Forest, Field, and Fallow Antoinette M.G.A. WinklerPrins,Kent Mathewson,2021-01-12 This volume aims to present the essential work of geographer and historical ecologist William M Denevan to explain the impact and influence his thinking had on the conceptual advancement not only in his own discipline but in a range of related disciplines such as anthropology archaeology and environmental history The book is organized around eight themes demonstrating Denevan s early and profound insights on topics that remain of current relevance today and the scholarly impact his writing had on subsequent scholarship The book is unique because it offers commentary from active scholars who address the impacts of Prof Denevan s thinking and work on contemporary environmental and ecological issues with a focus on several groundbreaking themes e g historical demography agricultural landforms cultural plant geography human environmental impacts indigenous agro ecology tropical agriculture livestock and landscape and synthetic contributions This book will be of interest to a range of scholars in geography anthropology archaeology history and ecology as well as to environmental managers and practitioners especially those working for non profit organizations and government organizations tasked with finding ways to adapt to global environmental change

La Selva Lucinda A. McDade,1994-03-18 Abiotic environment and ecosystem processes The plant community Composition dynamics and life history processes The animal community Plant animal interactions La selva s human environment Panama, Post Report United States. Department of State,1991 Indigenous Knowledges and the Sustainable Development Agenda Anders Breidlid,Roy Krøvel,2020-04-17 This book discusses the vital importance of including indigenous knowledges in the sustainable development agenda In the wake of colonialism and imperialism dialogue between indigenous knowledges and Western epistemology has broken down time and again. However, in recent decades the broader indigenous struggle for rights and recognition has led to a better understanding of indigenous knowledges and in 2015 the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) outlined the importance of indigenous engagement in contributing to the implementation of the agenda. Drawing on experiences and field work from Africa, Asia, Latin America and Europe, Indigenous Knowledges and the Sustainable Development Agenda brings together authors who explore social, educational, institutional and ecological sustainability in relation to indigenous knowledges. In doing so, this book provides a comprehensive understanding of the concept of sustainability at both national and international levels from a range of diverse perspectives. As the decolonizing debate gathers pace within mainstream academic discourse, this book offers an important contribution to scholars across development studies, environmental studies, education and political ecology. Cultivated Landscapes of Native Amazonia and the Andes

William M. Denevan, 2002. Cultivated Landscapes of Native Amazonia and the Andes examines Indian agriculture in South America. The focus is on field types and field technologies including agricultural landforms such as terraces, canals and drained fields which have persisted for hundreds of years. What emerges is a picture of mostly successful indigenous farming practices in difficult environments: rain forests, savannahs, swamps, rugged mountains and deserts. Phytolith Analysis

Dolores R. Piperno, 2014-06-28. This is a methodological guide to the use of plant opal phytolith analysis in paleoenvironmental and paleoecological reconstruction. It is the first book-length treatment of this promising technique which has undergone rapid development within the past few years and is now beginning to be used with considerable success by paleobotanists who serve the archaeological and paleontological research communities. It will be mandatory reading for all paleobotanists, paleoecologists and archaeological scientists. Archaeology in the Lowland American Tropics

Peter W. Stahl, 1995-05-25. This volume explores problems faced by archaeologists in the difficult conditions of the lowland American tropics. Hispanic Lands and Peoples William M. Denevan, 2019-04-10. This anthology focuses on James J. Parsons' work in Latin America and in Spain, with the resulting neglect of his publications on other regions, particularly California. It includes the integration of economy and ecology. Imperfect Balance David L. Lentz, 2000-09-26. We often envision the New World before the arrival of the Europeans as a land of pristine natural beauty and undisturbed environments. However, David Lentz offers an alternative view by detailing the impact of native cultures on these ecosystems prior to their contact with Europeans. Drawing on a wide range of experts from the fields of paleoclimatology, historical ecology, paleontology, botany, geology, conservation science and resource management, this book unlocks the secret of how the Western Hemisphere's indigenous inhabitants influenced and transformed their natural environment. A rare combination of collaborators uncovers the changes that took place in North America, Mexico, Central America, the Andes and Amazonia. Each section of the book has been comprehensively arranged so that a botanical description of the natural vegetation of the region is coupled with a set of case studies outlining local human influences From modifications of vegetation to changes in soil wildlife microclimate hydrology and the land surface itself this collection addresses one of the great issues of our time the human modification of the earth Agroforestry: Realities, Possibilities and Potentials H.L.
