The Eerie Silence Paul Davies, 2010-04-02 Refreshing A penetrating analysis of the assumptions that underlie SETI and the entire enterprise of searching for life beyond Earth Chris McKay Nature Fifty years ago a young astronomer named Frank Drake first pointed a radio telescope at nearby stars in the hope of picking up a signal from an alien civilization Thus began one of the boldest scientific projects in history the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence SETI After a half century of scanning the skies however astronomers have little to report but an eerie silence eerie because many scientists are convinced that the universe is teeming with life Physicist and astrobiologist Paul Davies has been closely involved with SETI for three decades and chairs the SETI Post Detection Taskgroup charged with deciding what to do if we are suddenly confronted with evidence of alien intelligence He believes the search so far has fallen into an anthropocentric trap assuming that an alien species will look think and behave much like us In this provocative book Davies refocuses the search challenging existing ideas of what form an alien intelligence might take how it might try to communicate with us and how we should respond if it does Paul Davies gives us a panoramic view of the quickening search for cosmic company a fascinating tale stuffed with novel ideas about the nature of intelligence far beyond our own Seth Shostak Senior Astronomer SETI Institute An immensely readable investigation of the SETI enterprise A wonderful book New Scientist A far ranging look at what might happen here on Earth when we make first contact Highly recommended for both science fiction and astronomy buffs Publishers Weekly
