

Causes of Public Expenditure Growth in Developing Countries (Macro models)

- 3. Provision of Capital Goods by Government: Social infrastructure has to be provided in the early stages of development. There is thus the tendency for the government to spend more.
- 4. Population Growth: Overtime age composition changes, putting pressure on government facilities like health, schools etc
- 5. Structural Changes in the Economy: changes from agro-based to industrial economy causes government to spend more in the provision of social and economic infrastructure

Models of Asian Link Shinichi Ichimura, Mitsuo Ezaki, 2012-12-06 This is the first outcome of our effort in ASIAN LINK PROJECT to construct the econometric models of Asian developing countries and analyze their inter dependence with major trading partners the United States and Japan The model we present here is called Asian Link System The countries in this system include Korea Taiwan Hong Kong China the Philippines Thailand Malaysia Singapore Indonesia Japan and the United States They are covered by national models The rest of the world is divided into several regions and treated by simple prototype models The main characteristics of Asian Link System are to deal with the inter dependent relations between Asian developing countries on the one hand and Japan and United States on the other hand Here are presented these national models and the Asian Link System with the underlying statistical data so that any econometrician can re estimate our models and check the results of our research work Nowadays most articles and books in econometrics report only the final results or conclusions of research so that no other econometrician can re calculate or re examine the findings This is very serious in the empirical research because as theorists may make mistakes positive economists do commit errors or miss some possible considerations Unless statistical data are offered other econometricians cannot make suggestions or improve the models This is the main reason why empirical research in econometrics or applied econometrics are not making substantial progress in recent years Modelling Macroeconomic Adjustment with Growth in Developing Economies Sushanta K.

Mallick, 2018-08-13 First published in 1999 this influential volume explores Macroeconomic Adjustment with a particular focus on India Its inspiration originated from the introduction of stabilisation and structural adjustment policies in India in 1991 Mallick examines the application of this policy package by the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank to Developing Economies First looking at the initial conditions and generators of imbalances the appropriate policy framework for India s initial conditions and structural characteristics is considered While the effectiveness of the IMF had been strongly criticised Mallick explains how it could be used more effectively He argues that the programs applied are often contradictory and using India as an example examines the effects of policy reform on its trade sector the repercussions on the direct economy and the costs associated with such policies in restoring stability and future economic growth with particular support for the Vector Autoregression VAR framework Mallick forwards a new structural model for policy purposes evaluated for overall performance and optimal control Macroeconomic Policies in an Interdependent World Mr.Paul R.
