Introduction

During this lesson students will go through the process of developing ideas and collecting and organising information. They will then use the information to create the first draft of an imaginary news article. They will then focus on some key areas of good writing and try to redraft their articles with these in mind.

A variety of follow up tasks are offered after the main plan

Reporting And Writing The News:

Dynamics of News Reporting and Writing Vincent F. Filak, 2018-01-02 Journalists in today's media environment require a skill set that can be adapted to a variety of media. Dynamics of News Reporting and Writing: Foundational Skills for a Digital Age teaches students the foundational skills they need to successfully report and write the news in an evolving digital landscape. Author Vince F. Filak offers guidance on the essential skills of the industry while weaving in the how-to's of writing digital news. Recognizing that well-crafted stories are founded on sharp prose, this new text covers the foundational elements of newswriting such as lead writing, structure, and storytelling, while also teaching students how to think critically and determine what matters most to their readers. Key Features: An audience-centric approach encourages students to understand why and how news is relevant to the lives of their readers before they even start digging into their stories. Write Now Exercises provide students with an opportunity to immediately practice the core set of skills they have just learned and apply these skills to various platforms. Consider This debates spark classroom discussions by encouraging students to take a closer look at a current issue or ideological dilemma and make a valid case for their position. Thoughts from a Pro offer students an up-close look at a specific aspect of reporting and writing from a professional who is plying their trade each day.

The Process of Writing News Brian Richardson, 2007 Using examples and exercises, The Process of Writing News takes an impact elements and words approach to demystify reporting and writing for beginners. This is a concise book that approaches writing as a process using a pedagogy that has proven effective. In each chapter, the book addresses the roles of journalists at several levels of abstraction, beginning with their responsibilities to audiences in a democratic society and continuing with ethical decision making in fulfilling those responsibilities. Each chapter ends with reporting and writing exercises which allow the reader to develop skills for informing audiences and telling compelling stories in print, broadcast, and online news media, and to practice and be evaluated on those skills. The reader is taken through a year in the life of a fictional community, revisiting issues and stories in a series of more than two dozen linked exercises of increasing complexity, from lede writing to handling a major breaking story on deadline. There are even opportunities to report and write from the reader's own community.

Broadcast News Writing, Reporting, and Producing Frank Barnas, Ted White, 2013-10-08. Jargon buster, convergent journalism. Media convergence is the most significant development in the news industry in the last century. The ability to interchange text, audio, and visual communication over the Internet has fundamentally transformed the way news organizations operate. Convergence has enabled media companies to gather, disseminate, and share information over a variety of platforms. Throughout the history of journalism, it has been common for journalists to study one medium, such as traditional print or broadcast, and to anticipate a career working only in their chosen field. However, the 21st-century journalist has fluidity to write and deliver news content in a variety of formats. Source: <http://www.convergencejournalism.com>.

Broadcast News Writing, Reporting, and Producing presents a solid foundation for any student learning how to become a broadcast journalist in today's world of convergent journalism. It is more important than ever that broadcast textbooks cover the most current trends in media. Convergent journalism, the coverage of news across multiple delivery platforms such as the Internet, television, podcasts, iPods, blogs, etc., is here to stay. Broadcast journalism continues to morph as newer and more advanced content platforms are hatched and developed, and broadcast journalists must understand how to write, report, and produce for multiple platforms simultaneously. Just one crucial fact remains: students will need training on how to perform successfully in a world in which current events aren't just shown on the ten o'clock evening news. Broadcast News Writing, Reporting, and Producing will be completely overhauled to reflect the trends of convergent journalism on every page. New co-author Frank Barnas brings a multi-faceted perspective of writing, reporting, and producing that allows for multi-platform delivery systems and shows students with real-world examples the functions and practices of today's media. The new edition will be rewritten and restructured to accommodate common 16-week course modules and will be divided into four major sections of the news: gathering, writing, reporting, and producing. Sidebars featuring how examples used in the text relate to convergence in journalism help students to draw connections easily between current stories and trends in the industry. The comprehensive approach of this text brings a multi-faceted perspective of writing, reporting, and producing that is needed more than ever in today's world of convergent journalism. This newest edition is being completely overhauled by the experienced journalist

Frank Barnas New photos and illustrations a restructuring of the text expanded end of chapter exercises newer and more relevant examples and more information on producing all contribute to giving readers what they need most a nuanced understanding of how the media of today function in a world without news boundaries Working the Story Douglas Perret Starr, Deborah Williams Dunsford, 2014-01-14 Working the Story A Guide to Reporting and News Writing for Journalists and Public Relations Professionals is far more than a textbook for students and newcomers to news reporting and public relations It is an invaluable reference guide for professionals in both fields Best of all it follows its own teachings it is concise and to the point easy to read and clearly understandable Unlike other works in the field it does more than just offer advice to writers on how to write It provides the background every reporter and public relations professional needs to do the job from how governmental bodies work to how to cover a board meeting Douglas Perret Starr and Deborah Williams Dunsford not only explain what to look for and how to write a news article but also offer advice on how news stories should be written for greatest impact or how to generate copy for different media types from the printed page to the computer screen to the radio and television broadcast Drawing on a lifetime of study and practice Starr and Dunsford cover a vast array of topics techniques for interviewing covering and writing hard news stories features columns and arts reviews what public relations is what it is not and how it interrelates to newswriting and speech ghostwriting and preparing corporate spokespersons for crises briefings and hostile interviews Working the Story also includes eminently practical appendices on everything from keyboard shortcuts to common word definitions and usages in news reporting from freelancing to applying for a job Intended for beginners and seasoned professionals alike Working the Story should sit near the keyboard of every student every reporter and every public relations officer and publicist
