Revitalizing the City Fritz W. Wagner, 2005 This practical work demonstrates that controlling urban growth and reviving central city economies are not mutually exclusive endeavors. Rather than rehash theories of urban development the contributors describe and evaluate successful community tested approaches to sustaining our cities. Revitalizing the City provides actual case examples of urban success stories ranging from San Diego's smart growth initiative to brownfield redevelopment in Pittsburgh. The book is divided into four major sections: Urban Growth, Metropolitan Development and Administration, Central City Redevelopment Strategies, and Central City Suburban Cooperation. Each chapter includes an analysis of key issues, descriptions of specific local initiatives, highlights of effective policies or programs, and potential pitfalls to avoid. Revitalizing the City has broad appeal for the urban policy community as well as for undergraduate and graduate courses in urban sociology, geography, political science, and urban studies and planning.

Revitalizing Cities Herrington J. Bryce, 1979 Revitalizing Urban Neighborhoods William Dennis Keating, Norman Krumholz, Philip Star, 1996 Since the 1950s and the advance of urban renewal, local governments and urban policy have focused heavily on the central business district. However, such development has all but ignored the inner city neighborhoods that continue to struggle in the shadows of high rise America. This analysis of urban neighborhoods in the United States from 1960 to 1995 presents fifteen essays by scholars of urban planning and development. Together they show how urban neighborhoods can and must be preserved as economic, cultural, and political centers.

Learning from Bryant Park Andrew M. Manshel, 2020-04-17 Andrew M. Manshel helped transform New York's Bryant Park from a blighted eyesore to a vibrant destination, then applied its strategies to an equally successful renewal project in a very different neighborhood, Jamaica Queens. Here he candidly describes what does and doesn't work when coordinating urban redevelopment projects.

Revitalizing City Districts Hebatalla Abouelfadl, Dalila ElKerdany, Christoph Wessling, 2017-01-16 This book explores the consequences of change in the urban form, the amalgam of the urban space and buildings, and on the processes leading to planning and design. Urban form and its fabric result from a multitude of individual interests, ideas, and decisions which in turn result in specific and locally diverse spatial arrangements. These processes, which are shaping our built environment, are embedded in and determined by different contexts of political, cultural, and social economic norms and values. Urban development and the transformation of urban structures are triggered by technological innovations, laws, and taxes, new behaviors, or the impact of environmental conditions, as well as other factors. Based on case studies from Egypt and the Middle East, together with some cases from Germany and Turkey, this book covers a wide range of change processes focused on historic and inner city districts.
