The Intellectual Properties of Learning John Willinsky, 2018-01-02 Providing a sweeping millennium plus history of the learned book in the West John Willinsky puts current debates over intellectual property into context asking what it is about learning that helped to create the concept even as it gave the products of knowledge a different legal and economic standing than other sorts of property Willinsky begins with Saint Jerome in the fifth century then traces the evolution of reading writing and editing practices in monasteries schools universities and among independent scholars through the medieval period and into the Renaissance He delves into the influx of Islamic learning and the rediscovery of classical texts the dissolution of the monasteries and the founding of the Bodleian Library before finally arriving at John Locke whose influential lobbying helped bring about the first copyright law the Statute of Anne of 1710 Willinsky's bravura tour through this history shows that learning gave rise to our idea of intellectual property while remaining distinct from if not wholly uncompromised by the commercial economy that this concept inspired making it clear that today's push for marketable intellectual property threatens the very nature of the quest for learning on which it rests

Marilyn Booth, 2015-01-20 Zaynab Fawwaz c 1860 1914 was as a forceful voice in support of women's rights to education and work choices in colonial era Egypt Her volume of 453 women's lives al Durr al manthur fi tabaqat rabbat al khudur Pearls scattered in times and places Classes of ladies of cloistered spaces 1893 6 featuring Boudicca Catherine the Great Zaynab the granddaughter of the Prophet Muhammad Victoria Woodhull the Turkish poet Sirri Hanım and many others built on the Arabic Islamic biographical tradition to produce a work for women in the modern era grafting European Turkish Arab and Indian life narratives amongst others onto Arabic literary patterns In Classes of Ladies of Cloistered Spaces Marilyn Booth argues that Fawwaz's work was less exemplary biography than feminist history in its exploration of achievement but also of patriarchal trauma in the lives of women across times and places She traces Fawwaz's creative use of her sources her presentation of biographical narratives in the context of the political essays she wrote in the Arabic press her publicised dialogue with the President of the Board of Lady Managers of the 1893 World Columbian Exposition where she attempted to send the volume and how her inscription of a feminine ancient history diverged from that of men writing history in 1890s Egypt      A Companion to Muslim Cultures

Amyn Sajoo, 2011-11-22 I B Tauris in association with the Institute of Ismaili Studies Culture shapes every aspect of the relationship between God and the believer in Islam as well as among believers and with those beyond the fold Fasts prayers and pilgrimages are attuned to social rhythms old and new no less than the designs of mosques and public gardens the making of religious music and ways of thinking about technology and wellbeing Ancient deserts and modern urban landscapes may echo with the same call for transcendence but in voices that emerge from very different everyday realities Scripture itself as the Prophet Muhammad knew is ever seen through a cultural lens both language and what it communicates are intimately tied to context And the cosmopolitanism that runs through Muslim history from the outset recalls T S Eliot's remark that culture is that which makes life worth living It frames how the deepest religious values are understood and practiced from modesty in adornment and solidarity with the underprivileged to integrity and accountability in political life Muslims have never been content with a passive separation of faith from their daily lives whether public or private What are the implications of this holistic view in a diverse world of Muslims and non Muslims How do core ethical values interface with the particulars of local cultures in all their complexity especially when it comes to matters like the status of women and the scope of individual religious freedom The answers at a time when secular and Muslim identities appear to be locked in conflict are explored in this Companion by some of today's finest scholars   Al-Ghazālī's Unspeakable Doctrine of the Soul Timothy J.
