains of both peoples were remarkable for the great wealth of offerings

Achaemenid Impact in the Black Sea Jens Nieling, Ellen Rehm,2010-07-16 For 200 years from the second half of the sixth century to the decades before 330 BC the Persian dynasty of the Achaemenids ruled an enormous empire stretching from the Mediterranean Sea to Afghanistan and India The Great Kings Dareios I and Xerxes I even tried to conquer Greece and the northern Black Sea territories Although they failed parts of Thrace did become part of their dominion for a short period. The question always arises as to why the Great Kings were interested in the western and northern Pontic zones. In contrast to some of the other satrapies such as Egypt, Phoenicia, and Syria, the Black Sea had no prosperous cities or provinces to offer. One possible answer might be the desire to conquer every part of the known world. After 479 BC it seems that the Great Kings acknowledged the fact that the coast and the Caucasus formed the natural borders of their Empire. The satraps on the other hand could not avoid becoming involved in the affairs of the Black Sea region in order to safeguard the frontiers they had established. They had to incorporate the Greeks as accepted inhabitants of their province into the Persian administrative system. Possibly they achieved this by granting them the monopoly in sea trade and using the Anatolian Greeks as the main active bearers and transmitters of Persian customs and culture. More research into this chapter of Persian history is still required.
