Writing for an Endangered World Lawrence Buell, 2009-07-01 The environmental imagination does not stop short at the edge of the woods Nor should our understanding of it as Lawrence Buell makes powerfully clear in his new book that aims to reshape the field of literature and environmental studies Emphasizing the influence of the physical environment on individual and collective perception his book thus provides the theoretical underpinnings for an ecocriticism now reaching full power and does so in remarkably clear and concrete ways Writing for an Endangered World offers a conception of the physical environment whether built or natural as simultaneously found and constructed and treats imaginative representations of it as acts of both discovery and invention A number of the chapters develop this idea through parallel studies of figures identified with either natural or urban settings John Muir and Jane Addams Aldo Leopold and William Faulkner Robinson Jeffers and Theodore Dreiser Wendell Berry and Gwendolyn Brooks Focusing on nineteenth and twentieth century writers but ranging freely across national borders his book reimagines city and country as a single complex landscape

The Three Levels of Sustainability Elena Cavagnaro, George H. Curiel, 2022-08-08 Understanding the complexity of sustainability is crucial for the leadership of business organizations national governments and non governmental organizations This second edition of the bestselling book The Three Levels of

Sustainability uses the same interdependent three level and three dimensional framework as the first edition encompassing societal organizational and individual levels to clearly demonstrate what sustainability means and how to implement it This new edition incorporates important developments in reporting and measuring corporate behaviors the impact of COVID 19 and the UN Sustainable Development Goals More and more societies are becoming aware of their dependence on earth s resources However there is still a deep rooted lack of awareness of the connection between society s ambitions for economic growth earth s limitations and unequal distribution of wealth Prominent institutions and organizations and their leaders rely on the conformable belief that more quantity equals more quality and that more growth equals more development Although some progress has been made since the publication of the first edition the world is increasingly characterized by division rising dissatisfaction and growing inequality between countries communities and people At the same time it is anticipated that global warming will reach a point of no return between 2030 and 2052 The fundamental paradigm shift in the way the development process must be navigated is better served by a holistic and inclusive multilevel and multidimensional approach meant to gradually align the critical institutional and individual factors essential to the pathway toward sustainable development The book has been established as an excellent primer to explain the complex issues around sustainability for postgraduate and undergraduate students as well as busy professionals and those already in management and leadership positions in the private public or non profit sectors

Religious Affects Donovan O. Schaefer, 2015-11-13 In Religious Affects Donovan O Schaefer challenges the notion that religion is inextricably linked to language and belief proposing instead that it is primarily driven by affects Drawing on affect theory evolutionary biology and poststructuralist theory Schaefer builds on the recent materialist shift in religious studies to relocate religious practices in the affective realm an insight that helps us better understand how religion is lived in conjunction with systems of power To demonstrate religion s animality and how it works affectively Schaefer turns to a series of case studies including the documentary Jesus Camp and contemporary American Islamophobia Placing affect theory in conversation with post Darwinian evolutionary theory Schaefer explores the extent to which nonhuman animals have the capacity to practice religion linking human forms of religion and power through a new analysis of the chimpanzee waterfall dance as observed by Jane Goodall In this compelling case for the use of affect theory in religious studies Schaefer provides a new model for mapping relations between religion politics species globalization secularism race and ethics

Nature Within James Bashford, 2025-11-25 Reconnecting with Nature is the most important public health intervention of our time Science has shown how our bodies are shaped by our environment yet we still see ourselves as separate from the natural world To protect human health we need to reawaken our inner connection with Nature and prevent the destruction of our environment and the countless species we share it with At a time of rapid devastating changes to the environment and ecosystems we rely on we are struggling with ever increasing threats to our physical and mental health More extreme temperatures result in a higher occurrence of diseases such as malaria while climate change related crop failures around the world lead to malnutrition and vitamin deficiencies Worsening air pollution has caused a surge in respiratory illnesses and new animal pathogens are emerging as humans continue to encroach on and destroy natural habitats In Nature Within neuroscientist and doctor James Bashford explains why these and other health problems can only be managed through centring humans within the natural world rather than in opposition to it and through understanding the natural forces at work within our own bodies Skilfully weaving together examples of human illnesses like motor neuron disease with nonhuman ailments like Dutch elm disease Bashford explores how similar principles of health shape our minds and bodies From chameleons to COVID 19 from nucleic acids to nightingales Nature has compelling lessons to teach us Examining human evolutionary history he shows how our physiology biochemistry and anatomy right down to the subcellular domain have been shaped and sustained by natural interactions over thousands of millennia But the destruction of natural habitats the urbanisation of society and the digitalisation of recreation all in the relentless pursuit of economic growth have disconnected us from our roots in the natural world And this is subjecting us to states of overstimulation and hyperarousal that stress our nervous systems beyond our natural capacity The solution he argues is not to place undue blame or expectation on individual lifestyle choices but rather to embrace small resets which taken together can start to turn the tide Offering practical advice on how to renaturalise our senses and rewild our creativity this book fosters an unwavering optimism in the value of Nature for the conservation of human health if we can only reconnect
