Political Economies of the Middle East and North Africa Robert Springborg, 2020-03-16 Despite its oil wealth the Middle East and North Africa is economically stagnating Growth rates are comparatively unfavorable and insufficient to substantially improve citizens lives Whether this economic inertia can be overcome or will continue into the indefinite future is a vital question that confronts both the region and the world In this book leading Middle East scholar Robert Springborg discusses the economic future of this region by examining the national and regional political causes of its contemporary underperformance Overgrown weak MENA states he explains have been unable to escape their unfavorable historical legacies Limited access orders and the deep states based in the means of coercion that underpin them undermine state capacities and constrain beneficial autonomous political and economic activity Increasingly challenged by their populations MENA states face the daunting and so far unmet challenge of diversifying non sustainable rentier political economies away from direct or indirect dependence on oil and gas revenues Stagnation of those revenues and failure to generate alternative income sources combined with rapid population growth presents the region with an economic challenge that can only be overcome by profound political change Trading Together Rabah Arezki, Blanca Moreno-Dodson, Rachel Yuting Fan, Romeo Gansey, Ha Nguyen, Minh Cong Nguyen, Lili Mottaghi, Constantin Tsakas, Christina Wood, Nelly El-Mallakh, 2020-10-06 Part I of this report discusses the short and medium term growth prospects for countries in the Middle East and North Africa MENA The region is expected to grow at a subdued rate of 0.6 percent in 2019 rising to 2.6 percent in 2020 and 2.9 percent in 2021 The growth forecast for 2019 is revised down by 0.8 percentage points from the April 2019 projection MENA s economic outlook is subject to substantial downside risks most notably intensified global economic headwinds and rising geopolitical tensions Part II argues that promoting fair competition is key for MENA countries to complete the transition from an administered to a market economy Part II first examines current competition policies in MENA countries and to promote fair competition calls for strengthening competition law and enforcement agencies It also calls for corporatizing state owned enterprises promoting the private sector and creating a level playing field between them Any moves to reform MENA economies would be aided by professional management of public assets which could tap into a new source of national wealth Diaspora of the Middle East and North Africa Ahmed Bin Shabib, Rashid Bin Shabib, 2019 Through a series of essays photographs and archival content this book highlights the diverse young and old diaspora communities of the Middle East and North Africa MENA around the world Drawing on topics from the ten year archive of Brownbook magazine a publication dedicated to covering stories on the contemporary culture of the wider MENA region and its diaspora including people architecture and more than fifty cities the book is driven by the magazine s expansive research and content And in light of the recent refugee crisis it is an urgent testament that migration from the region isn t something new Diaspora of the Middle East and North Africa is a gateway to the communities who have planted roots in adoptive cities where they now seamlessly blend from the nine million strong Arab community in Brazil that arrived from modern day Lebanon and Syria in the late 1880s to the Singaporean descendants of Yemen who have helped shape the city state s urban fabric through trade and development for nearly two centuries The book also covers the small but significant diaspora communities who have formed enclaves across the world such as the Kurdish residents with barber shops and food joints in Nashville and the Assyrians in Sodertalje Sweden who place equal importance on integration and preserving their history through local institutions and social clubs SELLING POINTS This book draws on topics from the archive of this magazine a publication dedicated to covering stories on the contemporary culture of more than 50 cities in the wider Middle East and North Africa region This book is extremely current especially in light on the recent refugee crisis Using essays interviews architectural profiles Q and As photo essays and travel stories this book highlights the culture of these Diaspora communities around the world State-Building in the Middle East and North Africa

Mohammad-Mahmoud Ould Mohamedou, 2021-10-21 Why have state building projects across the MENA region proven to be so difficult for so long Following the end of the Ottoman Empire in the early 1920s the countries of the region began a violent and divisive process of state formation But a century later state building remains inconclusive This book traces the emergence and evolution of state building across the MENA region and identifies the main factors that impeded its success the slow end of the Ottoman Empire the experience of colonialism and the rise of nationalistic and religious movements The authors reveal the ways in which the post colonial state proved itself authoritarian and formed on the model of the colonial state They also identify the nationalist and Islamist movements that competed for political leadership across the nascent systems enabling the military to establish a grip on the security apparatus and national economies Finally in the context of the Arab Spring and its conflict filled aftermath this book shows how external powers reasserted their interventionism In outlining the reasons why regional states remained hollow and devoid of legitimacy each of the contributors shows that recent conflicts and crises are deeply connected to the foundational period of one century ago Edited by Mohammad Mahmoud Ould Mohamedou the volume features contributions by stellar scholars including Faleh Abdel Jabar Lisa Anderson Bertrand Badie Francois Burgat Benoit Challand Ahmad Khalidi Henry Laurens Bruce Rutherford Jordi Tejel and Ghassan

Salam The Jews of the Middle East and North Africa in Modern Times Reeva S. Simon, Michael M. Laskier, Sara Reguer, 2003 Filling an important gap in the literature this volume documents the variety and diversity of Jewish life in the Middle East and North Africa over the last two hundred years It explains the changes that affected the communities under Islamic rule during its golden age and describes the processes of modernization that enabled the Jews of the Middle East and North Africa to play a pivotal role in their respective countries in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Challenges of Growth and Globalization in the Middle East and North Africa Mr. George T. Abed, Hamid Reza Davoodi, 2003-09-05 The purpose of this pamphlet is to take stock of the region's relatively weak performance as measured by rate of growth links to the global economy and employment generation explore the reasons for this outcome and propose an agenda for urgent reforms In this pamphlet we take a closer look at economic performance in the region particularly with respect to growth unemployment and global integration followed by an exploration of possible reasons for the weak performance In conclusion we outline the reforms needed to improve the region's economic performance The Middle East and North Africa Economist Intelligence Unit (Great Britain), 1960 United States Foreign Policy and the Middle East/North Africa Sanford R. Silverburg, Bernard Reich, 2015-07-16 This bibliography first published in 1990 is a result of a quarter century professional and personal relationship between two academics interested in Middle East studies The comprehensive bibliography consists of western primarily English language sources published through 1988 and early 1989 concerning foreign policy toward the Middle East and North Africa during the twentieth century Included are materials that deal directly with the topic material that has appeared in published form ie books monographs essays and articles Also included are some non published items most importantly American and British doctoral dissertations and master's theses Russia in the Middle East and North Africa Chiara Lovotti, Eleonora Ambrosetti, Christopher Hartwell, Aleksandra Chmielewska, 2020-04-14 After decades of intense interest and rivalry with the USA the end of the Cold War and the dismantling of the USSR officially marked a period of significant retreat of Russia from the Middle East and North Africa MENA However with Russia's economic recovery and the entrenchment of President Vladimir Putin Russia's interest in the region has risen anew Once again seen as a battleground to contest US hegemony Russia has expanded its political military and to a lesser extent economic relationships across the region Most apparent in the military intervention in Syria Russia has also been engaged with traditional rivals Iran Saudi Arabia and Turkey stepping into the vacuum left by the US Obama Administration Is Russia's reengagement part of a strategy or is it mere opportunism Authors with different backgrounds experiences and origins examine this question via an analysis of the historical drivers of Russian interest in the MENA region and the factors underlying current Russian policies
