Managing Vulnerability Timothy Dartington,2018-10-08 Clinicians managers and researchers as well as politicians and religious leaders are worrying about a lack of compassion and humanity in the care of vulnerable people in society In this book The author explores the dynamics of care He argues that we know how to do it but somehow we seem to keep getting it wrong Poor care in hospitals and care homes is well documented and yet it continues Care for people in their own homes is seen as an ideal but the reality can be cruel and isolating The author describes research over forty years in thinking why institutional and community care are both subject to processes of denial and fear of dependency His examples include children in hospital people with disabilities living in the community and the care of older people and those with dementia

Managing Organizational Complexity Kurt A. Richardson,2005-06-01 Managing Green Business Model Transformations Axel Sommer,2012-05-20 Environmental sustainability creates both tremendous business opportunities and formidable threats to established companies across virtually all industry sectors Yet many companies tackle the issue in a superficial or passive way rather than considering fundamental changes to their existing business models By ignoring the opportunities of Green Business Model Transformations companies exclude themselves from a large variety of potential means to create economic value In addition to ordinary product and process innovations they can change the rules of the game within an industry towards environmental sustainability Green Business Model Transformations however are challenging ventures New green business models with all their uncertainties and inherent complex systemic characteristics are difficult to design assess and implement successfully particularly in the context of established companies that often entail complex structures and considerable inertia As a result there is a great need for guidance in management practice This publication addresses this need with a general approach to Managing Green Business Model Transformations that is based on a broad theoretical foundation illustrated by many real world examples from various industry sectors Managing Academic Support Services in Universities Terry Hanson,2005 The converged management of academic libraries and computer services emerged as a popular model in universities in the late 1980s Today over half of the higher education sector in the UK has adopted a converged structure and yet there has been little analysis of this radical approach and what it means for the services involved This timely book takes stock of some twenty years of experience of convergence It explores management practice throughout the sector in order to assess how extensive the converged model has become and what variations in the model exist the reasons for converging or de converging or deciding not to converge at all the perceived advantages and disadvantages of the model adopted and what lessons have been learned Readership This book is essential reading for all managers in academic libraries and computer service departments and for all university staff with responsibility for policy in this area
