Perinatal and Pediatric Respiratory Care - E-Book Brian K. Walsh, Michael P. Czervinske, Robert M. DiBlasi, 2013-08-13
With the in-depth coverage you need, this text helps you provide quality treatment for neonates, infants, and pediatric patients. It discusses the principles of neonatal and pediatric respiratory care while emphasizing clinical application. Not only is this edition updated with the latest advances in perinatal and pediatric medicine, but it adds a new chapter on pediatric thoracic trauma, plus new user-friendly features to simplify learning. A comprehensive approach covers all of the major topics of respiratory care for neonates, infants, and children, including both theory and application. Exam preparation is enhanced by the inclusion of the content in the exam matrix for the NBRC's neonatal/pediatric specialty exam. A streamlined logical organization makes it easy to build a solid foundation of knowledge. Unique Pediatric Thoracic Trauma chapter focuses on common forms of thoracic trauma, a condition that accounts for 5-10% of admissions to pediatric trauma centers. Learning objectives at the beginning of each chapter highlight what you should learn by breaking down key content into measurable behaviors, criteria, and conditions. Assessment questions in each chapter are written in the NBRC multiple-choice style as found on the neonatal and pediatric specialty exam, with answers, page references, and rationales available on a companion Evolve website. Case studies help you master the more difficult areas of care for neonatal and pediatric disorders. New learning features and a fresh look make this text easier to study and use. A companion Evolve website includes links to related sites for further research and study.

Physiology of the Fetal and Neonatal Lung D.V. Walters, L.B. Strang, F. Geubelle, 2012-12-06
L. B. STRANG: The past 25 years have seen a remarkable growth in our knowledge of lung development in its structural, physiological, and biochemical dimensions. Much of the impetus for research leading to new knowledge has derived from the perception that many respiratory disorders in the newborn infant are due to defective development or maladaptation of some component or components of the respiratory system. Thus to cite one example surfactant deficiency is clearly seen to be the cause of atelectasis in hyaline membrane disease and to cite another it is widely accepted that the mechanisms controlling patency of the ductus arteriosus and pulmonary vascular resistance also determine the right to left or left to right shunting frequently observed in the course of neonatal respiratory disorders. There are however areas of physiological knowledge such as those relating to respiratory control and to liquid formation and absorption which are clearly of great relevance to lung adaptation at birth but where it has not yet proved possible to link a specific clinical state to the malfunction of a particular mechanism. In planning this symposium an attempt was made to organize the material in an orderly manner starting with the embryonic and fetal stages of growth and development continuing with respiratory control and the role of surfactant in lung aeration at birth and ending with the treatment of neonatal respiratory disorders.
