Remaking The Concept Of Aptitude Extending The Legacy Of Richard E Snow:

Remaking the Concept of Aptitude Lyn Corno, Lee J. Cronbach, Hagga Kupermintz, David F. Lohman, Ellen B. Mandinach, Ann W. Porteus, Joan E. Talbert, 2001-09 Richard E Snow's final book unfinished at his death in 1997 has been organized completed by a panel of his colleagues The book identifies questions that research should address to combine aptitude theory with theory of social cognitive processes

Remaking the Concept of Aptitude Richard E. Snow, Lyn Corno, Lee Joseph Cronbach, 2002 A panel of experts and former associates completed this book after Richard E Snow's death in 1997 expanding his notes on implications of the theory for instructional design and teaching practice The panel developed Snow's ideas on where the field should go next emphasizing his promising research strategies Viewing intelligence as education's most important product and its most important raw material Snow stressed the need to consider both cognitive skills and affective motivational characteristics In this volume previously unconnected research and various theoretical ideas are integrated into a dynamic model of aptitude Understanding the transaction between person and situation was Snow's primary concern This work draws from diverse resources to construct a theoretical model of aptitude as a complex process of unfolding person situation dynamics

Advances in Computerized Scoring of Complex Item Formats Brian E. Clauser, 2014-07-16 This special issue was motivated by the move from research to operations for computerized delivery and scoring of complex constructed response items The four papers presented provide an overview of the state of the art for such applications The issue begins by describing the range of computer delivered formats and computerized scoring systems that are currently in use The remaining papers provide three views of validity in the context of computer delivered and scoring assessments It is hoped that together these articles will provide the reader with both an appreciation of the state of the art for computer automated scoring systems as well as a perspective on the issues that must be considered and the evidence that must be collected to produce automated scoring systems that allow for valid inference

Speaking and Instructed Foreign Language Acquisition Mirosław Pawlak, Ewa Waniek-Klimczak, Jan Majer, 2011 This book investigates various aspects of speaking in a foreign language It is unique in considering this key skill from both psycholinguistic and sociolinguistic perspectives and in focusing entirely on instructed foreign language contexts The book demonstrates how theory and research can be translated into classroom practice

Transactional Psychology of Education Wolff-Michael Roth, 2019-01-22 Toward the end of his life the Russian psychologist L S Vygotsky turned away from his earlier work that he has become famous for only to sow the seeds for a new theory In this theory affect was to play a central role there was to be a primacy of social relations and anything mental mind thought self other knowledge was an event rather than a thing This is essentially a transactional perspective In this book the author articulates a transactional psychology of education drawing on the works of G H Mead J Dewey G Bateson F Mikhailov and E Il'enkov All theoretical positions are developed out of videotaped exchanges thereby giving concrete character to every psychological concept articulated

Research Report ,2010      Handbook of Educational Psychology Lyn Corno, Eric M. Anderman, 2015-07-06 The third edition of the Handbook of Educational Psychology is sponsored by Division 15 of the American Psychological Association. In this volume, thirty chapters address new developments in theory and research methods while honoring the legacy of the field's past. A diverse group of recognized scholars within and outside the U.S. provide integrative reviews and critical syntheses of developments in the substantive areas of psychological inquiry in education: functional processes for learning, learner readiness and development, building knowledge and subject matter expertise, and the learning and task environment. New chapters in this edition cover topics such as learning sciences research, latent variable models, data analytics, neuropsychology, relations between emotion, motivation, and volition, EMOVO, scientific literacy, sociocultural perspectives on learning, dialogic instruction, and networked learning. Expanded treatment has been given to relevant individual differences, underlying processes, and new research on subject matter acquisition. The Handbook of Educational Psychology, Third Edition, provides an indispensable reference volume for scholars in education and the learning sciences, broadly conceived, as well as for teacher educators, practicing teachers, policy makers, and the academic libraries serving these audiences. It is also appropriate for graduate-level courses in educational psychology, human learning and motivation, the learning sciences, and psychological research methods in education and psychology.

Individual Differences and Instructed Language Learning
Peter Robinson, 2002. Second language learners differ in how successfully they adapt to and profit from instruction. This book aims to show that adaptation to L2 instruction and subsequent L2 learning is a result of the interaction between learner characteristics and learning contexts. Describing and explaining these interactions is fundamentally important to theories of instructed SLA and for effective L2 pedagogy. This collection is the first to explore this important issue in contemporary task-based immersion and communicative pedagogic settings. In the first section, leading experts in individual differences research describe recent advances in theories of intelligence, L2 aptitude, motivation, anxiety, and emotion, and the relationship of native language abilities to L2 learning. In the second section, these theoretical insights are applied to empirical studies of individual differences, treatment interactions in classroom learning, experimental studies of the effects of focus on form and incidental learning, and studies of naturalistic versus instructed SLA.

Contemporary Pioneers in Human Learning and Development Héfer Bembenutty, 2022-03-01 This volume traces the socialization process, professional development, career paths, and theory and research of contemporary pioneers in education and psychology. Beyond Knowledge Larisa V. Shavinina, Michel Ferrari, 2004-05-20 Some aspects of giftedness and creativity cannot be explained by cognitive developmental personality or social approaches considered in isolation At the intersection of these approaches is something invisible deeply hidden but at the same time very important the extracognitive facets of high ability This volume brings together chapters by leading specialists from around the world responsible for much of the current research in this field presenting a wide range of perspectives for understanding exceptional achievement High ability refers to human abilities described by terms such as giftedness talent creativity excellence genius child prodigies exceptional leadership and wisdom Extracognitive factors refer to phenomena like internally developed standards and subjective norms of intellectually creative behavior specific intellectual intentions and beliefs that influence exceptional achievements specific feelings that scientific geniuses and other highly creative individuals say contribute to their advanced development specific preferences and intellectual values luck chance intuition and other similar phenomena in extraordinary development and performance and social cultural and historical influences on talent development Although there are many books about the cognitive bases of high ability this volume uniquely discusses the foundations of such achievements in extracognitive factors as defined here thus providing a rich source of information on this topic to researchers practitioners and graduate students of education psychology business and administration who work in the area of high ability      Motivation, Emotion, and Cognition David Yun Dai,Robert J. Sternberg,2004-07-13 The central argument of this book is that cognition is not the whole story in understanding intellectual functioning and development To account for inter individual intra individual and developmental variability in actual intellectual performance it is necessary to treat cognition emotion and motivation as inextricably related Motivation Emotion and Cognition Integrative Perspectives on Intellectual Functioning and Development represents a new direction in theory and research on intellectual functioning and development portrays human intelligence as fundamentally constrained by biology and adaptive needs but modulated by social and cultural forces and encompasses and integrates a broad range of scientific findings and advances from cognitive and affective neurosciences to cultural psychology addressing fundamental issues of individual differences developmental variability and cross cultural differences with respect to intellectual functioning and development By presenting current knowledge regarding integrated understanding of intellectual functioning and development this volume promotes exchanges among researchers concerned with provoking new ideas for research and provides educators and other practitioners with a framework that will enrich understanding and guide practice      Encyclopedia of Human Development Neil J.
