End-of-Life Care in Cardiovascular Disease Sarah J. Goodlin, Michael W. Rich, 2014-10-08 End of life issues in cardiology are becoming increasingly important in the management of patients in the cardiac unit but there is frequently a lack of understanding regarding their impact on cardiology practice The cardiac unit is increasingly becoming the location whereby a number of key clinical decisions relating to end of life care are being made such as the decision to remove medications the appropriate removal of cardiac devices the management of do not resuscitate orders and the requirement for other cardiac procedures in light of the management of the terminally ill cardiac patients Those working in palliative care need input from the cardiovascular team as the cardiologist is frequently still managing these patients until they are moved to the hospice That this move into a hospice is often delayed until the very last moment there is considerable onus on the cardiovascular management of these patients to be much broader in scope and take account of some of the more palliative medical decisions needed in this group of patients This concise reference will detail the practical issues open to cardiovascular physicians and those medical professionals who manage patients reaching the end of their life from a cardiology perspective It will detail the full management options open to them to ensure that their practice is in line with the requirements of the patient nearing the end of their life whether the cause be cardiovascular in origin or who need appropriate management of secondary cardiovascular symptoms It will also include the various ethical cultural and geographical issues that need to be considered when managing these patients

Changes to Primary Care Trusts Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee, 2006-01-11 NHS Primary Care Trusts PCTs were created in 2002 to commission health services for their local populations and are currently responsible for controlling about 80 per cent of the 76 billion NHS annual budget In addition PCTs have responsibility for public health and many also provide community based health services such as district nursing and community hospitals The Committee's report examines the Government's proposals set out in the Department of Health paper Commissioning a Patient led NHS published in July 2005 which can be downloaded at <http://www.dh.gov.uk/assetRoot/04/11/67/17/04116717.pdf> to cut the number of PCTs and to contract out community health services by the end of 2008 The report raises a number of serious concerns about the proposals including in relation to failings in the consultation process the impact of PCT restructuring and divestment of provider services and the likelihood that the estimated financial savings of 250 million will be achieved
