Werner Blaser, Renzo Piano

Renzo Piano Centre Kanak Cultural Centre Of Kanak People:

Cultural center of the Kanak people Werner Blaser, Renzo Piano, 2001 The cultural centre in Noumea is unquestionably one of the Pritzker prize winner Renzo Piano's finest works From 1993-1998 Italian architect Renzo Piano built a new cultural centre in Noumea New Caledonia to commemorate the forthcoming independence of the Pacific Island Beginning with a round wooden building a traditional feature of Kanak culture Piano went on to develop and create a structure which blends the memory of Melanesian culture with modern techniques from the West in a visually stunning way Piano's wooden shell structures and state of the art technology is a dramatic contrast to the blossoming island landscape With his expressive duotone photographs Werner Blaser captures the essence of this extraordinary building from outside and from within

Renzo Piano Edgar Stach, 2021-03-08 The Pritzker laureate Renzo Piano is recognized worldwide as one of the most renowned architects of our time Central elements of his aesthetics include the playful use of natural light the transparency of his buildings and their fine detailing This publication documents nine museum buildings by Renzo Piano Building Workshop

Indigenous Cultural Centers and Museums Anoma Pieris, 2016-07-14 Here is a lavishly illustrated descriptive survey of 48 leading indigenous cultural centers around the world 35 are from Australia and 13 from North America Japan Europe and Asia The book shows how each is a potentially transformative politically compelling addition to the field of cultural production illustrating how the facilities all built in the last three decades have challenged assumptions about nature culture and built form Using the spatial temporal practice of place making as the starting point the facilities highlighted here are described in terms of collaborations between a number of stake holders and professional consultants The book adopts the format of a descriptive survey with separate chapters devoted to individual case studies A broad introductory chapter which presents the arguments and overview precedes richly illustrated short individual essays on selected projects Each chapter commences with the details of the project including location area cost and consultants followed by a project description and discussion of background design development and reception of the projects Each project is approached as an architectural commission detailing the critical criteria consultants and processes The format is adopted from architectural review essays typically used in awards or journal publications within the profession which are accessible and relevant for both academics and practitioners Considerable attention is given to the process and to the evaluation of the project as a cultural response Each case study has been written with consultation of architects or administrators of the facilities for accuracy Indigenous Cultural Centers and Museums An Illustrated International Survey documents a rich legacy of collaboration across the spatial disciplines combining creative art practice architecture construction landscape design and urban design in the production of unique and culturally significant social institutions This book provides material on hitherto unknown bodies of work of talented architectural practices working collaboratively with culturally different client groups and developing consultative processes that test models for inter cultural engagement

South Pacific Museums Chris Healy, Andrea

Witcomb,2006 South Pacific Museums Experiments in Culture is a collection of outstanding analyses of museums in the South Pacific written by cultural museum and architectural critics and historians A series of snapshots introduce the reader to key museums in the region and longer essays explore these museums in broad terms Over the last 50 years museums have been regarded by many scholars and cultural critics as archaic institutions far from the cutting edge of cultural innovation This judgement is being proved wrong across the globe with innovative museums staking out new territory Nowhere is this more striking than in the South Pacific where new and redeveloped institutions have included the Museum of New Zealand Te Papa Tongarewa the National Museum of Australia the Melbourne Museum the Australian Centre for the Moving Image the Museum of Sydney the Gab Titui Cultural Centre in the Torres Strait the Auckland Museum the Centre Culturel Tjibaou and the Vanuatu Cultural Centre South Pacific Museums make sense of these museums as part of the complex field of heritage where national economies meet global tourism cities brand themselves and indigeneity articulates with colonialism The effect is one of cultural experimentation Part One New Museums introduces three different museums in distinctive national contexts Te Papa the Centre Culturel Tjibaou and the National Museum of Australia Essays in this part grapple with the role of these museums in the nation at particular historical moments under specific political pressures Part Two New Knowledges documents practices and exhibitions at the point of tension between indigenous and non indigenous interests in the museum Part three New Experiences explores the ways in which museums in the South Pacific are producing that ineffable cultural phenomenon experience

Seven Wonders of Green Building Technology Karen Sirvaitis,2010-01-01 In every age science and technology have advanced human civilization From architecture to engineering medicine to transportation humans have invented extraordinary wonders People have been constructing buildings for thousands of years But in modern times people have become more interested in new kinds of building techniques They want to make buildings that are green or good for the environment Some green builders make houses out of recycled materials Others make buildings that use the sun and wind for heating and cooling In some places whole communities are based on green building technology In this book we ll explore seven wonders of green building technology We ll learn about Earthships which collect rain for drinking water and make heat and electricity from the sun s rays We ll visit Menara Mesiniaga a skyscraper in Malaysia that is cooled by fresh tropical breezes We ll explore BedZED a green community in the United Kingdom that has gardens on rooftops and we ll visit Samso an island in Denmark that makes its own electricity from wind turbines These and other buildings and communities are leading the way to a new greener future perspectives on art literature and cinema while proposing new directions for research in the region Francophone Oceania Today opens a much needed critical conversation between scholarly disciplines between French speaking and English speaking academics and between university researchers museum professionals and artistic voices Our book contains hitherto unpublished contributions by M ohi Nui French Polynesian writer Chantal T Spitz and by New Caledonian writer Nicolas Kurtovitch in English translations by Jean Anderson Our book aims to draw interdisciplinary bridges among literature cinema music and the visual arts and to account for the various cross fertilisations currently happening in the region Ultimately what emerges from our volume is a multifaceted reflexion on the contemporary existence of Francophone Oceania showcasing the diversity of views artforms critical perspectives and artistic voices that are gathered across its islands and the sea that surrounds them

The Green Braid Kim Tanzer, Rafael Longoria, 2007-04-11 This volume presents the discipline s best thinking on sustainability in written drawn and built form drawing on over fifteen years of peer reviewed essays and national design awards published by the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture ACSA Providing a primer on sustainability useful to teachers and students alike the selected essays address a broad range of issues Combined with design projects that highlight issues holistically they promote an understanding of the principles of sustainability and further the integration of sustainable methods into architectural projects Using essays that alternately revise and clarify twentieth century architectural thinking The Green Braid places sustainability at the centre of excellent architectural design No other volume addresses sustainability within the context of architectural history theory pedagogy and design making this book an ideal source for architects in framing their practices and therefore their architectural production in a sustainable manner

Museums and Source Communities Alison K. Brown, Laura Peers, 2005-06-28 This volume combines some of the most influential published research in this emerging field with newly commissioned essays on the issues problems and lessons involved in collaborating museums and source communities Focusing on museums in the UK North America and the Pacific the book highlights three areas which demonstrate the new developments most clearly the museum as field site or contact zone a place which source community members enter for purposes of consultation and collaboration visual repatriation the use of photography to return images of ancestors historical moments and material heritage to source communities exhibition case studies these are discussed to reveal the implications of cross cultural and collaborative research for museums and how such projects have challenged established attitudes and practices As the first overview of its kind this collection will be essential reading for museum staff working with source communities for community members involved with museum programmes and for students and academics in museum studies and social anthropology

Utopias and Architecture Nathaniel Coleman, 2007-05-07 Utopian thought though commonly characterized as projecting a future without a past depends on golden models for re invention of what is Through a detailed and innovative re assessment of the work of three architects who sought to represent a utopian content in their work and a consideration of the thoughts of a range of leading writers Coleman offers the reader a unique perspective of idealism in architectural design With unparalleled depth and focus of vision on the work of Le Corbusier Louis I Kahn and Aldo van Eyck this book persuasively challenges predominant assumptions in current architectural discourse forging a new approach to the invention of welcoming built environments and transcending the limitations of both the postmodern and hyper modern stance and orthodox modernist architecture

Architectural Science Review ,2002 The New Eco-Architecture: Alternatives from the Modern Movement

Colin Porteous,2013-10-11 The New Eco Architecture builds a historical bridge between architectural science and design It seeks to address neglected aspects of the Modern Movement as a prelude to supporting a diversity of architectural insight and experimentation aimed at twenty first century environmental needs and priorities The attitudes and influences of renowned figures are re examined in relation to current issues of architectural sustainability By setting today s green architectural quest within a twentieth century context and evaluating the main protagonists with regard to a modern eco sensitive lineage the book will be of primary interest to architectural students academics and practitioners However it should also intrigue historians theoreticians and critics who tend to gloss over such issues as well as other disciplines engaged with the built environment The Kanak Awakening David A. Chappell,2013-10-31 In 1853 France annexed the Melanesian islands of New Caledonia to establish a convict colony and strategic port of call Unlike other European settler dominated countries in the Pacific the territory s indigenous people remained more numerous than immigrants for over a century Despite military conquest land dispossession and epidemics its thirty language groups survived on tribal reserves and nurtured customary traditions and identities In addition colonial segregation into the racial category of canaques helped them to find new unity When neighboring anglophone colonies began to decolonize in the 1960s France retained tight control of New Caledonia for its nickel reserves reversing earlier policies that had granted greater autonomy for the islands Anticolonial protest movements culminated in the 1980s Kanak revolt after which two negotiated peace accords resulted in autonomy in a progressive form and officially recognized Kanak identity for the first time But the near parity of settlers and Kanak continues to make nation building a challenging task despite a 1998 agreement among Kanak and settlers to seek a common destiny This study examines the rise in New Caledonia of rival identity formations that became increasingly polarized in the 1970s and examines in particular the emergence of activist discourses in favor of Kanak cultural nationalism and land reform multiracial progressive sovereignty or a combination of both aspirations Most studies of modern New Caledonia focus on the violent 1980s uprising which left deep scars on local memories and identities Yet the genesis of that rebellion began with a handful of university students who painted graffiti on public buildings in 1969 and such activists discussed many of the same issues that face the country s leadership today After examining the historical cultural and intellectual background of that movement this work draws on new research in public and private archives and interviews with participants to trace the rise of a nationalist movement that ultimately restored self government and legalized indigenous aspirations for sovereignty in a local citizenship with its own symbols Kanak now govern two out of three provinces and have an important voice in the Congress of New Caledonia but they are a slight demographic minority Their quest for nationhood must achieve consensus with the immigrant communities much as the founders of the independence movement in the 1970s recommended Reclaiming Culture J. Hendry, 2005-10-20 This book focuses on the renewal or rekindling of cultural identity especially in populations previously considered extinct At the same time Hendry sets out to explain the importance of ensuring the survival of these cultures By drawing a fine and textured picture of these cultures Hendry illuminates extraordinary diversity that was at one point seriously endangered and explains why it should matter in today s world
