Reading Writing And The Humanities:

Reading, Writing and the Humanities Jo Ray McCuen, Anthony C Winkler, 1990-11 Reading Writing and the Humanities is organized around eight classic enduring themes and features extensive reading and writing for students. In selecting philosophy, history, and literature as the primary categories for grouping the readings, this text retained this early meaning of humanities as consisting of subjects whose emphasis is mainly human-centered. Our chapter titles are variations on some profound and timeless questions that writers and thinkers in the humanities have grappled with for centuries, while the subtitles declare the underlying issue that is the featured theme. Reading Writing and the Humanities will stir awake the analytical and critical minds of students.

The Heart of the Humanities Mark Edmundson, 2018-02-06 From one of America's great professors, a collection of works exploring the importance of reading, writing, and teaching well for anyone invested in the future of the humanities. A renowned professor of English at the University of Virginia, Mark Edmundson has devoted his career to tough-minded yet optimistic advocacy for the humanities. He argues for the importance of reading and writing to an examined and fruitful life and affirms the invaluable role of teachers in opening up fresh paths for their students. In his series of books Why Read, Why Teach, and Why Write, Edmundson explored the vital worldly roles of reading, teaching, and writing, earning a vocal following of writers, teachers, and scholars at the top of their fields, from novelist Tom Perrotta to critics Laura Kipnis and J. Hillis Miller. Now, for the first time, The Heart of the Humanities collects into one volume this triad of impassioned arguments, including an introduction from the author on the value of education in the present and for the future. The perfect gift for students, recent graduates, writers, teachers, and anyone interested in education and the life of the mind, this omnibus edition will make a powerful and timely case for strengthening the humanities both in schools and in our society.

Writing STEAM Vivian Kao, Julia Kiernan, 2022-03-03 This edited collection positions writing at the center of interdisciplinary higher education and explores how writing instruction, writing scholarship, and writing program administration bring STEM and the humanities together in meaningful, creative, and beneficial ways. Writing professionals are at the forefront of a cross-pollination between STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) and the arts and humanities. In their work as educators, scholars, and administrators, they collaborate with colleagues in engineering, scientific, technical, and health disciplines to offer new degree programs that allow students to bring the humanities to bear on design, experiments, and build an academic culture that promotes a vision of the humanities in the twenty-first century as well as a vision of technology that is decidedly human. This collection surveys and promotes that work through chapters focused on writing instruction, writing scholarship, and writing program administration, covering topics that include data-driven writing, courses, public science communication, non-traditional college students, creative writing, gamification, skills transfer, and Writing Across the Curriculum programs. Writing STEAM will be essential reading for scholars, instructors, and administrators in writing studies, rhetoric, and composition, STEM, and a variety of interdisciplinary programs; it will aid in teacher training for
