catalyst to further work in communication history      A Short History of Writing Instruction James J. Murphy, 2012-05-04
Short enough to be synoptic yet long enough to be usefully detailed A Short History of Writing Instruction is the ideal text for undergraduate courses and graduate seminars in rhetoric and composition. It preserves the legacy of writing instruction from antiquity to contemporary times with a unique focus on the material educational and institutional context of the Western rhetorical tradition. Its longitudinal approach enables students to track the recurrence over time of not only specific teaching methods but also major issues such as social purpose writing as power, the effect of technologies, the rise of vernaculars, and writing as a force for democratization. The collection is rich in scholarship and critical perspectives which is made accessible through the robust list of pedagogical tools included such as the Key Concepts listed at the beginning of each chapter and the Glossary of Key Terms and Bibliography for Further Study provided at the end of the text. Further additions include increased attention to orthography or the physical aspects of the writing process, new material on high school instruction, sections on writing in the electronic age, and increased coverage of women rhetoricians and writing instruction of women. A new chapter on writing instruction in Late Medieval Europe was also added to augment coverage of the Middle Ages, fill the gap in students' knowledge of the period, and present instructional methods that can be easily reproduced in the modern classroom.

Sea Voyages and Beyond Vernon K. Robbins, 2018-09-14 Explore insights, methodologies, and advances in socio-rhetorical interpretation. Essays in this volume from Vernon K. Robbins merge social and rhetorical strategies of interpretation and set the stage for how socio-rhetorical interpretation has developed in the context of research into the rhetoric of religious antiquity. This book contains By Land and By Sea: The We Passages and Ancient Sea Voyages 1978, which initially received widespread praise and then became an object of significant criticism. The volume includes Robbins's varied detailed responses to both encouragement and critique of his approach. Features: Introduction to the collection by David B. Gowler. Twelve essays that programmatically study early Christian texts using resources from the social sciences. Reflections on the future of socio-rhetorical criticism.      Text Messages John Tucker, 2017-12-06 Facebook, Twitter, Snapchat. We live in a rapidly changing world, a world that seems to be increasingly inhospitable toward preaching. In the face of digital technology, social media, cultural pluralism, and pastoral burnout, how can Christian preachers proclaim the gospel faithfully and effectively? This book answers that question by bringing together a selection of important voices from across North America, Asia, and the Pacific. It argues that Spirit-empowered preaching is characterized by five attributes: it opens the Scriptures, engages the culture, addresses the listener, dissects the preacher, and elevates the Savior. With contributions from authors like William Willimon, Darrell Johnson, Lynne Baab, Robert Smith Jr., and Paul Windsor, this is an excellent resource for ordained ministers, lay preachers, theological students, and anyone wrestling with the challenge of preaching God's word in a smartphone world.      Paul de Man Martin McQuillan, 2001 Paul de Man's work is key to the American deconstruction movement and to the so-called political turn in critical theory. Seventeen years after his death, his works continue to arouse violent reactions among critics This book explains why de Man is such an important voice detailing his critical position exploring his intellectual and historical contexts tracing the influence of his work and enabling readers to undertake independent study of his criticism     The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature Rita Copeland, 2016-01-28 The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This first volume and fourth to appear in the series covers the years c 800 1558 and surveys the reception and transformation of classical literary culture in England from the Anglo Saxon period up to the Henrician era Chapters on the classics in the medieval curriculum the trivium and quadrivium medieval libraries and medieval mythography provide context for medieval reception The reception of specific classical authors and traditions is represented in chapters on Virgil Ovid Lucan Statius the matter of Troy Boethius moral philosophy historiography biblical epics English learning in the twelfth century and the role of antiquity in medieval alliterative poetry The medieval section includes coverage of Chaucer Gower and Lydgate while the part of the volume dedicated to the later period explores early English humanism humanist education and libraries in the Henrician era and includes chapters that focus on the classicism of Skelton Douglas Wyatt and Surrey     The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric Winifred Bryan Horner, 1990 In the years since its publication in 1983 The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has become a classic in its field proving to be an invaluable resource for students of rhetoric and composition as well as for scholars in English speech and philosophy This revised and updated edition defines the field of rhetoric as no other volume has Publishers website     Reframing Rhetorical History Kathleen J. Turner, Jason Edward Black, 2022-05-17 Collection of essays that reassesses history as rhetoric and rhetorical history as practice     Rhetoric and Medicine in Early Modern Europe Nancy S. Struever, 2016-04-08 Through close analysis of texts cultural and civic communities and intellectual history the papers in this collection for the first time propose a dynamic relationship between rhetoric and medicine as discourses and disciplines of cure in early modern Europe Although the range of theoretical approaches and methodologies represented here is diverse the essays collectively explore the theories and practices
