Remembering And Forgetting An Inquiry Into The Nature Of Memory:

Remembering and Forgetting Edmund Blair Bolles, 1988 Explains how human memory works describes the biological structure of the brain and discusses amnesia memory lapses and examples of emotional memory History and Memory in African-American Culture Genevieve Fabre Professor of American Literature University of Paris, Robert O'Meally Professor of English and African-American Studies Columbia University, 1994-10-29 As Nathan Huggins once stated altering American history to account fully for the nation's black voices would change the tone and meaning the frame and the substance of the entire story Rather than a sort of Pilgrim's Progress tale of bold ascent and triumph American history with the black parts told in full would be transmuted into an existential tragedy closer Huggins said to Sartre's No Exit than to the vision of life in Bunyan The relation between memory and history has received increasing attention both from historians and from literary critics In this volume a group of leading scholars has come together to examine the role of historical consciousness and imagination in African American culture The result is a complex picture of the dynamic ways in which African American historical identity constantly invents and transmits itself in literature art oral documents and performances Each of the scholars represented has chosen a different site of memory from a variety of historical and geographical points and from different ideological theoretical and artistic perspectives Yet the book is unified by a common concern with the construction of an emerging African American cultural memory The renowned group of contributors including Hazel Carby Werner Sollors Veve Clark Catherine Clinton and Nellie McKay among others consists of participants of the five year series of conferences at the DuBois Institute at Harvard University from which this collection originated Conducted under the leadership of Genevieve Fabre Melvin Dixon and the late Nathan Huggins the conferences and as a result this book represent something of a cultural moment themselves and scholars and students of American and African American literature and history will be richer as a result Navigating the Postmodern Condition Wade A. Tillet, 2024-11-21 Drawing on poststructuralist frameworks this book examines the way to a radical acceptance of daily discontinuities and difference as it allows us to embrace life in the postmodern world With each chapter exploring the human relationship with a disjunction in daily life such as sleeping forgetting and multitasking the author examines overlooked aspects of daily living as fresh data from which to analyze our condition A phenomenological study of postmodern life the book provides anecdotes of what it is like to live through these gaps and theorizes how we use these gaps Using an arts based methodology the author also allows the work to mirror the discontinuities which it describes interrupting the assumption of our lives as continuous and unitary in both form and content Addressing the vast jumble of contradictions that is our daily experience in this contemporary world it offers explanation through theory and anecdote and illustrates the path toward radical acceptance which allows us to see ourselves as beautifully composed of fractures gaps and overflow It will appeal to scholars researchers and postgraduate students with interests in poststructuralism curriculum theory and art based research methods History and Memory in African-American Culture Geneviève Fabre, Robert G. O'Meally, 1994 The relation between history and memory has become an object of increasing attention among historians and literary critics Through a team of leading scholars this volume offers a complex picture of the dynamic ways in which an African American historical identity constantly invents and transmits itself in books art performance and oral documents Experience and Memory Jörg Echternkamp, Stefan Martens, 2010-12-01 Modern military history inspired by social and cultural historical approaches increasingly puts the national histories of the Second World War to the test New questions and methods are focusing on aspects of war and violence that have long been neglected What shaped people's experiences and memories What differences and what similarities existed in Eastern and Western Europe How did the political framework influence the individual and the collective interpretations of the war Finally what are the benefits of Europeanizing the history of the Second World War Experts from Belgium Germany France Great Britain Italy Luxembourg Poland and Russia discuss these and other questions in this comprehensive volume

Howard,2000 Since the first edition of The Owner's Manual Dr Howard has appeared on Oprah conducted countless seminars and added new topics and 300 pages of new brain research to the book Greek Memories Luca Castagnoli,Paola Ceccarelli,2019-01-24 An original exploration of Ancient Greek conceptions of the relationship between memory time knowledge and identity across diverse genres Handbook of Research Methods in Human Memory Hajime Otani,Bennett L. Schwartz,2018-10-09 The Handbook of Research Methods in Human Memory presents a collection of chapters on methodology used by researchers in investigating human memory Understanding the basic cognitive function of human memory is critical in a wide variety of fields such as clinical psychology developmental psychology education neuroscience and gerontology and studying memory has become particularly urgent in recent years due to the prominence of a number of neurodegenerative diseases such as Alzheimer's However choosing the most appropriate method of research is a daunting task for most scholars This book explores the methods that are currently available in various areas of human memory research and serves as a reference manual to help guide readers own research Each chapter is written by prominent researchers and features cutting edge research on human memory and cognition with topics ranging from basic memory processes to cognitive neuroscience to further applications The focus here is not on the what but the how how research is best conducted on human memory Beyond the Archive Jens Brockmeier,2015 Our longstanding view of memory and remembering is in the midst of a profound transformation This transformation does not only affect our concept of memory or a particular idea of how we remember and forget it is a wider cultural process In order to understand it one must step back and consider what is meant when we say memory Brockmeier's far ranging studies offer such a perspective synthesizing understandings of remembering from the neurosciences humanities social studies and in key works of autobiographical literature and life writing His conclusions force us to radically rethink our very notion of memory as an archive of the past one that suggests the natural existence of a distinctive human capacity or a set of neuronal systems enabling us to encode store and recall past experiences Now propelled by new scientific insights and digital technologies a new picture is emerging It shows that there are many cultural forms of remembering and forgetting embedded in a broad spectrum of human activities and artifacts This picture is more complex than any notion of memory as storage of the past would allow Indeed it comes with a number of alternatives to the archival memory one of which Brockmeier describes as the narrative approach The narrative approach not only permits us to explore the storied weave of our most personal form of remembering that is the autobiographical it also sheds new light on the interrelations among memory self and culture
