Conservation of Ancient Sites on the Silk Road Neville Agnew, 2010-08-03 Neville Agnew senior principal project specialist at the GCI is the author of numerous publications in research chemistry and conservation including with two coauthors the book Cave Temples of Mogao Art and History on the Silk Road Book Jacket Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2008 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies, 2007 Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2008, Part 7, April 18, 2007, 110-1 Hearings, 2007 At Home in the World Kathleen A. Cairns, 2021-05 From the beginning of California's statehood adventurers scientists and writers reveled in its majestic landscape Some were women though few garnered attention or invitations to join the Sierra Club the organization created in 1892 to preserve wilderness Over the next sixty years the Sierra Club and other groups gained prestige and members including an increasing number of women But these organizations were not equipped to confront the massive growth of industry that overtook postwar California This era needed a new approach and it came from an unlikely source white middle class housewives with no experience in politics These women successfully battled smog nuclear power plants piles of garbage in the San Francisco Bay and over building in the Santa Monica Mountains In At Home in the World Cairns shows how women were at the center of a broader and more inclusive environmental movement that looked beyond wilderness to focus on people's daily life These women challenged the approach long promoted by establishment groups and laid the foundation for the modern environmental movement The Great Mosque of Damascus Finbarr Flood, 2021-07-26 The celebrated Great Mosque of Damascus was built in the early eighth century by the Umayyad caliph al Walid b Abd al Malik This book provides a detailed study of this Mosque Using textual visual and archaeological evidence the author attempts to reconstruct some of the basic formal and decorative features of the Umayyad mosque to locate it within its broader urban context and to consider its role within al Walid's unprecedented programme of architectural patronage The work explores the intracultural and intercultural functions of religious architecture within an official visual discourse intended to project a distinctive Muslim identity in a manner determined by Umayyad political aspirations It will be of particular interest to those concerned with the relationship between the Umayyad caliphate and Byzantium Fables Of Abundance Jackson Lears, 1995-11-03 Fables of Abundance ranges from the traveling peddlers of early modern Europe to the twentieth century American corporation exploring the ways that advertising collaborated with other cultural institutions to produce the dominant aspirations and anxieties in the modern United States Reclaiming a Plundered Past Magnus T. Bernhardsson, 2005 The looting of the Iraqi National Museum in April of 2003 provoked a world outcry at the loss of artifacts regarded as part of humanity's shared cultural patrimony But though the losses were unprecedented in scale the museum looting was hardly the first time that Iraqi heirlooms had been plundered or put to political uses From the beginning of archaeology as a modern science in the nineteenth century Europeans excavated and appropriated Iraqi antiquities as relics of the birth of Western civilization Since Iraq was created in 1921 the modern state has used archaeology to forge a connection to the ancient civilizations of Mesopotamia and or Islamic empires and so build a sense of nationhood among Iraqis of differing religious traditions and ethnicities This book delves into the ways that archaeology and politics intertwined in Iraq during the British Mandate and the first years of nationhood before World War II Magnus Bernhardsson begins with the work of British archaeologists who conducted extensive excavations in Iraq and sent their finds to the museums of Europe He then traces how Iraqis growing sense of nationhood led them to confront the British over antiquities law and the division of archaeological finds between Iraq and foreign excavators He shows how Iraq s control over its archaeological patrimony was directly tied to the balance of political power and how it increased as power shifted to the Iraqi government Finally he examines how Iraqi leaders including Saddam Hussein have used archaeology and history to legitimize the state and its political actions
