Dayton,1979-12-01 Coming of age poems by a Baptist minister s son who shed his childhood faith in heaven and followed his heart on a pilgrimage to a love both erotic and spiritual mundane and mystical By turns meditative sardonic joyful and whimsical these poems record a journey from anger cynicism and uncertainty to understanding forgiveness and peace David Dayton has devised a lucid and serene mysticism of the real Time and again in these poems he connects self fellows Earth universe past and present employing a vigorous imagery asserting against all that can and does undermine it a self of arresting wholeness that thinks feels and risks knowing The language is a medium stripped for interaction yet richly sensuous The book is a reliquary of significant and felt events of a self becoming a soul Patricia Wilcox Uncertainty faith and our erotic identity are the central concerns of David Dayton s impressive first book of poems A large measure of Dayton s achievement in The Lost Body lies in his construction of a mythology which gives an important in fact central place to human ignorance and limitation Uncertainty and ignorance paradoxically hold out a new hope for the imagination Indeed human limitations are seen as the source of liberation The final and title poem of the collection The Lost Body of Childhood is a remarkable conclusion to a remarkable book The poem has nothing to do with nostalgia for the past it is rather a spiritual and erotic summons It holds out the apocalyptic hope that man may be reunited with the natural world in a new and imagined order John Martone
