A Poet's Truth Bruce Allen Dick, 2022-02-22 Among students and aficionados of contemporary literature the work of Latina and Latino poets holds a particular fascination. Through works imbued with fire and passion these writers have kindled new enthusiasm in their compatriots and admiration in non-Latino readers. This book brings together recent interviews with fifteen Latino poets: a cross section of Chicano, Puerto Rican, and Cuban voices who discuss not only their work but also related issues that help define their place in American literature. Each talks at length about the craft of his or her poetry, both the influences and the process behind it, and takes a stand on social and political issues affecting Latinos across the United States. The interviews feature both established writers published as early as the 1960s and emerging artists, each of whom has enjoyed success in other literary forms also. As Bruce Dick's insightful questions reveal, the key threads linking these writers are their connections to their families and communities and their concern for civil rights, believing like Chicana writer Pat Mora that the work of the poet is for the people. The interviews also reveal diversity among and within the three communities: from Victor Hernández Cruz who traces Latino collective identity to Africa and claims that all Latinos are swimming in olive oil to Cuban writer Gustavo Pérez Firmat who considers nationality more important than ethnicity and says that the term Latino erases his nationality. The dialogues also offer new insights on the place of Chicano writings in the U.S.-Mexico borderlands, on the Puerto Rican Nuyorican establishment, and on the anti-Castro stand of Cuban-born poets. As these writers answer questions about their work, background, ethnic identity, and political ideology, they provide a wealth of biographical, intellectual, and literary material collected here for the first time. A Poet's Truth is a provocative and revealing book that not only conveys the fire of these writers' passions but also sheds important light on a whole literary movement. Interviews with Miguel Algarín, Martín Espada, Sandra Marín Esteves, Victor Hernández Cruz, Carolina Hospital, and Carlos Medina Demetria Martínez, Pat Mora, Judith Ortiz Cofer, Ricardo Pau Llosa, Gustavo Pérez Firmat, Leroy Quintana, Aleida Rodríguez, Luis Rodríguez, Benjamin Alire Sáenz, Virgil Suárez.

A User's Guide to Postcolonial and Latino Borderland Fiction Frederick Luis Aldama, 2010-01-01 Why are so many people attracted to narrative fiction? How do authors in this genre reframe experiences, people, and environments anchored to the real world without duplicating real life? In which ways does fiction differ from reality? What might fictional narrative and reality have in common, if anything? By analyzing novels such as Arundhati Roy's The God of Small Things, Amitav Ghosh's The Glass Palace, Zadie Smith's White Teeth, and Hari Kunzru's The Impressionist, along with selected Latino comic books and short fiction, this book explores the peculiarities of the production and reception of postcolonial and Latino borderland fiction. Frederick Luis Aldama uses tools from disciplines such as film studies and cognitive science that allow the reader to establish how a fictional narrative is built, how it functions, and how it defines the boundaries of concepts that appear susceptible to limitless interpretations. Aldama emphasizes how postcolonial and Latino borderland narrative fiction authors and artists use narrative devices to create their aesthetic blueprints in ways that loosely guide their readers imagination and emotion In A User s Guide to Postcolonial and Latino Borderland Fiction he argues that the study of ethnic identified narrative fiction must acknowledge its active engagement with world narrative fictional genres storytelling modes and techniques as well as the way such fictions work to move their audiences
