After Cognitivism Karl Leidlmaier, 2009-09-01 There is a basic perplexity in our times On the one hand we find a blind trust in technology and rationalism In our neo liberalistically dominated world only what can be rapidly exploited and commercialized seems to count The only opposing reaction to this kind of rationalism is an extreme rejection of all kinds of reasoning and sometimes attendant religious fundamentalism But instead of reflecting on the limits and possibilities of reasoning dialogue is replaced by a demagogic struggle between cultures One cause of the blind trust in technology is misunderstandings about the significance and the application of theories in the reception of the so called Enlightenment The Enlightenment is essentially characterized by two forces i the conception of society as a social contract and ii the new science Newtonian physics etc But as a result we lost ground Atomistic individualism nourished the illusion of a self contained ego prior to man's entering into a shared intersubjective world And in the new science our constructions of reality became autonomous and independent of our interventions Thus we became caught in the inherent dynamism of our computational constructions of reality Science as it is applied today operates with far too simple parameters and model theoretic constructions erroneously taking the latter the models as literal descriptions of reality

Deleuze and the Meaning of Life Claire Colebrook, 2010-01-21 The intensification of interest in Deleuze over the last decade has coincided with the end of the linguistic paradigm in both continental and analytic philosophy Indeed the division between the two traditions appears to be closing and the philosophy of Gilles Deleuze seems to be crucial to this convergence as he is both indebted to the phenomenological tradition at the same time as he operates with concepts drawn from the sciences Claire Colebrook explores these ideas and offers a new and alternative assessment of Deleuze's contribution to philosophy She argues that while Deleuze does draw upon sciences that explain the emergence of language art and philosophy his own thought is distinguished by a discontinuist thesis systems may emerge from tendencies of life but always have the capacity to operate without reference to their original aim Colebrook makes new claims regarding how Deleuze's philosophy might be used to read contemporary art and thus offers an original and crucial contribution to the Deleuzian debate

Political Affect John Protevi, 2009-10-13 For many philosophers the rational cognitive Cartesian subject defines the human or at least defines what humans should be Yet some recent cognitive science as well as the philosophy of Deleuze and Guattari has called into question such individuality and rationality and emphasized social and emotional subjectivity Understanding such embodied and embedded subjectivity John Protevi argues demands the notion of bodies politic In Political Affect Protevi investigates the relationship between the social and the somatic how our bodies minds and social settings are intricately and intimately linked Bringing together concepts from science philosophy and politics he develops a perspective he calls political physiology to indicate that subjectivity is socially conditioned and sometimes bypassed in favor of a direct connection of the social and the somatic as with the politically triggered basic emotions of rage and panic Protevi's treatment of affective cognition in social context breaks new theoretical ground insisting that subjectivity be studied both in its embodied expression and in terms of the distribution of affective cognitive responses in a population Moving beyond the theoretical Protevi applies his concept of political affect to show how unconscious emotional valuing shaped three recent emotionally charged events the cold rage of the Columbine High School slayings the racialized panic that delayed rescue efforts in Hurricane Katrina and the twists and turns of empathy occasioned by the Terry Schiavo case These powerful individual and collective political events require new philosophical understanding

The Oxford Handbook of Phenomenologies and Organization Studies François-Xavier de Vaujany, Jeremy Aroles, Mar Pérezts, 2023

Phenomenologies are a major stream of philosophy Our aim with this handbook is to explore critically and reflexively the plurality of phenomenologies and their becoming in the context of Management and Organization Studies We detail in the introduction the genealogy of the phenomenological moment and make a distinction between four streams of phenomenologies phenomenology as a phenomenological moment post phenomenologies anti phenomenologies and non phenomenologies Beyond many clichés about phenomenologies we argue that phenomenologies cultivate critical perspectives ontologies and even for some of them metaphysics that make them particularly interwoven with other philosophical traditions We draw implications for Management and Organization Studies as a field

Pathways to a New Environmental Ethic Steven E. Alford, 2024-07-25 We live under the threat of humanity's self-inflicted extinction While technological approaches to climate mitigation are admirable our ecological crisis results ultimately from an inherited unexamined concept of selfhood and a misconceived view of nature The received idea that our self exists inside our skull engenders an assumption that nature is out there with devastating results This book explores three new ways of thinking about the interrelation of ourselves and nature Merleau Ponty s notion of embodiment the connection between enactivism and affordances and object oriented ontology These approaches to selfhood reorder our moral obligations What are our responsibilities to ourselves our children and nature itself An embodied ethic can transcend cultural biases and offer a new way of confronting climate change To meet environmental challenges we need to change our minds about our minds Sellars and Contemporary Philosophy David Pereplyotchik, Deborah R. Dreyfus, 2014-08-08 For fifty years Hubert Dreyfus has addressed an astonishing range of issues in the fields of phenomenology existentialism cognitive science and the philosophical study of mind Dreyfus has inspired a whole generation of philosophers as he has creatively drawn on and clearly articulated the seminal works of thinkers like Kierkegaard Husserl Heidegger Merleau Ponty and Foucault This volume presents a selection of Dreyfus s most influential essays on mind and action The book begins with a model of skillful engaged human action which informs much of Dreyfus s philosophy and was developed in collaboration with Stuart Dreyfus The volume then presents articles developing a critique of the representational model of the mind in analytical philosophy of mind and mainstream cognitive science Dreyfus argues that representational models of mind offer an impoverished and distorting account of human engagement with the world The chapters show this by addressing issues in philosophy of mind and the cognitive sciences through the skill model The role of body and environment in cognition Dermot Lynott, Judith Holler, Louise Connell, 2014-08-25 Recent evidence has shown many ways in which our bodies and the environment influence cognition In this Research Topic we aim to develop our understanding of cognition by considering the diverse and dynamic relationship between the language we use our bodily perceptions and our actions and interactions in the broader environment There are already many empirical effects illustrating the continuity of mind body environment manipulating body posture influences diverse areas such as mood hormonal responses and perception of risk directing attention to a particular sensory modality can affect language processing signal detection and memory performance placing implicit cues in the environment can impact upon social behaviours moral judgements and economic decision making This Research Topic includes papers that explore the question of how our bodies and the environment influence cognition such as how we mentally represent the world around us understand language reason about abstract concepts make judgements and decisions and interact with objects and other people Contributions focus on empirical theoretical methodological or modelling issues as well as opinion pieces or contrasting perspectives Topic areas include perception and action social cognition emotion language processing modality specific representations spatial representations gesture atypical embodiment perceptual simulation cognitive modelling and perspectives on the future of embodiment Jacques Derrida: Basic Writings Barry Stocker,2020-10-28 One of the most influential and controversial thinkers of the twentieth century Jacques Derrida s ideas on deconstruction have had a lasting impact on philosophy literature and cultural studies Jacques Derrida Basic Writings is the first anthology to present his most important philosophical writings and is an indispensable resource for all students and readers of his work Barry Stocker s clear and helpful introductions set each reading in context making the volume an ideal companion for those coming to Derrida s writings for the first time The selections themselves range from his most infamous works including Speech and Phenomena and Writing and Difference to lesser known discussion on aesthetics ethics and politics The Neuro-Image Patricia Pisters,2012-07-11 Arguing that today s viewers move through a character s brain instead of looking through his or her eyes or mental landscape this book approaches twenty first century globalized cinema through the concept of the neuro image Pisters explains why this concept has emerged now and she elaborates its threefold nature through research from three domains Deleuzian schizoanalytic philosophy digital networked screen culture and neuroscientific research These domains return in the book s tripartite structure Part One on the brain as neuroscreen suggests rich connections between film theory mental illness and cognitive neuroscience Part Two explores neuro images from a philosophical perspective paying close attention to their ontological epistemological and aesthetic dimensions Political and ethical aspects of the neuro image are discussed in Part Three Topics covered along the way include the omnipresence of surveillance the blurring of the false and the real and the affective powers of the neo baroque and the use of neuro images in politics historical memory and war Postanalytic and Metacontinental Jack Reynolds,James Chase,James Williams,2010-06-03 Memory Susannah Radstone,Bill Schwarz,2010 These essays survey the histories the theories and the fault lines that compose the field of
