Multicultural Resources, 1997 Textiles Jennifer Harris, 1993-09-30 Collaborative Social Design with Mexican Indigenous Communities Carmen Malvar, 2023-03-16 This book builds on the work of anthropologists, designers, and ethnographers to develop an original methodology and framework for indigenous engagement and designer/non-designer collaboration in the field of social design. Following a collaborative case study conducted over a five-year period between the author/project team and indigenous artisans in Mexico, the book outlines the practical challenges of design research, including funding, logistics, relationships between designers and communities, failures, successes, and pivots. Social design literature has often focused on introducing important questions to the design research process but fails to deeply interrogate and demonstrate how these theories inform research projects in action, which can then be open to misinterpretation, bias, and unintended harmful consequences. Centering the indigenous communities, this book provides a detailed and clear example of not just why but how design and designers can work authentically and responsibly through different approaches and systems. The book examines the specific cultural, epistemological, and socio-political history of Mexico as it relates to colonization and indigenous peoples, exploring the systemic influences of globalization and grounding the research in its unique context. It includes field notes, conversations with the indigenous artisan communities, workshops, and prototypes to offer unique insight into a detailed collaborative social design initiative. This book intersects with the growing awareness of the necessity of decolonial approaches to design across the world and will be an important and useful study for academics, students, and researchers in social design, sustainable development, cultural studies, and anthropology. The Paradise Garden Murals of Malinalco Jeanette Favrot Peterson, 2014-07-03 Winner Charles Rufus Morey Award 1993 The valley of Malinalco, Mexico, long renowned for its monolithic Aztec temples, is a microcosm of the historical changes that occurred in the centuries preceding and following the Spanish conquest in the sixteenth century. In particular, the garden frescoes uncovered in 1974 at the Augustinian monastery of Malinalco document the collision of the European search for Utopia with the reality of colonial life. In this study, Jeanette F. Peterson examines the murals within the dual heritage of pre-Hispanic and European muralism to reveal how the wall paintings promoted the political and religious agendas of the Spanish conquerors while preserving a record of pre-Columbian rituals and imagery. She finds that the utopian themes portrayed at Malinalco and other

Augustinian monasteries were integrated into a religious and political ideology that in part camouflaged the harsh realities of colonial policies toward the native population That the murals were ultimately whitewashed at the end of the sixteenth century suggests that the spiritual conquest failed Peterson argues that the incorporation of native features ultimately worked to undermine the orthodoxy of the Christian message She places the murals imagery within the pre Columbian tlacuilo scribe painter tradition traces a Sahag n connection between the Malinalco muralists and the native artists working at the Franciscan school of Tlatelolco and explores mural painting as an artistic response to acculturation The book is beautifully illustrated with 137 black and white figures including photographs and line drawings For everyone interested in the encounter between European and Native American cultures it will be essential reading Textilforum ,2001
