

A woman with long, flowing hair is captured in a dynamic pose, dancing on a wet beach. She is wearing a long, dark, flowing dress that billows out around her. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow and long shadows. The sky is filled with soft, wispy clouds. The water reflects the light from the sun, creating a shimmering effect. The overall mood is romantic and evocative.

In the Name of Love Heather Fraser, 2008-10-07 Although love is the hallmark of humanity it is not widely discussed in social work and other related professions with respect to its potential connection to abuse In this groundbreaking book the author argues that while love and abuse should not co exist they often do Using a feminist narrative approach stories about love abuse and social work are told with the purpose of understanding domestic violence and other forms of abuse Based on interviews with 84 women of varying ages in Canada and Australia the author shows how the pain and shame of intimate abuse can leave its mark on the bodies minds and souls of victims survivors long after abusive episodes have ended Additionally Fraser also discusses the importance of hope enlightened witnesses income support and educational opportunities for women who refuse to renounce love relationships altogether but are instead trying to foster relationships that are respectful as well as erotic Index to Short Stories, 1929 Joyce's Love Stories Christopher DeVault, 2016-12-05 In his comprehensive study of love in James Joyce's writings Christopher DeVault suggests that a love ethic persists throughout Joyce's works DeVault uses Martin Buber's distinction between the true love for others and the narcissistic desire for oneself to frame his discussion showing that Joyce frequently ties his characters' personal and political pursuits to their ability to affirm both their loved ones and their fellow Dubliners In his short stories and novels DeVault argues Joyce shows how personal love makes possible a broader social compassion that creates a more progressive body politic While his early protagonists' narcissism limits them to detached engagements with Dublin that impede effective political action Joyce demonstrates the viability of his love ethic through both the Blooms' empathy in Ulysses and the polylogic dreamtext of Finnegan's Wake In its revelation of Joyce's amorous alternative to the social and political paralysis he famously attributed to twentieth-century Dublin Joyce's Love Stories allows for a better appreciation of the ethical and political significance underpinning the author's assessments of Ireland Twin Towers - Terror and Love Stories Yommi Eini, 2005-08 The Old Man Who Read Love Stories Luis Sepúlveda, 1994 In a remote Ecuadorean river town an elderly widower who finds comfort in reading romance novels brought to him by the visiting dentist joins in the hunt for an enraged ocelot whose cubs were killed by a gold prospector Encyclopedia of Women & Islamic Cultures Suad Joseph, Afsāna Naǧmābādī, 2003 Family Body Sexuality and Health is Volume III of the Encyclopedia of Women Islamic Cultures In almost 200 well-written entries it covers the broad field of family body sexuality and health and Islamic cultures

Women and Relationships in Contemporary Irish Women's Short Stories □□, 2021-07-01 This book examines archetypal motifs related to aspects of human relationships in contemporary Irish women's short stories from the late 1960s to the present These relationships examined embrace not only relationships between men and women as married couples and lovers but also women to women relationships as mothers daughters sisters or lovers This book has uncovered certain recurrent motifs which may be construed as archetypal and are employed as a narrative device to express a certain level of feminist awareness by Irish female writers in their stories against the backdrop of Irish feminism emerged in the late 1960s This feminist aspect of Irish women's stories appears to address the paradoxes of patriarchal ideology underlying male domination in male female courtship and marriages the conflict between patriarchally loyal mothers and rebellious daughters powerless but rival female siblings and peers competing for limited resources and male attention under the Father's law Motifs of resistance and subversion serve in these stories as metaphors unveiling female protests against an ideology which defines and confines women in the Irish patriarchal context This book demonstrates a process of transition during which Irish female writers progress from the depiction of women who struggle and fight against unfairness and distortion within an androcentric culture to a new direction in which such writers describe a situation where women recognise the internalisation of the false consciousness of patriarchy and out of this recognition may be eventually able to develop further their sense of self and individuality The archetypal motifs in Irish women's stories also illustrate a kind of continuity of an ancient female archetype of female rebellious powers which in female literary imagination never ceases to resurface in the face of patriarchal suppression

Women and the Periodical Press in China's Long Twentieth Century Michel Hockx, Joan Judge, Barbara Mittler, 2018-05-24 In this major new collection an international team of scholars examine the relationship between the Chinese women's periodical press and global modernity in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries The essays in this richly illustrated volume probe the ramifications for women of two monumental developments in this period the intensification of China's encounters with foreign powers and a media transformation comparable in its impact to the current internet age The book offers a distinctive methodology for studying the periodical press which is supported by the development of a bilingual database of early Chinese periodicals Throughout the study essays on China are punctuated by transdisciplinary reflections from scholars working on periodicals outside of the Chinese context encouraging readers to rethink common stereotypes about lived womanhood in modern China and to reconsider the nature of Chinese modernity in a global context

Women in Love D. H. Lawrence, 1987-05-21 Seen by Lawrence as his most accomplished book but subject to the initial prudery and incomprehension that met most of his fiction Women in Love examines the regenerative and destructive aspects of human passion as illustrated by its depiction of Ursula and Gudrun Brangwen who first appeared in The Rainbow and their relationships with Gerald Crich and Rupert Birkin Set against the backdrop of a world consuming itself in war the novel creates an instructive vision of humanity's dance with life and death This text is the famous first Women in Love the unexpurgated version preferred by Lawrence himself which was rejected by every publisher because of the banning of The Rainbow in 1915 More positive in tone than the revised version published in his lifetime with different central relationships and a radically different ending it is now viewed by many as Lawrence's masterpiece
