Of Places:

The Capability of Places Sandra Wallman, 2011-08-04 How can we assess the ability of a place to respond to challenges like migration recession and disease Places which seem similar can respond very differently and with varying degrees of success to external threats and to the interventions designed to manage them In this magisterial work drawing on decades of research Sandra Wallman explores how we can measure and compare the resilience of communities looking in detail at neighbourhoods in London Rome and Zambia Each locale is examined as a system which is more or less open or closed open systems tend to be more resilient when faced with external challenges As well as being a fascinating study in its own right the book includes detailed accounts of the research methods used as well as a user friendly typology for classifying local systems making it an invaluable tool for students researchers and policy makers

The Origin and History of Irish Names of Places Patrick Weston Joyce, 1869 Tables to Facilitate the Reduction of Places of the Fixed Stars

Anonymous, 2023-10-15 Reprint of the original first published in 1873 Visual and Linguistic Representations of Places of Origin Maria Pia Pozzato, 2017-12-05 This book is about the representations both visual and linguistic which people give of their own places of origin It examines the drawings of interviewees who were asked to draw their own place of origin on a white A3 sheet using pencil or colour according to their choice If they were born in a place they did not remember because they moved in when they were very small they could draw the place they did remember as the scenario of their early childhood The drawings are examined from three different perspectives semiotics cognitive psychology and geography The semiotic instruments are used to describe how each person reconstructs a complex image of his/her childhood place and how they translate their own memories from one language to another e.g. from drawing to verbal story trying to approach what they want to express in the best possible way The cognitive psychological point of view helps clarify the emotional world of the interviewees and their motivations during the process of reconstruction and expression of their childhood experiences The geographical conceptualizations concern a cultural level and provide insight into the cartographic models that inspire the maps people drew One of the main findings was the influence from cultural codes as demonstrated in the fact that most of the US students interviewed drew their maps showing considerable cartographic expertise in comparison to their European counterparts

Places and Politics in an Age of Globalization Roxann Prazniak, Arif Dirlik, 2001-02-07 This ambitious work provides a unique statement on the question of place based activism and its relationship to powerful forces of international capital Arguing that specific places around the world are sites for the defense and enhancement of daily life in the context of rapidly expanding global technologies and investment options the contributors reach for a vision of social development that supports sustainable humane cultures Bringing together the local and the global this work provides the first sustained linkage of ethnic groups in diaspora to macrocosmic processes of world capital that inevitably reach down to mediate even the most local experiences The essays ranging in their discussion of place from Los Angeles and New York to

New Zealand and Indonesia offer both reasoned argument and authoritative information on how local experience interacts with larger processes of global capital and the diasporic phenomenon. The book will be an invaluable resource and launching point for scholars and students in ethnic and identity studies and will interest all readers exploring the production of place and identification.

In Place/out of Place Tim Cresswell, 1996. In Place Out of Place was first published in 1996. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions.

What is the relationship between place and behavior? In this fascinating volume, Tim Cresswell examines this question via transgressive acts that are judged as inappropriate not only because they are committed by marginalized groups but also because of where they occur. In Place Out of Place seeks to illustrate the ways in which the idea of geographical deviance is used as an ideological tool to maintain an established order. Cresswell looks at graffiti in New York City, the attempts by various hippie groups to hold a free festival at Stonehenge during the summer solstices of 1984-86, and the Greenham Common Women's Peace Camp in Berkshire, England. In each of the cases described, the groups involved were designated as out of place both by the media and by politicians whose descriptions included an array of images such as dirt, disease, madness, and foreignness. Cresswell argues that space and place are key factors in the definition of deviance and conversely that space and place are used to construct notions of order and propriety. In addition, whereas ideological concepts being expressed about what is good, just, and appropriate often are delineated geographically, the transgression of these delineations reveals the normally hidden relationships between place and ideology. In other words, the out of place serves to highlight and define the in place. By looking at the transgressions of the marginalized, Cresswell argues, we can gain a novel perspective on the normal and taken-for-granted expectations of everyday life. The book concludes with a consideration of the possibility of a politics of transgression, arguing for a link between the challenging of spatial boundaries and the possibility of social transformation.

Tim Cresswell is currently lecturer in geography at the University of Wales.

Mediated Identities in the Futures of Place: Emerging Practices and Spatial Cultures Lakshmi Priya Rajendran, Nez Hapi Dellé Odeleye, 2020-01-02. This book examines the emerging problems and opportunities that are posed by media innovations, spatial typologies, and cultural trends in reshaping identities within the fast-changing milieu of the early 21st Century. Addressing a range of social and spatial scales and using a phenomenological frame of reference, the book draws on the works of Heidegger, Merleau-Ponty, and Don Ihde to bridge the seemingly disparate yet related theoretical perspectives across a number of disciplines. Various perspectives are put forward from media, human geography, cultural studies, technologies, urban design, and architecture, etc., and looked at thematically from networked culture and digital interface and other perspectives. The book probes the ways in which new digital media trends affect how and what we communicate and how they drive and reshape our everyday practices. This mediatization of space with fast-evolving communication platforms and applications of digital representations offers challenges to our notions of space, identity, and culture and the book explores the diverse yet connected levels of technology and people interaction

Sense of Place and Sense of Planet Ursula K. Heise, 2008-09-29 Sense of Place and Sense of Planet analyzes the relationship between the imagination of the global and the ethical commitment to the local in environmentalist thought and writing from the 1960s to the present Part One critically examines the emphasis on local identities and communities in North American environmentalism by establishing conceptual connections between environmentalism and ecocriticism on one hand and theories of globalization transnationalism and cosmopolitanism on the other It proposes the concept of eco cosmopolitanism as a shorthand for envisioning these connections and the cultural and aesthetic forms into which they translate Part Two focuses on conceptualizations of environmental danger and connects environmentalist and ecocritical thought with the interdisciplinary field of risk theory in the social sciences arguing that environmental justice theory and ecocriticism stand to benefit from closer consideration of the theories of cosmopolitanism that have arisen in this field from the analysis of transnational communities at risk Both parts of the book combine in depth theoretical discussion with detailed analyses of novels poems films computer software and installation artworks from the US and abroad that translate new connections between global national and local forms of awareness into innovative aesthetic forms combining allegory epic and views of the planet as a whole with modernist and postmodernist strategies of fragmentation montage collage and zooming

The Authorship of Place Dennis Lo, 2020-09-14 The Authorship of Place is the first monograph dedicated to the study of the politics history aesthetics and practices of location shooting for Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and coproduced art cinemas shot in rural communities since the late 1970s Dennis Lo argues that rural location shooting beyond serving aesthetic and technical needs constitutes practices of cultural survival in a region beset with disruptive and disorienting social changes including rapid urbanization geopolitical shifts and ecological crises In response to these social changes auteurs like Hou Xiaoxian Jia Zhangke Chen Kaige and Li Xing engaged in location shooting to transform sites of film production into symbolically meaningful places of collective memories and aspirations These production practices ultimately enabled auteurs to experiment with imagining Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and cross strait communities in novel and contentious ways Deftly guiding readers on a cross strait tour of prominent shooting locations for the New Chinese Cinemas this book shows how auteurs sought out their disappearing cultural heritage by reenacting lived experiences of nation building homecoming and cultural salvage while shooting on location This was an especially daunting task when auteurs encountered the shooting locations as spaces of unresolved historical social and geopolitical contestations tensions which were only intensified by the impact of filmmaking on rural communities This book demonstrates how these complex circumstances surrounding location shooting were pivotal in shaping both representations of the rural on screen as well as the production communities institutions and industries off screen Informed by cutting edge perspectives in cultural geography and media anthropology The Authorship of Place both revises Chinese language film history and theorizes groundbreaking approaches for investigating the cultural politics of film authorship and production This extraordinary book discusses the uses of location shooting in films by contemporary Taiwanese and Mainland Chinese directors ranging from Li Xing to Jia Zhangke It highlights the ways in which place memory and identity stances respond to social changes and geopolitical disparities In a world full of uncertainty the argument about the imaginary homeland as an experienced cinematic reality only renders it more urgent and universally relatable Ping hui Liao University of California San Diego The Authorship of Place is certainly a welcome intervention into the study of Chinese cinemas and their auteurs that further contributes to the wider study of location shooting as well as cultural geographies and place based imaginaries of film It is rare to find a book dealing with space place in and around cinema that is this inventive and nuanced in its methodologies Stephanie DeBoer Indiana University

Researching the Lifecourse Nancy Worth,Irene Hardill,2016-06-01 The lifecourse perspective continues to be an important subject in the social sciences Researching the Lifecourse offers a distinctive approach in that it truly covers the lifecourse childhood adulthood and older age focusing on innovative methods and case study examples from a variety of European and North American contexts This original approach connects theory and practice from across the social sciences by situating methodology and research design within relevant conceptual frameworks This diverse collection features methods that are linked to questions of time space and mobilities while providing practitioners with practical detail in each chapter

Migrant Sites Dalia Kandiyoti,2009 A unique comparative study of immigrant and diaspora literatures in America

Legendary Hawai'i and the Politics of Place Cristina Bacchilega,2011-06-03 Hawaiian legends figure greatly in the image of tropical paradise that has come to represent Hawai i in popular imagination But what are we buying into when we read these stories as texts in English language translations Cristina Bacchilega poses this question in her examination of the way these stories have been adapted to produce a legendary Hawai i primarily for non Hawaiian readers or other audiences With an understanding of tradition that foregrounds history and change Bacchilega examines how following the 1898 annexation of Hawai i by the United States the publication of Hawaiian legends in English delegitimized indigenous narratives and traditions and at the same time constructed them as representative of Hawaiian culture Hawaiian mo'olelo were translated in popular and scholarly English language publications to market a new cultural product a space constructed primarily for Euro Americans as something simultaneously exotic and primitive and beautiful and welcoming To analyze this representation of Hawaiian traditions place and genre Bacchilega focuses on translation across languages cultures and media on photography as the technology that contributed to the visual formation of a westernized image of Hawai i and on tourism as determining postannexation economic and ideological machinery In a book with interdisciplinary appeal Bacchilega demonstrates both how the myth of legendary Hawai i emerged and how this vision can be unmade and reimagined Media, Place and Mobility Shaun Moores,2017-09-16 Media Place and Mobility offers a new understanding of media uses as place making practices in everyday living Understanding Mobilities for Designing Contemporary Cities Paola Pucci,Matteo

Colleoni,2015-12-08 This book explores mobilities as a key to understanding the practices that both frame and generate contemporary everyday life in the urban context At the same time it investigates the challenges arising from the interpretation of mobility as a socio spatial phenomenon both in the social sciences and in urban studies Leading sociologists economists urban planners and architects address the ways in which spatial mobilities contribute to producing diversified uses of the city and describe forms and rhythms of different life practices including unexpected uses and conflicts The individual sections of the book focus on the role of mobility in transforming contemporary cities the consequences of interpreting mobility as a socio spatial phenomenon for urban projects and policies the conflicts and inequalities generated by the co presence of different populations due to mobility and by the interests gathered around major mobility projects and the use of new data and mapping of mobilities to enhance comprehension of cities The theoretical discussion is complemented by references to practical experiences helping readers gain a broader understanding of mobilities in relation to the capacity to analyze plan and design contemporary cities The SAGE International Encyclopedia of Travel and Tourism Linda L. Lowry,2016-09-01 Taking a global and multidisciplinary approach The SAGE International Encyclopedia of Travel and Tourism brings together a team of international scholars to examine the travel and tourism industry which is expected to grow at an annual rate of four percent for the next decade In more than 500 entries spanning four comprehensive volumes the Encyclopedia examines the business of tourism around the world paying particular attention to the social economic environmental and policy issues at play The book examines global regional national and local issues including transportation infrastructure the environment and business promotion By looking at travel trends and countries large and small the Encyclopedia analyses a wide variety of challenges and opportunities facing the industry In taking a comprehensive and global approach the Encyclopedia approaches the field of travel and tourism through the numerous disciplines it reaches including the traditional tourism administration curriculum within schools of business and management economics public policy as well as social science disciplines such as the anthropology and sociology Key features include More than 500 entries authored and signed by key academics in the field Entries on individual countries that details the health of the tourism industry policy and planning approaches promotion efforts and primary tourism draws Additional
